Greatest Expedition of History.

Field Museum Back of Series of Explorations to Cover Whole World.

Ethnology of Some Unknown Lands Will Be Probed by Scientists.

Primitive Tribes of Whom but Little Is Known Will Be Visited.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A series of expeditions, constituting one of the most comprehensive explorations of unknown lands ever attempted by any institution, was announced today by the Field Museum of Natural History. The results of the investigations, which will require years for the accomplishment, are expected to place Chicago in the lead of ethnological research.

To blaze the trail for the various expeditions that will make the detailed investigations, George A. Dorsey, curator of the museum's department of anthropology, will circle the globe, visiting only practically unknown peoples, and mapping out the lines of inquiry to be undertaken. He will sail on the Lusitania on January 11.

Of equal importance is the announcement that the museum has set out to give to the world of science the first comprehensive exposition of the characteristics and customs of the peoples of Thibet—the forbidden land. For this work Dr. Berthold Laufer, a distinguished Chinese scholar, recently of the faculty of Columbia University, has been engaged. He will sail on January 1 for a stay of three years in the [illegible], Paris and Vienna. Dr. Dorsey will proceed to Egypt, where, in company with Edward E. Ayer, one of the trustees of the Field institution, he will study the monuments of the Nile Valley. Then he will sail for Ceylon to visit the little-known Rock Veddahs, considered by many authorities to represent the lowest type of human beings. From there he will flit to the primitive tribes of the Nilgiri Hills in India. Then, with a passing call to Siam for a glance at the ruins of Cambodia, he will proceed to Sumatra, where one of the most extensive lines of investigation will be undertaken.

Java, with its Buddhist temples as large as the pyramids, next will claim Dr. Dorsey's attention, and then the Celebes, Gilolo and Borneo. After looking over the possibilities of new research among the fast dwindling native tribes of Australia, he will cross to New Zealand, for the purpose, in the language of the museum's official announcement, of visiting "the wonderful Maoris, a Polynesian people famous all over the world for their great houses with their remarkable carvings, some of which must resemble in size and appearance the great carved totem poles of British Columbia and Alaska."

The museum possesses a completely carved house of the Maoris, the only one in America and one of few which have ever left the islands. This house is seventy feet in length and in many ways is the most interesting ethnological specimen in the museum.

From New Zealand Dr. Dorsey expects to proceed to the great French islands, New Caledonia and the New Hebrides, belonging to the Melanesian group. He then returns to Sydney and goes to Hongkong, stopping on the way to visit several additional islands in the Melanesian group. Thus he will visit two or three regions in New Guinea and several islands of the Bismarck Archipelago.

ISLAND EXPLORATIONS.

He will then proceed to Hongkong and visit some of the principal cities of China and on to Manila, where he will explore in some of the little known regions of Eastern Mindanao and in the center of Mindoro. Thence he will return via Japan and San Francisco.

The announcement also contains a report of the extensive explorations being carried on under the auspices of the museum by three separate expeditions in the Philippine Islands, the funds having been provided by Robert F. Cummings.

Prof. Cole, who is in the provinces of Abra, Ilocos Sur and Ilocos Norte, has shipped to the museum a large consignment of ethnological specimens representing every phase of life of the head hunters of Luzon.

Another of the investigators is Miss Laura E. Benedict, a graduate of the University of Chicago, who lived two years with the Bagobo of Southeastern Mindanao.

"Miss Benedict," says the report, "is the first woman to investigate the ethnology of the Philippine Islands."

Off in the northeastern corner of Luzon on a two-year trip is Dr. William Jones, studying the language, religion and mythology, and general culture of the Negritos, a primitive black race of diminutive size which is supposed to represent the aboriginal inhabitants of all the Philippine islands.

NATIONAL BANK AFFAIRS.

Statement at Close of Business December 3 Shows Legal Reserves to Be 21.31 Per Cent.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A statement showing the condition of the national banks of the United States, at the close of business, December 3, was today made public by the Comptroller of the Currency.

It shows that the total loans and discounts of the banks aggregated $4,583,237,094; individual deposits, $4,176,573,717; cash resources, $660,784,726; capital stock, $961,681,682; United States deposits, $223,117,802.

The net balances of clearinghouse certificates in the banks on the date named was $64,344,128. The percentage of legal reserve to deposits is 21.31 per cent.

SHAH YIELDS ON ALL POINTS.

ACCEPTS CONDITIONS IMPOSED BY ASSEMBLY.

Gives Up Supreme Command of Persian Army, Will Banish Objectionable Official; Will Punish Leaders of Recent Troubles, and Will Take Oath on Seal of Koran.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TEHERAN, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Shah has accepted all the conditions imposed by the Assembly.

Saad-ed-Dowe will be given a position abroad. He probably will be Minister at London. The Emir Bahadur will retain his palace at Keshikel Bashe, but he will not command the troops.

Two hundred volunteers will be recruited for special duty as a guard at the Assembly. The army will be under the Minister of War alone, the Shah not having supreme command.

The punishment of the leaders of the recent troubles is provided for. And, finally, the Shah is to take an oath on the seal on the back of the Koran to observe these conditions.

ASSEMBLY RECEIVES PROMISE OF THE SHAH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TEHERAN, Dec. 23.—The President of the Assembly today announced the details of the decision submitted to [illegible]. This declaration provides, first, that Saad-Ed-Dowl and the intriguing priests be banished and the persons responsible for the recent disorders be punished; second, that Ala-Ed-Dowl and his brother be allowed to return to Persia; third, that 200 infantrymen be placed as a permanent guard before the Parliament buildings; fourth, that all troops, including the Cossack Brigade, which hitherto has been an independent command, be placed under the Ministry of War, and fifth, that the Russian officers of the Cossack Brigade shall only instruct the men, not command them as hitherto.

All the shops were reopened today.

For the past week there have been many disturbances in Teheran and other Persian cities, the lack of cooperation between the Shah and the Parliament leading to the issuance by the Parliament of a manifesto on Tuesday which was distributed to the foreign legations and consulates at Teheran, and in which it was set forth that the Shah was violating his covenant with the people, and asking that the rights of the people be not permitted to be trodden under foot.

Prior to this the Shah had caused the arrest of the Premier and several of the Cabinet Ministers, who later were released at the request of the British Minister. The Parliament then went into permanent session and demanded an explanation of the Shah, negotiations looking to a better understanding being carried on until today.

The immediate causes of the Persian crisis are to be found in the indignation of the people at the delay in the execution of certain soldiers who recently murdered two shop-keepers. Last Sunday this developed into hostile demonstrations, with shooting in the streets of Teheran, and later the opposing factions in large numbers gathered in the vicinity of the Parliament buildings and erected barricades. Feeling ran high against the Shah, and Constitutionalists loudly demanded his abdication. Troops had difficulty in preventing clashes.

There has been considerable talk about intervention by the powers, but no active measures in that direction were taken as far as is known.

BRITISH HEROES' REUNION.

Kipling Writes Special Verses for the Survivors of the Indian Mutiny.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Dec. 23.—"The remnant of that desperate host," as Kipling described the veterans of the Indian mutiny, gathered this afternoon in Albert Hall to the number of more than 700, to commemorate the golden jubilee of the struggle which ended in the Indian Empire being saved to Great Britain.

On the pension roll in the War Office are the names of 1200 survivors of the mutiny, to each of whom an invitation was sent for the reunion, but old age prevented many from attending.

Lord Roberts, who presided, read a telegram from the King, who expressed the appreciation of the whole empire for the services rendered by the army of which the veterans were members. Lord Curzon, chancellor of Oxford University, gave the toast, "The Survivors of the Indian Mutiny," and Lewis Waller, the actor, recited verses especially written by Rudyard Kipling, of which the following is one:

Today, across our fathers' graves,
The astonished years reveal
The remnant of that desperate host
Which cleaned our East with steel.

SLAUGHTERED.

CARTER TO BLAME FOR KILLING MINERS' BILL.

Tells Senate Only After It Was Too Late to Get Action in House—Prospectors' Losses Heavy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Western Senators and Representatives will not soon recover from their resentment against Senator Carter of Montana for killing the bill to extend the time for assessment work on mines. While Carter permitted the Teller substitute to pass the Senate on Saturday, it was only because it was too late to get the bill through the House.

In order to be of any value to the prospectors of California, Nevada, Arizona, Colorado and other western States, included in the Teller substitute, the bill would have needed to pass both houses and been signed by the President before the New Year. Senator Carter knew this when, on Thursday he refused unanimous consent to immediate consideration of the relief measure.

In order to give Senator Teller credit with his constituents, for passing the measure through the Senate, Carter withdrew his objections on Saturday when the bill came up again. But the House had already practically adjourned for the holidays, and Carter and Teller both knew the bill could never become a law. It was merely a piece of Senatorial courtesy or Senatorial bluff as the two distinguished Senators' constituents would probably style it.

Inasmuch as the constitution forbids the enactment of ex-post facto laws, there is no possible chance for the enactment of any law to relieve western prospectors who, because of the financial stringency, have been unable to do or have done on their claims the amount of work annually required by law. The loss to these men will be heavy and irremediable unless the Secretary of the Interior can make some ruling for their relief and no one here can see at present how that can be done.

FEDERAL COURT'S VERDICT.

FIREMAN RESPONSIBLE TO ROAD FOR WRECK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Dec. 23.—Judge John S. Phillips of the United States Court of Appeals today returned a verdict in which a railroad employé is held responsible to his employers and to the public for an accident, in the case of Benson Collier, a former fireman, who sued the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Company for damages for personal injuries received in a wreck.

On that occasion, the "Katy flyer" was wrecked because a signal was disregarded. The evidence showed that Collier saw the signal, but failed to call the attention of the engineer to it.

In summing up his opinion and deciding the case against Collier, Judge Phillips said:

"We feel profoundly impressed with the supreme public importance of holding the employés of railroads in positions, such as engineers and firemen, in charge of trains, to a rigid accountability for the observance of reasonable and wise rules of the company in the running of trains. A large portion of the frightful disasters on railroads, carrying death and disaster in their wake, are caused by the inattention of employés. Such disasters will not be lessened by awarding damages to those whose inattention to such rules of the master contribute to the misfortune."

GOVERNMENT MAY BUY ISLAND.

Cocos in Pacific Resurveyed by Costa Rica, and Rumor Has It for Sale.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Private advices received by the local correspondents of a Panama banking house yesterday, to the effect that the recent action of the Costa Rican government in completely resurveying Cocos Island, a possession of that republic lying in the Pacific Ocean, 280 miles southwest of Panama, has given rise to speculation on the Isthmus as to the future of the island.

A rumor that has gained credence in official circles is to the effect that the Costa Ricans are about to dispose of Cocos Island to the United States or to an European power as a naval base. At any rate it is expected that the island will shortly be fortified by Costa Rica and the good harbor there deepened.

BANKS TO PLAY SANTA.

St. Louis Financial Institutions Will Distribute Over $60,000 to Employees as Gifts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The St. Louis banks and trust companies will give more than $60,000 in money to their employés as holiday presents.

The State National Bank and the Mercantile Trust Company will give their stockholders Christmas dividends aggregating $200,000. The Mechanics' American National Bank will today divide $3500 among its clerks. The Third National Bank will give each employé a percentage of his year's salary, and the Commonwealth Trust Company and the St. Louis Union Trust Company will make similar allotments.

The National Bank of Commerce has a "participation fund" consisting of an appropriation for the employés from the year's earnings. Each employé will get about two months' salary.

TITLE LOST.

VANDERBILT WEDDING OFF.

REPORT IN NEW YORK IS SHOCK TO FASHIONABLE SET.

Friends of Miss Gladys and Her Family Deny Rumor, but It Gains Strength Following the Postponement of the Nuptials With Hungarian Count, Szechenyi.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Society today sustained one of the severest shocks it has ever felt, when the report gained circulation that Miss Gladys Vanderbilt would not marry Count Szechenyi. This rumor followed the announcement that the wedding of the young couple had been postponed.

The statement was given out in such a manner as to lead the friends of the Vanderbilts to believe that the impression the inspirers of the news meant to convey was that the Vanderbilt family had decided that Miss Gladys's marriage should be indefinitely deferred.

Many friends of the Vanderbilts are emphatic in their declaration that no significance of an extraordinary nature can or should be placed on today's announcement, but those who are in a position to consider the circumstances impartially say that Miss Gladys will never be the bride of the Hungarian Count. All the members of the Vanderbilt family, except Miss Gladys's mother, are bitterly opposed to the match.

Last week a cable from Buda Pest, published in American papers, volunteered the intelligence that there were grumblings among the Count's uncles, aunts and cousins over the small sum that the Vanderbilts would allot to their titled relative. When the story was read by the Vanderbilts they were highly incensed, and the younger members of the family did not hesitate to say that Count Szechenyi came to America to seek their sister's purse rather than her heart.

CAMARILLA.

PRINCESS INVOLVED

Harden Calls for Her Testimony.

Asks That Kaiser's Eldest Sister Be Called Into Court.

Is Said to Have Referred to Count Von Moltke As "a Dandy."

Editor Threatens to Play His "Last Trump," and Is Defied.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Do not drive me to play my last trump!" shouted Maximilian Harden, editor of the Zukunft, as, pale and trembling with anger, he confronted the public prosecuter in the courtroom today.

"Play your trump and stop making threats," retorted the prosecutor contemptuously.

Whatever Harden's last "trump" is, he played a high trump today at the close of his criminal trial on the charge of libeling Count Kuno von Moltke. Harden's counsel asked that Princess Charlotte Herroditarg, Princess of Saxe-Meiningin, Emperor William's eldest sister, be summoned to testify.

The court refused to summon Princess Charlotte for the very good reason that a member of the Prussian royal family cannot be summoned to a court. But a commission may be appointed to take the Princess's testimony.

While she was living in Breslau, where her husband, Bernard, hereditary Prince of Saxe-Meiningin, was commanding general of an army corps with headquarters there, she was [illegible] serving in the cuirassiers then. She took a great dislike to him and spoke of him as "dandified" both in Breslau and in Berlin.

She often met the Count's niece, Countess von Moltke, who married Prof. Schweninger, Bismarck's physician. The Princess often talked about Moltke to his niece and expressed her dislike for him, but said nothing extremely severe. On the other hand, her husband, Prince Bernard, always had a high opinion of Von Moltke.

Harden never learned directly from the Emperor's sister her opinion of Moltke, but was informed of it by the latter's niece after her marriage. Prof. Schweninger and Harden are intimate friends and both are "Bismarck worshipers." Schweninger is ill in Munich and a member of the court has started for that city tonight to take his testimony.

Again today it seemed that Harden holds the weaker hand in this dangerous game. The trial is behind closed doors, but it can be stated positively that a great sensation was caused when Dr. Hirschfeld, a specialist in the treatment of decadent tendencies, arose and asked the court to be permitted to make a statement. Hirschfeld said today that his first opinion of Moltke was erroneous; that he had been led to give it by placing too much faith in the evidence of Frau von Elbe, Von Moltke's divorced wife.

The doors of th e courtroom were opened to the public in the afternoon after the examination of Frau von Elbe, during the course of which she modified her former testimony to such a surprising degree as to influence the position of the defense to a considerable extent, many of Harden's assertions against Von Moltke being based upon her previous declarations.

Frau von Elbe withdrew some of her statements derogatory to Von Moltke's character and gave to other statements she had made an entirely different meaning than previously implied.

Her physicians being called to the stand, testified that she suffered from neuritis.

Detectives who were put on the witness stand today gave evidence to the effect that nothing definite was known against Count von Moltke relative to any abnormality.

APOLOGY IS ACCEPTED.

Astor Chanler's Attorney Says Prosecution for Libel Will Likely Be Dropped.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The publication today of a retraction of the statements in the New York American and Journal in October, connecting William Astor Chanler with the case of Raymond Hitchcock, may result in the abandonment of the criminal libel proceedings instituted by Mr. Chanler against W. R. Hearst. Mr. Chanler's attorney said today:

"The retraction is so thorough and so complete a vindication of my client, I don't believe Mr. Chanler will think it is necessary further to press the proceedings. The acknowledgment of error and the personal regret expressed by Mr. Hearst in today's retraction leave little to be gained by urging the matter before the grand jury."

LORD KELVIN IS BURIED.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—Under the shadow of the monument to Sir Isaac Newton and close to the choir in Westminster Abbey, the body of Lord Kelvin, the noted English scientist who died December 17, was buried at noon today in the presence of a great gathering of representative American, continental and British scientists. Many of those present were clad in their academic robes and wore their decorations. A dozen clergymen were associated in reading the simple service.

POLITICAL.

CORTELYOU IS OUT FOR TAFT.

Organization of South Will Support Secretary.

Seven, and Possibly Eleven, States Included.

Ohioan's Stock Booms in the Presidential Race.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Taft Presidential stock took an upward bound today, according to the claims of the insiders, as a result of the negotiations between Secretary Taft and Secretary Cortelyou at the latter's home yesterday. The Taft supporters claim that they will annex the whole Cortelyou-Hitchcock organization of the South, and will gather in the delegates from no less than seven States and possibly eleven.

The Cortelyou-Hitchcock machine, organized under cover of third-term claims and originally intended, so the Taft people allege, to back Cortelyou, has been rather in the market since the President withdrew. It is composed of the Federal officers of the South, with their personal followers. It wants to land with the winner and, whenever it sees him it will do business.

Delays may result in its going to pieces and requiring to be reorganized. So the Taft people propose to waste no time.

It is understood that Secretaries Taft and Cortelyou had a very satisfactory conversation and the satisfaction which was everywhere apparent today in the Taft camp was responsible for the report that the deal had been made by which the Taft people would absorb the whole office holding, office-seeking South.

Manager Vorys of the Taft boom was asked pointedly whether the deal had been made or was under consideration. Mr. Vorys smiled and replied:

"I don't believe I ought to say anything about it now."

"But it would be a right guess that the deal is on, wouldn't it?"

"Well, I can't say anything just now that would strengthen your speculation."

CONVENTION IS CALLED.

Democratic Chairman Taggart Names Roger S. Sullivan as Head of Arrangements Committee.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FRENCH LICK (Ind.) Dec. 23.—Chairman Taggart of the Democratic National Committee today issued a formal call for the national convention. The announcement says:

"The Democratic National Committee has appointed Tuesday, the 7th day of July, 1908, as the time, and chosen Denver, Colo., as the place for holding the Democratic national convention.

"Each State is entitled to representation therein equal to double the number of its Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States, and each Territory, Alaska, District of Columbia, Hawaii and Porto Rico shall have six delegates. All Democratic citizens of the United States, irrespective of past political associations and differences, who can unite with us in the effort for a pure, economical, constitutional government, are cordially invited to join us in sending delegates to the convention."

Chairman Taggart also announced the following special Committee on Arrangements for the national convention: Roger S. Sullivan, Chicago; James Dahlman, Omaha; Norman S. Mack, Buffalo; R. M. Johnson, Houston; John McGraw, Grafton, W. Va.; John W. Osborne, Rawlins, Wyo.; Clark Howell, Atlanta.

BRYAN AND JOHNSON.

Prognosticator Couples Governor's Name With Nebraskan as Next Democratic Ticket.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska and John Johnson, Governor of Minnesota, will be the Democratic ticket for 1908, according to "Boby" Burke who has returned from a trip to Lincoln, Neb., and Denver.

The object of Mr. Burke's trip was to arrange for a visit and demonstration by the Cook County Democracy at Denver during the Democratic National Convention. He was accompanied by Albert Schonbeck and they stopped at Lincoln and were entertained by Mr. Bryan, who told them he remained a "receptive" candidate.

From the general conversation of Democrats in the West it appears the sentiment was centered upon Johnson for second place.

REPUBLICAN CLUB ACTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The Republican Club tonight indorsed Gov. Hughes as a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination and called on Republicans throughout the country to cooperate in securing his nomination and election.

There were more than 200 members of the club present and all but nine voted for the resolution, which was as follows:

"Resolved, That the Republican Club of the City of New York indorses Gov. Charles Evans Hughes as the Republican candidate for the Presidency of the United States of America in 1908, and invites the cooperation of kindred organizations and of the people generally throughout the city, State and nation to secure his election."

DENVER MAKES PAYMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, Dec. 23.—The first installment ($25,000) of the $100,000 fund pledged to the Democratic National Committee by the Denver convention league, was forwarded today to Chairman Taggart at French Lick, Ind. The remainder will be paid in equal installments on January 22, February 22 and March 22.

LAWSON IS EMPHATIC.

ROOSEVELT THE SAVIOR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, Dec. 23.—Thomas W. Lawson tonight asserted that President Roosevelt's election is necessary to save the country from disaster, and that another Republican, or even W. J. Bryan, would be so satisfactory to New York financial interests that they "will willingly finance either or both parties through the campaign to any extent necessary."

BANK SCANDAL.

GRAND JURY IS AFTER BANKERS.

FAILURE OF DEPOSIT COMPANY UNDER INVESTIGATION.

Many Witnesses Examined in San Francisco Scandal, and Langdon Declares That the Prosecution Will Push the Cases Against Indicted Officials Vigorously.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—The grand jury this afternoon resumed its investigation of the failure of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, and after numerous witnesses told what they knew of the bank's affairs, adjournment was taken until Friday afternoon, without reporting any more indictments.

Dist.-Atty. William H. Langdon, who returned from New York yesterday, after an extended tour throughout the East, took a personal interest in the probing of the alleged mismanagement which is said to have been the cause of the failure, and for a short time was in the grand jury room, but the questioning of the witnesses was done by his assistant, William Hoff Cook, who has had charge of the investigation.

Mr. Langdon said the District Attorney's office would do its utmost in the prosecution of the officials of the insolvent bank, if the grand jury found that they were responsible for the wrecking of the bank, and returned further indictments against them.

Among the witnesses examined today were I. L. Brown, secretary of the Executive Committee of the Depositors' Association; H. J. McGinnity, bond clerk in the bank; H. N. Storrs, a bookkeeper in the bank; Norton C. Wells, manager of the Fillmore-street branch of the bank; B. N. Bradford, secretary of the Carnegie Brick Company of Stockton, to which large loans were made; Paul Nippert, local manager of a surety company; D. J. Grauman and Zeke Abrams.

Attorney Hoff Cook this morning obtained an order from Judge Cabaniss permitting him to take the papers which he found in the desk of J. Dalzell Brown before the grand jury. Cook attaches much importance to these papers.

TO OUST BARTNETT AS COLTON ADMINISTRATOR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SANTA CRUZ, Dec. 23.—There was an array of legal talent spread before Judge Smith of the Superior Court today when the matter of removing Walter J. Bartnett as special administrator in the estate of Ellen Colton came up for consideration.

During the proceedings many spectacular cross-firings were indulged in by the attorneys. J. W. Riley, Barclay Heneley and Crittenden Thornton appeared in the interest of Helen Margaret Sacher and her guardian, and Marcel E. Cerf, Bert Burke and C. M. Cashin appeared for Bartnett.

It was shown that it was impossible for Bartnett to appear in response to the summons of the court since he was in durance vile, whereupon Mr. Cerf, as attorney for Bartnett, was put on the stand and subjected to a rigid cross-examination. Cerf knew nothing but what had been told him by Bartnett, which in substance was that there was something wrong with the Colton affairs at the bank. J. Dalzell Brown had told him that the securities had been sent away. Bartnett had not told him that any of the securities had been burned.

When asked why he did not prosecute some inquiry when he heard the securities had been sent away, Cerf said he had made what inquiries he could, but felt that the responsibility lay with the trust company, which could be held accountable.

When asked whether the securities had been placed with the trust company in accordance with the order of the court, he replied that he did not know.

Judge Smith's attention having been called by Attorney Riley to the trust company having failed to comply with the court's citation to appear, the default of the trust company was entered, which is punishable by a fine or imprisonment as the court may decide. It was shown that simply because the company had been restrained from continuing business was no reason why it should ignore the order of the court.

Judge Smith named the Federal Trust Company of San Francisco as special administrator pending developments in the legal proceedings now being prosecuted against Bartnett and the trust company.

BANK STOCKHOLDERS PUSH INVESTIGATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—The wing of the stockholders of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, which has as its chairman O. M. Goldaracena, met today in private session. A committee reported the liabilities of the bank to be about $12,000,000, and the convertible assets $5,675,000.

As the liabilities included about $2,500,000 scheduled as due to stockholders, it was suggested that this item should be stricken out, and thus show about 50 or 60 per cent. assets for the depositors.

No action was taken on the suggestion. A number of plans for rehabilitation were presented, but the meeting adjourned without adopting or indorsing any of them. B. P. Oliver, the newly-elected president of the bank, and other new officials of the institution, attended the meeting.

GERMAN OFFICIAL FINED.

Ex-Governor of Togoland Sentenced. Also to Be Transferred in Kaiser's Service.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—Ex-Gov. Horn of Togoland was today sentenced to a fine of $75 and costs, and to be transferred to another post for the ill-treatment of a native in Togoland in 1902. The charge was that he caused the death of a native by having him bound to a flagstaff, without food or drink, for 24 hours.

APPROVE PEACE PLAN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—To a telegram sent by President Luis Anderson of the Central American Peace Conference, which has just brought its sessions to a close in this city, to the presidents of the five Central American republics, replies have been received from the heads of three of these governments—Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Salvador—showing that those governments are in complete accord with the action of the conference. Prompt and favorable replies are expected from the presidents of Honduras and Guatemala.

DEPOSITION.

TAYLOR DENIES GOEBEL PLOT.

Ex-Governor's Deposition Is Read Before Jury.

Youtsey Quoted Threatening to Kill Candidate.

Powers Trial Opens Seventh Week Sensationally.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GEORGETOWN (Ky.) Dec. 23.—Just before adjournment tonight the depositions of W. S. Taylor, taken in 1902, and read in the last trial of Caleb Powers, were again put in evidence. Judge Brown, who, for some time, occupied the bench in the Laurel Circuit Court, this afternoon testified that James B. Howard was in London, Laurel county, on the morning of January 29, 1900, and that the witness had talked with Howard.

The reading of the deposition of former Gov. Taylor was not completed when court adjourned.

In a general way the testimony was a denial of all the facts and circumstances related by witnesses for the State. Taylor denied any complicity in the killing of Goebel. He also denied dictating to Youtsey the alleged letter to Howard.

The seventh week of the trial of Powers opened today. Police Judge J. M. Hubbard of Grayson, Ky., was recalled to identify a letter written by him to Powers, which embodied the substance of his sensational testimony given Saturday relative to a plan to kill Goebel, outlined to him by Youtsey. The letter was written by Judge Hubbard to Powers, while the latter was in the Newport jail.

J. L. Hopkins, the next witness, gave equally sensational testimony, recounting a conversation he had had with Youtsey two days before Goebel was shot, in which Youtsey said:

"I have sent to Cincinnati for cartridges that will fix him (meaning Goebel,) and I will give $100 to any man who will fire the shot. But if I can't get anybody else to do the work, I will do it myself."

Albert Helton, in whose possession was found the rifle with which Goebel was shot, also was on the stand today. He identified the weapon by its number, but was unable to say positively who gave it to him. He said that directly after the shooting of Goebel, when he went into the hall of the executive building where several persons were gathered about the door of Caleb Powers's office, from which the shot was fired, trying to force an entrance, some person handed the gun to him during the excitement. He thought the man who gave him the gun was a person who had been pointed out to him as Youtsey, but was not positive.

Helton also detailed a conversation he heard between Youtsey and J. B. Moe the day that Goebel was shot, in which Youtsey said Dick Holmes had promised to kill Goebel, but he had gone back on him. Youtsey added:

"If I can't get anybody else to shoot him, I will do it myself."

WITNESSES DELAY TRIALS

Darrow May be Unable to Open for Defense in Pettibone Case Because of Illness.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOISE (Idaho) Dec. 23.—Owing to the failure of one of the State's witnesses to arrive today, only a brief session of the Pettibone trial was held this morning.

Clarence Darrow was not in court and his condition is such that it may be impossible for him to make the opening statement for the defense before Thursday.

M. Sabin, an attorney from Colorado Springs, testified that Lyte Gregory, whom Orchard said he killed at the direction of Haywood and Pettibone, was employed to look up evidence in the cases of federation men who were charged with destroying the property of the Son Moon Mining Company of Colorado.

OBITUARY.

William Henry Rice.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—William Henry Rice, one of the best known of minstrels in the United States, died of pneumonia in a hospital Saturday. He was 65 years old.

M. P. Henderson.

STOCKTON, Dec. 23.—M. P. Henderson, one of the oldest wagon manufacturers of this city and father of former Railroad Commissioner Orrin S. Henderson, died at his home in this city yesterday, after an illness of over a year. Deceased was a native of Maine and 73 years old. Years ago he was elected to the City Council during his absence from the State, and did not know of it until his return, when he accepted the office. Besides his widow and son mentioned, a daughter, Mrs. Francis Cutting, survives. He was a prominent Mason and Oddfellow.

O. L. Bliss.

CARSON (Nev.) Dec. 23.—O. L. Bliss, a prominent resident of San Francisco, died in this city this morning. Mr. Bliss came to this city last Friday and was stricken ill with pneumonia. The deceased made a large fortune in the lumber business at Lake Tahoe, having supplied the greatest part of the timber used in the Comstock mines. At the time of his death he held large interests in Tahoe Tavern and other summer resorts. He was 74 years old.

Thomas Walhurst.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Thomas Walhurst, widely known as a theatrical manager for nearly sixty years, died in this city today from la grippe. He was 81 years old. Mr. Walhurst was the first manager to exploit Artemus Ward.

Prince Bernard.

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—Prince Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar, who renounced his rank upon his marriage to the widow of Count Lucchesini, the daughter of a Luebec hotel-keeper, in 1900, died today. After his marriage, Prince Bernhard assumed the title of Count Grayenberg.

Widow Killed by Train.

BERKELEY, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Annie E. Smith, widow of the late Rev. M. O. Smith, a Presbyterian clergyman, was run down and killed today by the Southern Pacific local on Shattuck avenue, before the eyes of her horrified niece, Mrs. B. R. Brown and a hundred frantic, helpless people on the street. The two women were shopping. The accident occurred in the center of the business district, almost on the spot where 13-year-old Harold Wagner was run down Saturday.

The New York grand jury yesterday began an investigation into the affairs of the Hamilton Bank of Harlem, which recently closed its doors.

CONVINCING.

Comparison of Sunday Advertising in Los Angeles Papers.

The two morning antagonists (not competitors) of The Times, combined, printed 232 columns of paid matter on Sunday, December 15. The Times alone printed 455 columns, or 123 more than the aggregate of both the other morning papers.

It is significant that the volume of legitimate mercantile display advertising exceeds last year's big record.

The Times continues to lead the world, as well as Los Angeles, in the amount of paid matter printed; subsidized prevaricators in the service of the "tailenders" to the contrary notwithstanding. This in the face of the continued onslaughts of labor-union organizers and their newspaper backers—not to mention the infidels, the heathen and other off-color newspaper degenerates.

UP AND DOWN THE VALLEY.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The host of late Christmas shoppers were greeted with a brief season of sunshine late this afternoon, but for the greater part the day was dreary, and a strong western wind added to the discomfort. Maximum temperature was 41 deg., minimum 32 deg.

IDLENESS FOR THOUSANDS.

Officials of the Illinois Steel Company today announced that the immense plant of the company located at South Chicago would be shut down indefinitely tomorrow. Twelve thousand men are employed in the plant when it is in full operation.

MYSTICISM.

With incense-smoking altars, the chanting of hymns of ancient Persia, and high priests in gorgeous robes celebrating rites of oriental mysticism, the fifth Gahanbar, or annual conference of Mazdaznan, will begin tomorrow night in the temple of Order No. 30?6, Lake Park avenue. Members of the cult—a renaissance of the Zoroastrian faith, established in Chicago by Otoman Zar-Hantish five years ago—will attend from all over the United States, Canada, Mexico, South America, England and Germany. The conference will continue until New Year's.

CONGO CONDITIONS.

Prof. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago spoke before the Presbyterian Ministers' Association today on the alleged atrocities in the Congo Free State. Prof. Starr said he had not seen any atrocities in the African domains of King Leopold, and said that none had occurred since the Congo Free State Reform Association took up the task of bettering the conditions existing.

REFRESHMENT WAGON.

The ambulance of the fire department will be transformed this week into the first municipal sandwich and coffee wagon in Chicago for the needs of hungry and thirsty fire-fighters. When the men have a big fire to work on, they will be able to leave the smoke and grime and snatch a few moments at the refreshment table.

TORRID AT FARGO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FARGO (N. D.) Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Visitors in Fargo who have heard of the city's reputation as a "blizzard incubator" would have been surprised today to see the streets thronged with men without overcoats and women in peek-a-boo waists. They would have been still more astonished to read the posters on the billboards, announcing a baseball game for Christmas Day, with the postscript that attentive waiters would circulate through the crowd selling lemonade, pop and other cooling drinks. And yet this is all true. Overcoats have not been used this winter in this city and not once has the thermometer registered zero.

ILLINOIS SNOWBOUND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BLOOMINGTON (Ill.) Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A heavy snowstorm today tied up the trolley inter-urban lines, demoralized the telegraph and telephone service of Central Illinois, and caused heavy damage to fruit trees, due to broken limbs. A special train with linemen has been over the Chicago and Alton lines to repair broken wires and pick up prostrated poles.

CONTEST FOR ESTATE.

MRS. BRADLEY TO TEST WILL.

SUIT IN BEHALF OF EX-SENATOR BROWN'S CHILDREN FILED.

Mother of Woman Who Killed Faithless Lover Appointed Guardian of Little Boys to Contest for Part of $200,000 Estate Left by Salt Lake City Statesman.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE (Utah) Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A suit to test the will of the late Senator Brown, who was killed by Mrs. Anna M. Bradley, was filed in the District Court here this afternoon in the interest of the two children, who, Mrs. Bradley says, are the Senator's sons.

Judge O. W. Powers, one of the attorneys in the murder trial of Mrs. Bradley, is representing the children in the suit. Upon his application this afternoon Mrs. M. H. Maddison, mother of Mrs. Bradley, was appointed guardian of the children for the purpose of contesting the will. Then Judge Powers filed the suit contesting the will.

The estate left by Senator Brown is valued at $200,000. A major portion of it consists of valuable real estate in this city. The will has been admitted to probate. Max Brown, the Senator's son by his second wife, shares half of it. He and his wife live in the elegant Brown mansion now. The Senator's daughter by his first wife shares the other half of the estate in the will. She lives in Ohio with her mother.

The children in whose behalf the suit was filed, Arthur Brown, aged 3 years, and Montgomery Brown, aged 4 years, were not provided for in the will. Judge Powers in the petition for a contest of the will alleges that excessive use of liquor had weakened the Senator's mind before he made the will and that he was unduly influenced by his son, Max. Mrs. Bradley has the following statement in the Senator's handwriting and written upon his professional stationery:

"Salt Lake City, March 25, 1905.—I acknowledge Arthur Brown and Martin Montgomery as my children by Anna M. Bradley. (Signed) Arthur Brown."

JAP DIET MEETS CHRISTMAS.

Extremely Grave Questions Confront Statesmen of Nippon—Divided on Emigration Problem.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Dec. 23.—The Japanese Diet will assemble on Wednesday for its twenty-fourth session and a number of extremely grave questions will confront it, which promise to make the session one of unusual importance.

The opposition is said to be prepared to vigorously oppose the budget formally decided upon by the Imperial Council a few days ago and which contemplates large retrenchments in the public expenditures.

The emigration question also promises to be prolific of partisan debate.

The Progressive party already has announced its determination to promote an active campaign in the Diet against the government's restrictions, and to support the emigration companies whose business is imperiled by Foreign Minister Hayashi's action in exercising vigorous control over their operations, particularly in limiting the sending of laborers to the United States and Canada.

The men indicted for alleged conspiracy in connection with the advance in the price of milk in Chicago, yesterday, gave $30,000 bonds each for their appearance for trial.

BUSINESS BY BANKS NORMAL.

End of Holidays Creates No Excitement.

Deposits Are Same as Usual in San Francisco.

Financiers Unite in Declaring Trouble Over.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—The period of legal holidays declared by Gov. Gillett to meet the recent financial stringency having expired at midnight last Saturday, all of the leading banks transacted business as usual today. Normal conditions prevailed, and there was no run nor crush of people anywhere.

Many deposits were made, and the withdrawal of funds did not exceed the amount customary during a day's business. Clearinghouse certificates were outlawed in circulation, but when cash was required, it was readily obtainable. The principal bankers unite in declaring that the financial trouble, which for some time caused some inconvenience, is a thing of the past. Certificates were generally accepted, and in only a few instances was coin demanded and insisted upon.

The savings banks have the protection of from thirty to ninety days' notice required for withdrawals. Refusing the drawing of small sums with which to make Christmas purchases, there were few requests for withdrawals from the savings banks.

Irving S. Moulton, cashier of the Bank of California, said: "Business today is normal. I have not noticed any differences between today and any Monday during the past three weeks. So far as this bank is concerned, I have met all demands made upon it in the several weeks."

"There has been little or no demand from country banks for shipments of coin, which indicates that they are in good shape to take care of their business," said Cashier King of the Wells-Fargo Nevada National Bank.

A QUIET MONDAY.

W. Hellman, Jr., vice-president and manager of the Union Trust Company, declared that today was the quietest Monday his institution had experienced for several weeks.

J. J. Wilson, vice-president of the Nevada National Bank, said: "Business today is about the same with the exception of Monday during the past week. Monday showed a possible improvement. As a matter of fact, the balances of nearly all the banks have been smaller since the holidays declared because of the inability of merchants and others to make collections. I think the financial trouble in this city would have been relieved if the holidays been declared a few weeks ago."

The First National Bank. It was stated, owing to the scarcity of coin, that banks would continue in circulation for some weeks yet, but that smaller denominations were being withdrawn. Demands for money were met with half in coin and half in certificates.

"The public seems perfectly quiet about it," said R. M. Tobin of the Hibernia Savings Bank, the largest savings institution in the city. "We are doing the usual Christmas business to enable depositors to make their holiday purchases. Beyond that, there are practically no requests for withdrawals. Any withdrawals made at present mean the loss of six months' interest. The situation, so far as the savings banks are concerned, is excellent. We are not even following the rule of requiring notices of forty to ninety days, and such notices were given during the holidays have practically all been canceled."

NO EXCITEMENT.

President Homer S. King of the Clearing-House Association, in an interview, said:

"There is no excitement and no uneasiness. Business is going along just as it has been going on for the past month. Patrons who need gold are getting it and have been getting it for three weeks. If we think the applicants want to hoard it, they do not get it. Whenever there is a need for gold we supply it."

When asked as to what action would be taken in regard to the retirement of clearinghouse certificates, President King said:

"We are retiring the certificates rapidly, but it will take some time, however long. I can't say. No more certificates are being issued. The total amount in circulation is about $5,000,000. Everybody realizes that they are as good as gold and they find ready acceptance.

The clearances today amounted to $25,000,000, just week they averaged $30,000,000 daily."

STOCKTON BANKS NORMAL.

DEPOSITS BEAT WITHDRAWALS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STOCKTON, Dec. 22.—Stockton banks report normal business conditions this morning. There was nothing at all serious of a run on any of the banks and in some instances deposits had exceeded withdrawals up to noon, notwithstanding that Monday morning proceeds in the ordinary course of events are usually heavy. This is explained on the hypothesis that the impetus cash business done by the merchants Saturday night, owing to the Christmas trade, has placed plenty of money in circulation.

CRAFT CASES GO OVER.

Judge Lawlor Grants Motion of Defendants—Conspiracy Trials Also Postponed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—On a motion from the defendants, the graft cases, Frank Drum, Calhoun and Eugene De Sabla, indicted and Schmitz, were postponed by Judge Lawlor's court this morning until Friday. The cases are now ready to be set.

The cases against Jerry Dinan, accused of perjury and conspiracy, and Abe Ruef for conspiracy, which are also ready to be set, went over in Judge Dunne's court, where pending matters will take up the time for the rest of this week.

HOP GROWERS MEET.

TAYLOR MOVEMENT GROWS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND, Dec. 22.—A special from Salem, Or., to the Evening Telegram says the first of a series of meetings of hop growers is being held there today to consider the formation of a union of the hop growers of Oregon, Washington and Oregon. The meeting was addressed by Edward E. Woodward of Santa Rosa, W. F. Lovedale of Sacramento, M. L. Durst of Wheatland and Attorney L. Shinn of Sacramento. Mr. Shinn explained the plan of action of the California corporation recently organized for the purpose of improving the conditions of the hop growers of the Pacific Coast. Considerable enthusiasm was manifested at today's meeting and the prospects seem bright for the Oregon growers to affiliate with the California growers.

NEW MEXICO.

MAKING FIGHT ON GOV. CURRY.

ENEMIES SEEK TO PREVENT CONFIRMATION.

Charges Attacking New Mexico Executive to Be Introduced in Congress by an Unfriendly Senator After the Holidays—Object of Attack not Worried.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) Dec. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That a determined effort is being made to prevent confirmation by the Senate of the appointment of Gov. Curry, was made known here today in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington. The news occasioned much surprise in official circles.

It is understood that charges have been filed by enemies of Gov. Curry, who were supporters of ex-Gov. Hagerman, who was removed, attacking Curry's character and rehashing events in his life which took place while he was a cowboy and which include the time he resisted Territorial officers and Federal troops during the memorable range war in Colfax county in the early eighties and at which time his brother was killed. It is said these charges have been placed in the hands of a Senator unfriendly to New Mexico, who will present them to the Senate after holiday recess.

Friends of the Governor insist, however, that although the appointment may be strongly opposed, Curry will come out on top and be confirmed. The Governor has made no statement regarding the charges, as he is absent from the capital. It is understood he will proceed to Washington at an early date to defend himself.

IN NICK OF TIME.

ALMOST DEAD WHEN RESCUED.

ON DESERTED ISLAND FOR FIVE DAYS AND NIGHTS.

Timber Cruiser Is Saved After Awful Experience Without Food, Blankets or Knife, and His Companion Is Believed Beyond Doubt to Have Been Drowned.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER, Dec. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Five days and nights in the woods on the uninhabited southeast end of Texada Island, without food, blankets, or even a knife, and toward the last without even matches to light a fire, George McGrath, a timber cruiser, was almost dead from hunger and exposure when rescued yesterday by the tug Chinook.

A companion of the unfortunate man who was blown out into the Gulf of Georgia in a small dory, with but one oar, has not been heard of, and has undoubtedly been drowned.

McGrath was so weak and emaciated that he fell several times while descending to the beach to reach the small boat which the tug put ashore to take him off. The tugboat men say that the privations and exposure the man has passed through would certainly have left him insane or dead had he not been rescued within eight hours.

Five days before McGrath was picked up, he and another man were skirting the shores in a small dory, and McGrath landed to look at the timber. The other man was to have rowed a short distance along the shore to a point where he was to have picked McGrath up. While he was pushing the dory along in the face of a strong off-shore wind, one of the oars broke, and, unable to hold the boat with the remaining oar, he was blown out into Malaspina Strait, which separates Texada Island from the mainland.

McGrath realized that he was in a terrible plight as he watched the dory gradually working off shore till sight of it was lost in the gathering gloom. He had no food, no covering, and only a few matches. As day followed night, after a night of bitter cold, McGrath gradually weakened.

He had about given up hope of getting off the island alive when the tug Chinook, hugging the shore closely for shelter from a southeaster, hove in sight. Climbing a conspicuous rock, McGrath waved his coat as continuously as his little remaining strength would permit. His signals were seen by the man at the wheel, and a boat was sent to pick him up.

NEW BOARD OF HEALTH.

TAYLOR NAMES MEMBERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Mayor Taylor named a new Board of Health this afternoon. He appointed three physicians and three laymen. The physicians are Dr. William Ophuls, Dr. Thomas W. Huntington and Dr. Guy E. Manning, all members of the old board. The laymen are John P. McLaughlin, William P. Wilson and Curtis Hillyer.

GUILTY OF KILLING SON.

Murder in First Degree is Verdict, but Jury Fixes Penalty at Life Imprisonment.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

REDWOOD CITY, Dec. 22.—The trial of Henry Curtis, of South San Francisco, for the murder of his son, Henry Curtis, Jr., last month, ended, in a verdict of murder in the first degree with the penalty fixed by the jury at life imprisonment.

The evidence showed the killing to have been in cold blood, but on account of the age of the defendant, the jury could not bring themselves to the point of hanging him. Father and son had had numerous rows and on the day of the killing, they had fought more viciously than usual, and after it was over the son started away from the shack in which they lived, when the father deliberately shot him in the back.

The defendant confessed that the killing was without justification, but repudiated that upon the stand today and said he had no recollection of ever having made any such confession.

ITALIAN FINDS PURSE.

NOW HE IS OFF FOR HOME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Dec. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Saturday while chopping wood on the Catherine Dunne ranch, near Morgan Hill, Peter Harboni, a recent arrival in this country from Italy, found a lady's purse containing $1400.

He immediately dropped his ax, put on his coat, and bought a ticket to New Orleans, with the intention of returning to Italy.

Greatly excited by the discovery of their companion, other Italians chopping wood on the same place, searched the ground where the purse was found, but they were not rewarded for their trouble.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Cathedral Is Dedicated.

SEATTLE, Dec. 22.—With the most impressive services, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning and continuing until after 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the splendid cathedral of the newly constituted Catholic diocese of Seattle was yesterday formally dedicated and opened for worship. By the dedication, the Catholic diocese embracing the State of Washington has a cathedral home for the first time in the thirty years of its existence. It cost $500,000.

Habeas Corpus Writ Issues.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 22.—The Appellate Court today issued a writ of habeas corpus for Raymond Roseblade, who last week was sent to jail by Judge Welch for refusing to testify in the trial of ex-Dist.-Atty. Herrington for alleged bribery. Roseblade was the chief witness for the prosecution.

Capitalist Sentenced for Theft.

STOCKTON, Dec. 22.—John Da Monte, an aged Italian found guilty of the murder of a Chinaman in the county, was today sentenced by Judge Nuyter to life imprisonment in San Quentin. A. C. Derwae, an aged retired capitalist and Socialist, was sentenced to three years for burglary. His crime consisted of systematically robbing tenants who conducted a store in a building in which he lived.

Drops Dead of Laughter.

STOCKTON, Dec. 22.—Tomas Arcia, an old resident of this city, dropped dead today while laughing over a pleasantry on the part of a relative, in the presence of his wife and stepchildren. An autopsy showed that death was due to heart disease.

Killed by Freight Train.

AUBURN, Dec. 22.—As Fred Chenowith and his grandson, Clyde Price, aged 6 years, were crossing the Southern Pacific track a mile and a half east of here this evening, they were struck by the engine of westbound freight train No. 211, Engineer H. Mollineux. Chenowith was killed and the boy is probably fatally injured. The horse was killed and the buggy smashed to bits.

Mysterious Murder.

TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 22.—Albert C. Leonhart, a carpenter, who came here from Columbus, O., a month ago, was mysteriously murdered early Sunday morning. It is believed that he was the victim of highwaymen. Two shots were heard, but there are no witnesses. The man was found lying in the street and was taken to the Police Station, where he died without making a statement. He had just inherited a considerable sum of money from his father.

Beats Burglar Senseless.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—After a desperate battle in which he was beaten into unconsciousness by Patrolman Thomas McCarthy, a daring burglar was captured by the police last night. The man is now at the City Prison and the police believe that he is responsible for a number of recent burglaries. He was caught in the act of robbing a saloon on Market street.

Because Miss Katie Bunkowski, clerk in a grocery store at St. Joseph, Mo., sold gasoline for coal oil, Mrs. Sallie Bettis, aged 69 years, a pioneer resident, is dead, following an explosion of the fluid, which was used in starting a fire. The Coroner's jury today held the grocer, J. Stern, responsible for the mistake.

MOST CLASSIFIED IN THE TIMES.

Fifty-four thousand three hundred fifty-six separate classified "Wants" and other "Liners" were printed in the Los Angeles Times during the month of November. The Examiner, Herald and Express carried a combined aggregate of 53,465 announcements, or nearly 1000 less than The Times alone.

Discriminating classified advertisers follow the medium bringing them most profitable results, and hence the enormous lead of The Times in this class of business over all other Los Angeles newspapers. It is The Times, not the other local dailies, that "delivers the goods." Sagacious advertisers cannot afford in these stringent times to throw away money on advertisements which do not produce results.

WASHINGTON.

APPOINTMENTS UNCONFIRMED.

Senate Fails to Approve Few Nominations.

Large Part, However, Reported on Favorably.

Committees Hold up Several on Protests.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The Senate adjourned for the holidays with a number of executive appointments unconfirmed. The President has sent to the Senate practically all of his appointments made during the summer recess of Congress, and the larger part of these have been acted upon by the proper committees and confirmed in executive session by the Senate.

These included postmasters, consular appointments, Land Office appointments, certain judicial nominations, and a list of over 1800 promotions in the Army and Navy.

Of the nominations reported favorably by committees to the Senate for confirmation but one remains to be acted upon, that of John G. Capers, to be Commissioner of Internal Revenue. An attempt was made to secure the confirmation of Capers a few days ago, but objection was made and it went over until after the holidays. No definite charges against him have been made, but the nomination was simply passed over at the suggestion of one Senator, who had conferred with others before he took the action.

The nomination of Silas H. Reid of Oklahoma to be judge of the District Court of Alaska, in the place of Judge Wickersham, recently resigned, is also held up in the Judiciary Committee. It is understood there will be some protests from Alaska against his appointment.

There are also some nominations still pending in the Finance Committee. Senator Clay has held up the confirmation of one or two Georgia postmasters who are to succeed women.

The Committee on Territories has refused a favorable report for the present upon the nomination of George Curry to be Governor of New Mexico, but has seen no reason for holding up the appointment of David J. Leahy to be United States Attorney for that territory.

ALASKA HAS WANTS.

Governor, in Report to Secretary of Interior, Suggests Legislation for Territory.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The "interest of a generous Congress in the development of the resources of this vast territory and in the welfare of its people," with continued liberal appropriations for mails, roads, cables, telegraph extension, lighthouses, buoys, aids to navigation and geological and coast and geodetic survey, is bespoken by Gov. Hoggatt of Alaska in his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior.

The Governor estimates the population of Alaska at 31,000, exclusive of 4000 or 7000 people of mixed nationality employed in mines, canneries and railroad construction during the summer. He reports extensive prospecting in the various mining districts, and says that loose methods followed in staking claims and maintaining titles to placer grounds have caused much litigation. The whisky peddler is stated to be the worst enemy of the natives, but the earning capacity and desire of the coast Indians to live as the whites do is increasing.

The Governor recommends the revision of the Alaskan code of laws, creation of a fourth judicial division for the part of Alaska along the coast west of Yakutat Bay and extending inland 100 miles; legislative restrictions of liquor sales within a five-mile radius of any railroad or other enterprise employing 100 or more men, except in an incorporated town; development of coal lands, and amendments to the laws governing placer locations.

NATIONAL FLIGHT.

SEVERE TEST FOR AIR SHIP.

UNITED STATES AFTER RELIABLE FLYING MACHINE.

Specifications Published Yesterday Call for Trial Flight of at Least One Hour Before Invention Is Accepted. Must Carry Two Persons and Fuel for Voyage.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Far more severe than any other nation is the United States in its requirements in the matter of flying machines of heavier than air type, as set out in the specifications issued today by Gen Allen, chief signal officer, upon which inventors are invited to submit bids to be opened February 1 next.

This machine must carry two persons of the combined weight of 350 pounds, and sufficient fuel for a flight of 125 miles. It must be designed for a speed of at least forty miles an hour, but a machine will be acceptable of only thirty-six miles, although only 50 per cent. of the contract price will be paid therefor.

There is provision for a premium on speed in excess of forty miles an hour, so that at forty-four miles the machine would cost the government 120 per cent. more than contract price.

The hardest requirement to meet, and one never heretofore realized by any inventor, is that "before acceptance, a trial flight will be required of at least one hour, during which time the flying machine must remain constantly in the air without landing."

Unless the bidders are also the makers of the machine they must state the name and place of the maker. They must also supply complete scale drawings of their devices, and they are notified that it is desirable that the machine shall be capable of being easily and quickly taken apart, and reassembled and be transportable in an army wagon.

To protect the department against irresponsible and visionary persons who set up claims to the invention of practical flying machines, bidders will be required to furnish with their proposal a certified check to the amount of 10 per cent. of the machine's cost.

GAYNOR AND GREENE DOWNED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The Supreme Court of the United States today denied the petition for writs of certiorari bringing to that court the cases of Benjamin P. Greene and John F. Gaynor, who are under sentence to pay a fine of $575,749 and to undergo terms of imprisonment of four years each on the charges of embezzlement and conspiracy in connection with Capt. Oberlin M. Carter's scheme to defraud the United States in connection with harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga.

WATER COMPANY LOSES.

FIGHT ON OMAHA ORDINANCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The Supreme Court of the United States today decided the case of the Omaha Water Company vs. the city of Omaha, arising out of the city's effort to reduce the water rate against the city. The proceeding was instituted by the company to secure an injunction against the enforcement of an ordinance reducing the rate on water to consumers below the price fixed in 1883.

The United States Circuit Court for Nebraska sustained the ordinance, but its decision was reversed by the United States Court of Appeals. The city appealed.

Chief Justice Fuller announced the Supreme Court's opinion dismissing the appeal for want of jurisdiction and denying the petition for a writ of certiorari.

IMMIGRATION INCREASES.

November Statement of Government Bureau Shows Greater Influx of Foreigners Than Before.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A 25 per cent. increase over the same period last year in the immigration from all countries is shown in the November statement of the Bureau of Immigration.

In that month, 117,476 immigrants arrived at the various points, against 94,621 in November, 1906. In addition there were 1394 who were turned back for various causes.

The total immigration from all countries for the six months ended November 30, was 378,574, an increase of 18 per cent.

Only two more Japanese came to the United States in November, 1907, than in November, 1906, the figures being placed at 1492 and 1490, respectively.

CANAL RECORDS SMASHED.

Report of Work on Isthmus Puts to Shame Great Engineering Feats of World.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The excavation on the line of the Panama Canal last month, aggregating 1,836,488 cubic yards, would have covered ten blocks to a depth of forty feet. No such work has ever been done before as Col. Goethals has been doing on the isthmus, according to statistics presented in the official canal record, just received.

For instance, it is shown that every fifty working days the commission is moving an amount of material equal to the Pyramid of Cheops, which consumed the labor of 100,000 men for twenty years in the building, and the services of the same number of men for ten years in constructing the road connecting the work with the quarry. The commission could build the Suez Canal, at the present rate of progress, in 3.5 years, though it took ten years for De Lesseps to complete his work.

The famous Manchester Ship Canal could be excavated by the American canal workers in just two months, and even Emperor William's magnificent Kiel Canal could be dug by the Americans in just five years.

According to the latest health report from Panama, the isthmus has been free from yellow fever for more than eighteen months, and there has been a steady and continued improvement in the health conditions. Comparing the death rate for the year up to December 1 with that for the corresponding period in 1906, there has been a 50 per cent. decrease. The sick rate also shows a marked improvement, being 20.69 for November, against 26.90 for October, 1907.

GREAT CROWD REVELS IN RARE CHARMS OF HANDSOME NEW BANK.

Portion of Ornate Quarters of Security Savings Bank.

Rare combination of marble and bronze in magnificent new banking rooms, which are declared to have few equals in the United States and none west of Chicago.

Thousands of persons had their first glimpse yesterday of the magnificent new quarters of the Security Savings Bank at Fifth and Spring street, the handsomest banking rooms west of Chicago, and, with hardly an exception, the most ornate in the United States. Although the bank has been in its new home a week, it entertained its first large party of patrons and visitors yesterday, for it was the opening day of the period for the payment of semi-annual dividends, and $325,000 is to be passed out or credited to depositors at this time.

Some idea of the grandeur of the furnishings and fittings of the bank may be had when it is known that $300,000 has been expended in its equipment—an amount almost equal to the total semi-annual dividends to depositors—but these cold figures tell nothing of the exquisite beauty of the great banking-rooms, where art has combined with strength and utility to form a setting for a place that has no equal in the West. There are few libraries and public or semi-public buildings in the country that have greater attraction for lovers of the beautiful than is afforded by this dream in rare marbles, bronze and mahogany.

In size alone the bank quarters are imposing, occupying as they do almost the entire first floor and basement of the immense Security building—the frontage of the main banking-room being 130 feet on Spring street and 126 feet on Fifth street, while the height from floor to ceiling is twenty-five feet in the clear. No stinting of space here; no cramping to mar the dignified lines.

Around the large room, extending to the level of the sills of the massive windows, is a wainscoting of red Numidian marble, with its beautiful and wonderful tracing in various colors, each slab a picture of rare charm. Above this wainscoting, and extending nearly to the ceiling, the walls are of English vein white Italian marble of special selection, suggesting some great palace rather than a house of commerce.

The ceiling and the "drop" around the edges are treated with gold and silver leaf, the two blending in a defined tone that reflects the beauties of both metals. Heavy bronze electroliers of rare design are suspended from the ceiling by massive bronze chains, while bronze standards and bronze fixtures in the form of torches that protrude from the side walls add to the lighting arrangements and to the artistic ensemble.

In the center of the room, dividing the wide corridors from the working space for officers and employes, is a counter of red Numidian marble, its base of the same material, surmounted by a partition of bronze and glass, in which there are thirty openings, or gates. The Spring-street corridor is 22 feet wide, and that on the Fifth-street side is 14 feet in width, while there is a roomy corridor on the south side of the banking room.

Circular tables that stand out in the corridors are of bronze and great slabs of red Numidian marble; wall tables and long settees are of the same materials, the seat cushions of the latter even being in bronze-colored leather to harmonize with the general effect. From the center of each round table rises a bronze column that supports a cluster of lights.

In the northwest corner of the room is a nook especially designed for the accommodation of woman patrons of the bank, desks and chairs being provided, with telephones and all other conveniences. Still more attractive to the woman patron is the retiring room in the south corridor, its walls covered with tapestry, furniture similarly covered, and with a handsome washroom and toilet that have their equal in few fine hotels. There are six telephones in the corridors for the use of patrons.

Massive columns, of striking design in gold and light gray, support the ceiling and lend an air of solidity to the great room, and stained glass panels above give a finishing touch of color.

At the southwest corner of the banking room is the entrance to the safety deposit vaults in the basement, the stairway and walls all in the same exquisite Italian marble that embellishes the upper walls of the main room. There are 25,000 boxes in this vault, now nearing completion.

Back of the counters are the quarters of the employes and the rooms of the officers, the private offices of President Sartori, and the directors' room being most attractively finished in mahogany, with furniture to match, while the rooms of other officers, opening directly on the north corridor, are similar in their treatment.

On the main floor are two large vaults, one for coin alone, the other for books and documents. These vaults are buildings of themselves, with their own foundations, walls and ceilings. Whatever may happen to the big building, the vaults will not be affected. They are fire, earthquake and burglar proof, built of reinforced concrete, with four layers of steel bars, surfaced inside and out with chrome steel, and otherwise strengthened to withstand every force, from within or without. Furthermore, they are equipped with electric devices that would give a signal at the first attempt at molestation, and the vaults are so arranged that a watchman can have constant inspection of all sides. The same construction applies to the safety deposit vaults in the basement, and every safeguard is thrown about this department.

ENGLAND FEARS JAPAN.

Count Okuma's Speech About India Stirs Britons to Anxiety and Suspicion.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Count Okuma's speech before Kobe Chamber of Commerce, in which he talked about "European oppression" of India, dilated upon treasures of that land and declared that natives are now "looking to Japan for protection," is proving England's biggest Christmas cracker. It elicits startling headlines in newspapers and commercial clubs are babbling.

"We told you so," exclaimed journalists and politicians who have been growing openly more suspicious of Japan for many months.

"Our brown allies not only aspire to send their people and their trade in every section, but dream of the time when Japanese power will be supreme in the far East."

Friends of Japan reply that Count Okuma's speech was meant for home consumption only and that anyway, it contemplates nothing but trade expansion.

It is perfectly clear that the Japanese question is quite as acute with the British as with Americans and that it presses from several points of view.

END OF GREAT WORK.

GIANT JETTIES NEARLY DONE.

IS GREATEST CHANNEL-MAKING UNDERTAKING IN AMERICA.

Gives South One of Deepest Harbors in World, Opening to Largest Steamship Afloat Mississippi and Navigable Tributaries, With Main Point at New Orleans.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—One of the greatest channel-making undertakings in the history of American river improvements will be brought nearly to completion this week when the jetties at the south of the southwest pass of the Mississippi River are finished.

Those jetties, after some dredging between them is completed will give the South one of the deepest harbors in the world by opening to the access of the largest steamships afloat the 100 and 200-foot depths of the lower Mississippi River under the harbor thus made accessible, and navigable water connection with at least a dozen States bordering the Mississippi and its tributaries the Ohio, Missouri, Arkansas and Red rvers.

About $6,000,000 is being spent on this improvement by the United States government which has the work in charge. The new jetties were begun four years ago. They are on a larger scale and more substantial than the famous jetties at the Mississippi's south pass, an outlet which over thirty years has been the river's commercial entrance.

They are nearly parallel walls, one about three and the other about four miles long, over a half mile apart and built in the shoal water at the juncture of the pass with the Gulf of Mexico. Their purpose is to confine and thus accelerate the river's current across a mud bar about three miles broad so as to produce a channel at least 1000 feet wide with a minimum depth of thirty-five feet.

CURRENT AIDS WORK.

The swift current which they have produced aided by dredging even before their completion has caused a tremendous scour and has already made fifty to eighty-five feet of water in some places where at the beginning of the work the depth was but little over a man's head. To make the uniform contract depth, there is still in several spots about ten feet of mud to be removed. It is expected that the high waters due within a few weeks will speed the remaining mud deposits out to sea by the beginning of next summer.

Probably few walls ever have been constructed under greater difficulties than were these jetties. They are made of yellow scantling, stone and concrete and although in some places they are not six feet deep and although their greatest depth is barely fifteen feet, they have cost $2,700,000. Every material entering into their construction has been brought from distances of 100 to 200 miles. The jetties have no foundation but rely for stability upon their broad basis, being from 100 to 150 feet wide at the bottom.

In contrast to this great width of base, the concrete capping which forms the top of the jetties and which is the work receiving its finishing touches this week, is but a few feet wide. The capping is a sea wall four and one-half feet high and is the only portion of the jetties not submerged. The wall weighs between two and three tons per lineal foot. The submerged structure supporting this mass of concrete is made almost entirely of willow poles and brush.

CHANNEL SAFEGUARDED.

With the aid of a framework of scantling, the willows were formed into so-called mattresses, broad flat structures resembling bed mattresses in form each about two feet thick, 200 feet long and varying in width from 25 to 150 feet. The mattresses were sunk one above the other, with the widest at the bottom and those above uniformly diminishing in width as they approached the surface. The topmost mattresses were uniformly thirty-five feet wide and at a level with the surface of the water. Heavy broken stone was spread evenly over the mattresses to sink them, so that a layer of stone rests between these willow structures. The greatest number of superimposed mattresses was five.

Part of $4,000,000 allotted to making the channel is being spent in safeguards several miles above the jetties to prevent any increase in the flow of other large outlets from the main river to the Gulf. This is being accomplished by placing stone covered mattress sills on the river bottom across the entrances to these outlets. Several small bayous leading from the southwest pass to the Gulf will be entirely closed up.

POLICE GET AGITATOR.

Irish Member of Parliament Dodged Court Sentence Several Days. Urged Cattle Raids.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—The police this afternoon arrested Laurence Ginnell, National member of Parliament for the north division of West Meath, at Kilbridge. He was brought here and placed in jail at Kilmanlahan tonight.

Ginnell was sentenced to six months' imprisonment last Friday, for contempt of court in urging cattle raids.

Since his sentence he has repeatedly appeared at meetings and addressed the people, but always he was surrounded by his supporters and the police were unable to reach him. Whenever an effort at arrest appeared about to succeed, Ginnell, protected by his followers, slipped away and disguised himself, later reappearing within a few hours in some section and urging the people to persist in the cattle driving.

TOURISTS ARE FAITHFUL.

Travel to California This Winter Will Be Quite as Heavy as Usual, Thank You.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Passenger Traffic Manager Charles S. Fee of the Southern Pacific declares that eastern reports indicate that the tourist travel to California will be as large and probably larger than it was last winter. Letters to him from several leading general passenger agents at the East all indicate an expected increased movement to California, only one agent reporting signs of a less number than last winter.

"There is a certain class of people at the East," remarked Fee, "who will not be deterred by the financial situation, men who have money safely invested for an income and now with the business slack will feel that they can better afford to take a trip than at some time when everything was rushing and requiring all their attention.

"I was in Los Angeles a week ago and down there the hotel men have assurances of a good winter travel. Altogether the signs are most encouraging.

"Then, too, the coming of the fleet to San Francisco Bay will tend to attract a good deal of that tourist travel here to see a sight as few will ever again have an opportunity of witnessing the passage of sixteen battleships, eight cruisers and half a dozen torpedo boats through the Golden Gate."

RAILROAD RECORD.

ESPEE PLANS REDUCTIONS.

General Retrenchment Due to Several Causes.

Material Manufactured for a Year Ahead.

Fewer Men Needed for Construction Work.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—That there is to be a great reduction of the force employed in the local railroad shops, after the first of the year, was admitted today by officials of the company, who say that the retrenchment is to be general on the Harriman system.

In an interview, an official who is in a position to know whereof he speaks, said:

"The orders for the general lay-off Christmas week came from New York, not San Francisco, and applies to the entire system, not Sacramento alone. It is purely an economical measure, paving the way for a reduction of force. All construction work on the line has ceased; construction trains, crews, building crews and section crews have been laid off for the winter.

"The company will retain only enough men to keep the cars rolling; work on the roads will be done only in cases of emergency. Where large crews have been busy on sections, ballast and patrols only will remain.

"If there is any preparation for a conflict with the unions we know nothing of it. That matter is not handled in this office.

"There will be a reduction of the force in the local shops after the first of the year, for several reasons.

"First, every winter there is a cut in the construction department. Where, during the summer, for example, 1000 men are kept in repair, there are now but half as many. It stands to reason that it requires less men to keep the roadbed rolling.

"Second, the financial unrest, although the holidays in this State have been in general. The company will not put on more money than necessary, and in this is following the lead of all other branches of business. Then this is a financial year, and there is some readjustment in the corporations on that score.

"Third, the company has been manufacturing material and equipment for a year ahead. The work in the machine department and the blacksmith shops is always for many months ahead. There is enough material of all kind in the shops and yards to last the company for a year at least.

"I cannot say how great the reduction will be, nor how long it will last. It will be local, however, and has no bearing on conditions brought about by the action of local unions. The company is simply cutting down the force in the department for the purpose of its own expenses.

"The last fence and the buildings are being erected in the yard at the shops. I know very little about the houses were ordered several months ago for storehouses. The fence is being rushed to completion so that the yards will be cleared from thieves and looters during the time of lay-off."

DISCOURAGING.

TONNAGE IS AT LOW EBB.

TRAFFIC MANAGERS ARE GLOOMY OVER FREIGHT OUTLOOK.

Southwestern California Lines Expect Tremendous Fruit Movements This Will not Aid General Situation—It Will Be Months Before Business Becomes Normal.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Traffic managers of the western roads say there is little change in the general situation. Tonnage as a whole is at a low ebb, but seems to have touched the low-water mark. All lines have plenty of cars for almost any commodity, although there is a movement of grain.

It is pointed out that confidence is slowly being restored, but every one knows that it will take months to get back to what might be called normal business or normal tonnage.

There have been assertions made recently that the movement of grain on the western roads is of sufficient volume to offset the loss of other freight. This is not so and is not likely to be even if there was enough grain in the country to make up the loss in other commodities, the financial situation is not ripe for anything like such movement. It is probably true that in some localities, there is enough grain moving to offset the other decreases, but not so as a whole.

Southwestern California lines expect a tremendous fruit traffic and it will mean swell earnings during the shipping days, as there is a general scarcity of fruit traffic elsewhere and the movement of the California variety will be rapid. Officials say that business of the kind have no bearing on the general tonnage situation or on general business and where one line practically all the benefit of a certain crop, or nearly so, the roads may be hugging for Today's trade is now nearly normal and the real test will be shown in the week following the advent of the new year. The general merchandise shipments are lighter than in December because there is no demand. Jobbers and buyers are cautious and will buy without rather than load themselves up. There is such a scarcity of money that holiday business last week was light and reached large proportions with jobbers and retailers. Much of the most that the movement of the business situation is no worse than a week ago.

JERSEY CITY (N. J.) Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] More than three hundred persons, mostly all residing in Jersey City, will be affected by the recent order that has been handed down quite recently imparting the information that the Erie Railroad from January 1 will cut down expenses by reducing the salaries of their employes.

The reduction is in line with the general retrenchment policy put in force by the company several months ago. The working force has been cut down throughout the different branches of the service. DIDN'T CAUSE WRECK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury tonight in the case of Engineer Hildebrand, Conductor Hoffmeyer, Fireman McClellan and Brakeman Rudder, the train crew indicted for manslaughter in connection with the wreck at Terra Cotta, D. C., on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, on December 30, 1906, in which forty-three persons were killed, and upward of three-score injured.

The trial had been in progress for three weeks, and the verdict was reached after four hours' deliberation.

COAL COMPANIES SUE.

RAILROAD IS DEFENDANT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

JOHNSTOWN (Pa.) Dec. 23.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company was today made defendant in suits for over $1,000,000 for damages brought by the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, and the Webster Coal and Coke Company. The allegation is made that for four years the railroad has discriminated against the prosecutors in the matter of coal cars, and that rebates have been granted to the Glen White Coal Company.

RAILROAD PLEADS GUILTY.

VIOLATED LIVE STOCK LAW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Pleas of guilty were made today by the Rock Island Railroad Company in thirty-four cases charging violation of the law prohibiting the confinement of live stock in cars for longer than twenty-four hours. Judge Landis in the United States District Court, before whom the pleas were entered, deferred sentence to allow the railroad to show causes for the delays.

Clark Goes up.

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Dec. 23.—Francis B. Clark, formerly general traffic manager of the Great Northern Railroad, was Saturday elected president of the Portland and Seattle and Alaska and Columbia River railroads. The Portland and Seattle is owned by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, and is now building between Portland and Spokane, on the Washington bank of the Columbia River. The Astoria and Columbia River is 115 miles long, and is owned by the Portland and Seattle.

Surveyors Start New Road.

ELY (Nev.) Dec. 23.—Surveying will start on the first of the year for the new Guggenheim road from Ely to Tonopah and Goldfield. The road will carry ore to the big 10,000-ton smelter now nearly completed at McGill, Nev.

SAILOR'S TALE BEATS CRUSOE.

CREW SPENDS FIVE MONTHS ON DESERT LAND.

Mate of Long-Lost Norwegian Bark Reaches England With Account of Year's Experiences as Castaway on "Indefatigable Island" and Other Adventures.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SOUTHAMPTON, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After crowding into little less than twelve months as remarkable a series of adventures as Robinson Crusoe had half a lifetime to experience, Mate Donald Morrison of the long lost Norwegian bark Alexandra Cubis is home to see if he can eat at one sitting his Christmas dinner for 1907 and the one he missed in 1906.

Alexander Selkirk had no more remarkable story to tell of his rescue from the island of San Juan Fernandez than Morrison brought with him when he landed here from the tramp steamship on which he had worked his way from Chile.

"The Alexandra Cubis sailed from New South Wales, November 28, 1906," he says, "with a crew of twenty Englishmen, Americans, Germans, Norwegians and Danes. We were bound for Panama. For two months everything went well. Then we were becalmed. For weeks we drifted without a breath of wind.

"At last we spied a large mountainous island and we landed through a heavy surf. There was no sign of water on the island, but the captain stripped the skin from cactus leaves and the juice refreshed us.

"The sixteen dry matches we had among us were the most precious of our worldly goods.

"By comparing the contour of the beach with our chart we found we were on Indefatigable Island. On the beach were several enormous turtles. We killed them, drank the blood and ate the flesh. It was our first full meal in a month.

"But for the loss of our boat we would have tried to reach Chattam Island, which is inhabited.

"Our slaughter of the turtles had made the survivors shy and soon we had much trouble to find food.

"At last we had to make food of the lizards, loathsome creatures five feet long and a foot in circumference. We tried to make bread from the powder of pounded birds' bones, but failed.

"The captain lost his reason from suffering and another of our number fell into a gully and was killed.

"We lived thus for five months. On the morning of October 29 we spied a sail. It proved to be a sloop sent out by the crew of our small boat which had reached the mainland. Assistance came just in time, for few of us could have held out much longer."

Sheriff Needs Large Force at Goldfield.

Banks Will Reopen Second of January.

Funston Promptly Brands a Hearst Fake.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GOLDFIELD, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sheriff of Esmeralda county has been made to see the necessity of providing against violence, and is planning for a thorough police protection upon the going away of the soldiers at the end of this month. He is cooperating with Capt. W. L. Cox, personal representative of Gov. Sparks, who is now sick at his home in Carson.

Goldfield is made cheerful by the announcement today that all the five Nye and Ormsby county banks in Nevada will reopen for business on the second of January. The banks are located in Goldfield, Tonopah, Carson, Manhattan and Wonder. The Goldfield branch has secured an additional capital of $300,000 and will become a national bank. It has just finished the building of a fine four-story stone block across Main street from the Cook bank, which is the only one of Goldfield's three banks which has remained open throughout the financial crisis.

General Funston was quoted by the Hearst papers in San Francisco as having denied the necessity for troops in Goldfield. The following interview with him was obtained by the San Francisco correspondent of the Goldfield Chronicle.

"I have just had a long talk with Gen. Funston. He told me that he would thank me if I would spread the information in Goldfield that nine-tenths of that interview with the Examiner, appearing Saturday, was fake and that he had written a letter to the editor of the Examiner denying the interview, and asking the editor to publish it. What he gave would not have covered three inches of space. He said they published all that he said that was in favor of the miners, but left out altogether what he said that was favorable to the mine owners.

"Gen. Funston says he does not anticipate any trouble because while the President has ordered the troops out it will be just as easy to order them back and he thinks the miners realize this. His closing words to me were, 'You can go as strong as you like in denying this interview.'"

With fifty men at work under ground the Mohawk mine was started up this morning after being shut down for over three weeks. The Consolidated mill and the Nevada Goldfield reduction works are running.

The mine owners assert that during the week, a large number of strike-breakers will be brought in.

MINE OWNERS HOPE FOR RESCINDING OF ORDER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GOLDFIELD, Dec. 23.—Despite the positive statement which came from Washington today to the effect that the Federal troops will be removed from Goldfield on December 30, mine owners have not given up, and will appeal again to the President. They will present, they say tonight, some matters which have not yet been laid before him, one of these being what they regard as positive evidence that at least one deportation was attempted by the Western Federation of Miners, in which attempt four rifles were used.

While the mine owners were today preparing to send further evidence to the President, Sheriff Ingalls and Capt. Cox, the personal representative of Gov. Sparks in Goldfield, were conferring on plans for the preservation of law and order after the troops depart. Sheriff Ingalls says tonight that he is seeking at least fifty new men to constitute a force of deputies who will patrol the camp night and day. They will be armed with guns, and will be an addition to the present force of deputy sheriffs. Their work will begin on the day the troops depart.

Capt. Cox leaves tomorrow for Reno, and will confer with the Governor. He stated tonight that he believes the Sheriff is doing and will do all in his power to preserve the peace.

"It is possible that the Governor will call a special session of the Legislature," said Capt. Cox, "if by so doing any immediate results which will better the situation can be obtained."

The rumor has been current here that a company of rangers is contemplated, and as this could not be done without action by the Legislature, the statement of Capt. Cox is taken to mean that if such a plan is decided upon the Legislature will be convened.

A suit against the Western Federation of Miners is to be brought by the Goldfield Mine Owners' Association in the Federal Court. An injunction will be asked for, restraining the members of the local union from interfering in any way with the operation of the mines in Goldfield. This suit will be filed December 28.

It has been definitely decided that after December 30 each individual mine owner, or each company operating a lease or mine, shall take care of his own property, independent of the association. This will necessitate the putting on of many more guards.

STATE MUST DO PART, DECLARES PRESIDENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The appeals to President Roosevelt to have Federal troops remain in Goldfield, in the opinion of White House officials, indicate a desire on the part of those sending them to rely solely upon the national government for protection. The position the President has taken in the matter is that the State of Nevada should exhaust every means within its power to control the situation, and that Federal interference should be supplemental to the efforts being made by the State.

Nothing in the appeals so far received indicates that any steps whatever are being taken by the State. Until this is shown to the President, it was stated at the White House today, his order of Saturday withdrawing the troops on December 30 will not be changed.

After a consultation with President Roosevelt today, Senator Nixon of Nevada expressed it as his opinion that the President could not very well modify his order directing the withdrawal of the troops. The question of having the State take some active part in protecting the interests at Goldfield, the Senator said, is under consideration. Just what would be the result or what measures are being considered, he said, it would be impossible to discuss.

"One thing is certain," he asserted, "and that is that the Western Federation of Miners will not be known in Goldfield when this trouble has concluded."

LABOR.

TYRANNY OF LABOR UNIONS.

"Greatest on Earth," Says Methodist Minister.

"Wage Question Crowded to the Limit."

Anarchistic Leaders Deceive Workingmen.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI, Dec. 23.—"The greatest tyranny on earth is the tyranny of an unsanctified labor union," declared the Rev. Dr. H. C. Jennings, head of the Western Book Concern, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

"In some places there is a belief on the part of the workingmen that the church is prejudiced against them. This idea has originated largely from the hoarse mouthings of anarchistic agitators and from those who spend $1000 a year in saloons and not a cent in church. Hardly anything more than such a misconception can be expected from those who hold their meetings on Sunday in saloons or back of saloons.

"The wage question has been crowded to the limit," Dr. Jennings declared. "If this thing keeps on much further, the breaking point will certainly be reached.

"Why, brethren, I could tell you things that have happened right here in this Book Concern within the last fifteen months that would open your eyes. The Saturday night's work is not half so hard on the workingman as is his Sunday night's carousal. I tell you right now that things are being crowded too hard in this country. There has got to be a limit.

"If the workingman does not go to church, it is because the workingman does not want to go to church. I don't see that he goes to church any more when he gets his Saturday half holiday for recreation than he does when he has to work all day Sunday. It is the whisky bill that the workingman pays that is his ruination."

UNIONS DEFY COURT.

Injunction Against Federation of Labor Effective, but Official Organ Disobeys Order.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The temporary injunction granted by Justice Gould, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia last Wednesday, against the American Federation of Labor, at the instance of the Buck Stove and Range Company of St. Louis, became effective today.

By the terms of the undertaking the Buck company and a surety company undertake to make good to the defendants all damages by them suffered or sustained by reason of wrongfully and inequitably suing out the injunction.

Until the final hearing, the Federation is restrained from publishing the name of the Buck company in the "unfair," or "we don't patronize" lists, and from enforcing any boycott against the company, or against any third person because the latter fails to discontinue purchasing the product of the company.

Notwithstanding the fact that the restraining order now is in full force and effect, the January number of the Federationist, the official organ of the American Federation of Labor, issued today, prints the name of the company in the "we don't patronize" list. No comment whatever is made in the journal upon the court's ruling.

MEN BITTERLY COMPLAIN, LOSE FIVE THOUSAND DAILY.

Union Walking Delegate Threatens $100,000,000 of Construction Work Because Elevator Workers Instead of Steamfitters Connect Elevator Steam Pipes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Work on the Mills building was tied up today as on Saturday by order of P. H. McCarthy, president of the Building Trades Council, and 463 building mechanics and laborers were compelled to remain idle.

At 8 o'clock in the morning the men arrived at the building ready to go to work. They were met by Eugene Clancy, the business agent of the Building Trades Council, who ordered them away from the building.

Many of the men protested, and they were heard to complain bitterly against the order forcing them to forego earning wages, which amounts to nearly $5000 a day. Twenty-four elevator men, including the four pipe-fitters, over whom the strike started, are still at work.

McCarthy visited the building at noon and warned Architect Willis Polk, representative of D. H. Burnham, the architect, that unless the elevator men were made to agree to his demands he would call out all men on Burnham's work all over the country. Burnham now has under construction buildings worth $100,000,000. Polk replied:

"We expected to finish the Mills building with union men, but if you do not furnish us men we will go elsewhere."

The only point involved in the present trouble is this. P. H. McCarthy insisted that elevator steam pipes be connected by steamfitters instead of elevator workers.

HIGH-GRADERS ARE BUSY.

Cripple Creek Owners Readopt "Change Room" System to Protect Them from Miners.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Col.) Dec. 23.—A special from Cripple Creek to the Telegraph says:

The "Change Room," in the larger of the mines of Cripple Creek district will again be adopted. The new rules are to go into effect the first day of January. This decision has been reached by a number of the larger mines and it is expected that the system will be placed in effect in all of the mines where high grade ore is found. The readoption of the change room, say mine owners, is directly due to high-grading, which has recently become more pronounced than ever in the Cripple Creek district. The initiative was taken by the Golden Cycle Company.

UNIONISTS TALK STRIKE.

PHILADELPHIA IN DANGER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—The Executive Committee of the local branch of the Street Railway Employés Union is today considering the next move to be made in their controversy over higher pay and readjustment of hours.

Prior to the meeting today P. J. Shea, international vice-president of the Employés' Association said that there was only the remotest chance of a strike before Christmas, if at all.

"The strike talk," he said, "is entirely confined to Director of Public Safety Clay."

Director Clay of the department of public safety has taken extra precautions to guard the companies' barns.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Plans have been completed for the formation of a temporary organization, which will embrace all building trades unions in the country in accordance with the appeal made at the last annual meeting of the American Federation of Labor. A charter for the new organization will be asked for at the next meeting of the executive council of the federation, which will be held in New York, January 20. A meeting to form a permanent organization will be held January 5. It is said the new federation will include one million members.

John A. Roebling, Multi-millionaire, Quits $500,000 Estate Because "Dry" Wins Election.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASHEVILLE (N. C.) Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John A. Roebling, multi-millionaire and owner of Beauxchenes, a $500,000 country estate on St. Dunstons, between Asheville and Biltmore, has deeded over his entire property to the Home Mission Board of the Northern Presbyterian Church, and will return shortly to his home in Trenton, N. J.

Mr. Roebling says that he is leaving Asheville, because Asheville has gone for prohibition. Mr. Roebling says that there is no personal motive in his going away and abandoning a magnificent mansion. "It is just a matter of principle," he stated today. "I am leaving on account of prohibition, which I oppose from principle."

He has been a resident here for ten years. During the recent prohibition campaign in Asheville, Mr. Roebling was one of the most prominent leaders against it. He made hundreds of speeches during the campaign.

CALISTOGA BANK CLOSES.

Expects to Reopen in Thirty Days and to Pay Depositors and Stockholders in Full.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CALISTOGA, Dec. 23.—The Bank of Calistoga failed to open its doors this morning. The failure to continue business is ascribed to the financial stringency and inability to realize during the holidays on several loans overdue.

The bank is capitalized for $50,000 and has $16,000 deposits, and $15,000 in real estate at the present time. The loans amount to $150,000, and are mostly considered good.

The directors expect to reopen for business in thirty days and announce that there will be no loss either to depositors or stockholders.

Classified Advertisements in the Midwinter Times.

No offering of the year in the way of an advertising medium has been made that will compare with the forthcoming New Year's Annual of The Times, which comes out January 1.

150,000 copies will be printed and circulated. It will be authentic and informing in text, with handsome illustrations, printed on good paper, and the five 25-page magazine parts of which it will consist, with a handsome colored cover on the front, will make it the finest publication of its character ever produced in Los Angeles.

It will be beyond comparison for real estate advertising, particularly instructive offerings of farm lands, orchards, vineyards, orange and lemon groves and country homes—in fact, it ought to prove a big result-bringer for business investments of every character.

Price in the magazine parts, under regular classifications, will be 5 cents per word.

TWO GOOD ONES.

MEMSIC SIGNS WITH UNHOLZ.

Shifty Boxers and Sluggers Furnish Good Card.

Langford Offers to Whip Sullivans in Same Ring.

Jim Flynn Agrees to Fight Negro in January.

George Memsic (Jimmy Burns) and Rudolph Unholz were matched yesterday for a ten-round fight on January 3, before the Pacific Athletic Club. They are to weigh 135 pounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the battle, and will divide their share of the money 75 and 25 per cent.

Memsic will go into training today at Naud Junction, and expects in the coming week to take on a number of new candidates for pugilistic honors who have put in an appearance at the headquarters of the Pacific Athletic Club. A sort of a try-out school will be maintained, in which the promising fighters will be singled out and put down for future cards.

Unholz is located at the Eastside Athletic Club quarters, where he will do his work. Both fighters will give exhibition work-outs on Christmas and New Year's, in addition to their regular daily routine.

Unholz claims to weigh but 135 pounds at this time, and he wanted to fight at 133 ringside, but Memsic reserved the right to name the conditions.

Unholz is a lightweight who has never been knocked out, but Memsic says he will mix things from the start and will do his best to put the Boer to the mat. Both are fast, shifty scrappers, and if Unholz lives up to his record he will give Memsic a great battle.

As a preliminary for this event, Manager McCarey will attempt to match Bubbles Robinson with Kid Texas. If this cannot be accomplished, Danny Webster will go against Kid Bell, but the Bubbles-Texas fight will be given the preference. These two should produce a whirlwind bout from start to finish. Texas has been making a record in his San Diego fights, and is regarded as a comer. Bubbles, while he has won no fights in his short career in the ring, has speed and cleverness, and with his training since he was beaten by Webster, has a good chance to win.

FLYNN VISITS MOTHER.

Jim Flynn, who beat Bill Squires at Bakersfield last Friday night, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, but would listen to no immediate overtures for a fight with Jim Barry. Flynn says he wants a rest, and left last night for Prescott, Ariz., to pass Christmas with his mother.

Barry, having failed also to get a match with Al Kaufman, has almost decided to return to his home in the East, where, he says, he can get a fight every week if he wishes it, and only six rounds at that.

Sam Langford is still trying to induce Jack (Twin) Sullivan to step into the ring with him, but without success. Langford yesterday made the astonishing proposal to fight both the Sullivan twins in one night, and knock them out. He offered Jack Twin $2500 if he could not put him out in that time, but the latter is paying no attention to the negro middleweight's challenges.

Flynn says he will give Langford a fight when he returns from Arizona. He has a bad left hand, the injury being received in swinging on Bill Squires's head at Bakersfield. The hand is badly swollen, but Flynn believes it will be all right to allow him to fight again in January.

NELSON IS PEEVED.

WANTS BATTLE TO FINISH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Battling Nelson has wired rather an unsatisfactory acceptance of Packie McFarland's challenge. The Battler was advised by wire the day Harry Gilmore posted his forfeit of $500 and told that Packie McFarland would be matched with him for $5000 a side, but that the farthest the little Irishman would go would be twenty-five rounds.

"Why does McFarland name a limited number of rounds," Nelson says testily, in a long telegram. "I will box him any number of rounds, but would prefer a finish fight, so that I can be sure of settling that grievance I hold against him for his ungraciousness.

"Clubs here want the fight for January or February, but I will go East and fight if I am approached by some reputable club. I will bet McFarland any money he wants, the fight to be 131 pounds at 5 o'clock."

LEWIS BEATS O'KEEFE.

IRISH CHAMPION WHIPPED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harry Lewis of Philadelphia defeated Pat O'Keefe, the Irish champion, in their twelve-round fight at Winnisimmet Club, Chelsea, Mass., tonight. After the first round there was little question that Lewis had it on the Irishman.

With a straight left jab which O'Keefe could not avoid, and a right cross, Lewis pummeled him for ten rounds. Occasionally Lewis would beat a tattoo on his opponent's stomach, cleverly avoiding punishment himself. In the third round he dropped O'Keefe with a right smash to the jaw. The Irishman got up at the count of nine, badly dazed, but managed to stall the round out.

Not until the eleventh did the real fighting begin, when Lewis threw all caution to the wind and mixed it savagely all around the ring with his heavier opponent.

Handball Tournament.

Entries for the handball tournament at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, which has been postponed from January 2 to January 16, were opened yesterday. It is expected that the coming tournament will be the largest in the history of the club. About forty-five entries are expected. The players will be divided into three classes, A, B and C, with two prizes in each, and a leather medal for the lowest man in the third group.

Golf Contests.

Play in the golf tournament at the Los Angeles Country Club, Sunday, for the Director's Cup, brought the matches up to the finals, which must be finished by next Saturday. Results in the semi-finals were: Friese beat Ball, 3 up and 2 to play; Dr. Lee beat Lines, 7 up and 6 to play, and Ball beat Eckelberger, 5 up and 4 to play.

PASADENA CLIMB ASSURED.

Dealers' Association Takes First Steps for Organization of Third Annual Auto Event.

At a regular meeting of the Automobile Dealers' Association of Southern California held last night, the Pasadena-Altadena hill climb was the principal matter brought before the members. It was voted that the event be held as usual, on Washington's birthday.

Although various questions concerning the meet were threshed out at length, beyond fixing the date, the members definitely decided only one other point, that the course as used last year will be used again. Leon T. Shettler and Andrew J. Smith were appointed a committee to work over the details. The most important thing in their charge is the arrangement of the classes. The divisions used last year will be followed in the main, but several changes will be necessary.

FAVORITES WIN ON AN OFF DAY.

PONIES RACE ACCORDING TO FORM AT ARCADIA.

Acrobat Runs Impressive Mile, Winning in a Canter by Seven Lengths—Creston Wins Fourth Straight, but Has to Hustle to Take Event by a Neck.

Five favorites and a second choice galloped in winners at Arcadia yesterday before rather a small crowd. Harry Scott was the only first choice that failed to deliver the goods, and two other horses in the race were so well played that the money was split up on the betting. In this race, the third, at a mile and three-sixteenths, First Peep upset calculations, and, carrying light weight, came up in the stretch and won handily by a length from Kinsman. Scott failed to show.

The most impressive performance of the day was the race put up by Acrobat in the fourth at one mile. Carman's good three-year-old had only a fair field to beat and won cantering by seven lengths in 1:48. Ed T. Fryer took a long stretch drive, with Ed Ball hanging on gamely. The remainder of the field was outclassed.

The good two-year-old, Creston, about reached his limit in the sixth, when, carrying top weight, with an impost of eight pounds, he had to be driven out to beat the light-weighted Sen. Beckham. Creston tired suddenly under the weight, and Buxton had a job to hold him in front by a neck. Creston has won four straight, and taken five out of seven races, placing in one and being just outside the money in his first time out, the first race of the year.

Niblick held the lead all the way in the fifth and won easily from Lady Vashti, which had to make up a lot of ground in the stretch, but came fast in the final eighth. Earl Rogers outstayed Optician in the final drive and took the place by a head.

Gene Wood got to the front early in the first race and in a large field of youngsters won easily, after getting all the play from the talent. There was little to chose from in the rest of the bunch, but Inspector Bird outstayed Velma C. which was under a sharp drive in the last sixteenth.

Hereafter was well-liked in the second race and cantered across the wire with Norfolk and Grandita fighting it out for the place, which was won by a head.

Jockey C. Ross fell from Marster in the fourth race, but was not seriously hurt.

EMERYVILLE RACES.

MASSA WINS IN DRIVE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—The track at Emeryville today was slow. In the fourth race, at a mile and fifty yards, it was a terrific drive through the stretch, but the light weight helped Massa, and he won from Legatee. Woolma hung on well to finish third. The public felt for Col. White, but his showing was a poor one. Results:

One mile, selling: Sam McGibben, 115 (Georgan,) 4 to 1, won; Col. Warwick, 118 (Leeds,) 10 to 1, second; Alta Spa, 115 (F. Wilson,) 5 to 1, third; time, 1:43 1-5. Whiskers, Surety, Bose Eley, Contribution, Our Sallie, Ten Oaks, Rosal and Lord Filigrane finished as named.

Six furlongs, selling: Belle Kinney, 102 (Rice,) 4 to 1, won; May Amelia, 105 (Heatherton,) 11 to 5, second; The Mighty, 106 (Lynch,) 9 to 5, third; time, 1:17 2-5. Lustig, Bertie A and Galvestonian finished as named.

Six furlongs: Margaret Randolph, 102 (J. Butler,) 9 to 2, won; Billy Pellman, 103 (Moreland,) 9 to 1, second; Darelington, 105 (Miller,) 9 to 10, third; time, 1:17 2-5. Edith R also ran.

One mile and fifty yards: Massa, 98 (Lynch,) 6 to 5, won; Legatee, 99 (Rice,) 12 to 1, second; Woolma, 95, (A. Walsh,) 10 to 1, third; time, 1:48 2-5. Graphite, Excitement and Col. White finished as named.

One mile, selling: Sea Air, 119 (Heatherton,) 8 to 1, won; Warden Yell, 100 (Hayes,) 5 to 1, second; Buto, 97 (J. Butler,) 7 to 2, third; time, 1:43 2-5. Lassen, Mabel Hollander, Orchan, Duke of Orleans and Red Era finished as named.

Seven furlongs: Higginbotham won, Javanese second, Abington third; time 1:31 4-5.

Five and a half furlongs: Lens won, Al Mueller second, Artful Dodger third; time 1:09 3-5.

Seven furlongs: Jacobite won, Faust second, Jack Doian third; time 1:30 2-5.

Mile and one-sixteenth: Rio Grande won, Moriboy second, Appropbation third; time 1:51 4-5.

Mile and an eighth: Grace Larsen won, Katie Pours second, Charlie Thompson, third; time 2:00 3-5.

New Delaware Race Club.

WILMINGTON (Del.) Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Delaware Turf Club, the first of its kind to be organized in this State, has opened its headquarters in Wilmington. The organization has a membership of 150 turfmen and includes all of the leading horsemen in the State. William B. Austin of Wilmington is president. As all of the members are practical horsemen, the primary object of the club will be to further horse racing and horse breeding in Delaware. The clubhouse is sumptuously fitted up.

RIDER DUGAN VERY LUCKY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] C. E. Durnell has finally sold the first call on the services of Jockey E. Dugan, to Harry Payne Whitney for $15,000 cash. The deal practically was closed last October, but Durnell blocked it for a time by demanding a bonus of $25,000 for the crack lightweight. R. T. Wilson, Jr., will have second call on Dugan, while the Hitchcocks and John E. Madden will have third call. It is said that in retaining Dugan he will receive from these big stables close to $30,000 and his services will be in constant demand when not needed by his regular employers. He may earn a total of nearly $50,000 next season.

ALL SORTS.

CHRISTMAS SCHEDULE OF SPORTING EVENTS.

Christmas Day sporting events are:

L.A. High and U.S.C., football, at Fiesta Park.

Matinee races, L.A. Driving Club, at Agricultural Park.

Garvanza Handicap and other races at Santa Anita Park.

Thistles and Celtics, soccer football, at Eleventh and Flower streets.

Los Angeles and All-Stars, baseball, at Chutes Park.

Finals in Directors Cup golf tournament, at Los Angeles Country Club.

Horse racing and football will be the chief attractions for the sport-loving public on Christmas Day. The L. A. High-U.S.C. game at Fiesta Park promises to be a hard-fought contest, and a fair exhibition of the intercollegiate game under the revised rules.

Racing will be on both at Arcadia and at Agricultural Park. The Garvanza handicap, for 2-year-olds, will be the feature, at Arcadia. Eight races will be run off at the matinee of the Los Angeles Driving Club at Agricultural Park.

At Chutes Park the Los Angeles team will play the All-Stars. The diamond is in good shape, and fast baseball is being played by the leaguers in the winter series.

The Thistles will select the team to meet the Los Angeles Association team, in a try-out game at Eleventh and Flower streets between the Thistles and the Celtics. Competition between the players for places on the first eleven is keen and all the men will play their best game tomorrow.

At the Los Angeles Country Club the remaining golf matches in the finals for the Directors' Cup will be played off. The tournament must be ended by Saturday night, and most of the golfers have decided to play off their matches tomorrow afternoon.

PREPARATION.

HIGH SCHOOL IN SECRET WORK.

U.S.C. PLAYERS IN FAIR CONDITION FOR CONTEST.

Long-Desired Game at Fiesta Park Christmas Day Should Be Hardest of the Season—Teams Stand About Equal Chances of Winning in the Circumstances.

L. A. High went through secret practice yesterday, in preparation for the football game with U.S.C. at Fiesta Park, tomorrow. A final practice will be held this morning, and Coach Sorenson will give the team a blackboard talk in the afternoon.

At U.S.C. the college eleven has worked hard for three days, and will be in fit shape for the game tomorrow. The same team which played throughout the season will be in uniform tomorrow, and L. A. High will be up against the hardest game of the season.

To prepare for the line-bucking tactics of U.S.C., Coach Sorenson has changed the High School style of defense and will play the backs close to the line. In previous games the L. A. High defense has been largely concerned with heading off forward passes and trick plays, but as U.S.C. confines itself to "straight football" to a great extent, Sorenson is training his players to look out for the hard attacks on the line.

High School will play the same open style of game as has been so successful during the season.

"Bill" Traeger has been selected to referee the game, but the other officials have not yet been named. Coach Sorenson and Manager Hunt, of U.S.C., will get together and select the linemen and time-keepers today.

Tonight an automobile parade of football players will go through the principal streets of the city, in which players and their friends will participate.

Wingett, the new candidate for the L. A. High eleven, probably will get into the game as right half, in place of Declue. Wingett weighs 170 pounds, and will make a good running mate for Stan Mitchell.

LAND LUBBERS.

HONOLULU TRIP IS DECLARED OFF.

WHITE SOX WILL NOT JOURNEY TO HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

Training and Exhibition Games in California Will Form Schedule of Spring Work for Comiskey's Men. Later the Team Proposes to Travel Through the South.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The proposed trip of the White Sox to Honolulu early in the spring has fallen through, the time necessary to prepare for the journey having been exhausted. President Charles Comiskey says he would like very much to take the trip but cannot see his way clear to do so as his other plans for the team's training trip have not yet been completed.

All efforts of the "Old Roman" and his scouts are now directed toward framing a schedule of exhibition games in California.

Comiskey would like to leave for the Coast the first week in March, and after a few days of preliminary work, start playing exhibition games with California teams.

After getting into condition the Sox will gradually work back East and finish their preliminary work as near as possible to the place where they will open the regular season.

Later Baseball Opening.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—It is stated that the National League has decided to accede the wishes of the American League, and the baseball season will open next spring several days later than it opened last season. Last spring the first eastern schedule game was played on April 11, but next year, it has been announced, the New York team will play Yale on that date, and it is understood that the first regular game will be played April 15.

GAME AT UPLAND.

PARR COLTS PLAN TRIP.

The Parr Colts have secured a game of baseball with Uplands for Christmas, and will leave tonight for the scene of contest. On New Years the Parr Colts will play the Imperial team, which won the championship of the Imperial Valley League, at Imperial. A second game will be played at Imperial on January 2, after which the Los Angeles team expects to cross the border to play a Mexican nine.

Bill Gamble, of the Hoegees, and Bert Roberts, a former member of the Hamburgers, will form the battery for the Imperial Valley trip. The line-up at Uplands tomorrow will be:

Parr Colts.		Uplands.
Maloney	pitcher	Henderson
Wilker	catcher	Wilson
Eagle	first base	Hyde
Mockler	second base	Delanky
O'Conner	third base	Woods
Molynoux	shortstop	Jones
Pinch	left field	Hayes
Carnes	center field	Wicks
Laporte	right field	Roberts

KETCHEL AFTER GANS.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Black champions have no terrors for Stanley Ketchel, welterweight champion of the world. The Montana fighter who twice lowered the colors of Joe Thomas, former claimant of the 143-pound title, not only has expressed a willingness to meet Joe Gans, but is clamoring for a match with the old master of the lightweights. During his stopover here tonight, Ketchel declared his intention of going after the Baltimore wonder in a twenty, or twenty-five-round battle on the Coast soon after the return of the warm weather.

"This talk about me being able to fight at only one weight is a mistake," said Ketchel.

"Gans has agreed to sign articles for a bout with me, stipulating that the weight be 146 pounds at 3 o'clock. That's a mark would suit me."

FIGHT TO A DRAW.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Gardner and Terry Mustain fought twenty rounds to a draw here tonight before the Bay City Athletic Club. Gardner was a 3 to 1 favorite before the fight, but the crowd and backers of the men were satisfied with the decision.

Mustain had the better of the first seven rounds of fighting; Gardner excelled in the next five rounds; and in the following four or five rounds honors were about even. In the last two rounds, Mustain woke up and easily earned the draw.

Mustain drew first blood in the third by a hard right to the nose. In the twelfth Mustain's lip was split, and thereafter Gardner kept pounding the sore spot.

A big crowd of sports were on hand from Los Angeles and the country surrounding San Diego, in addition to those from this city.

Makes New Record.

SAN ANTONIO, (Tex.) Dec. 23.—A Toepperwein yesterday completed a ten days' shooting series, during which he shot at 72,500 targets and missed only nine. This breaks the world's record in several different ways, both as to the number of targets shot at, and the number missed. Mr. Toepperwein closed the exhibition in whirlwind fashion, shooting at the final 600 targets, missing but one. He used a .22 automatic rifle and the blocks were two and one-half inches thick and were thrown into the air at a distance of twenty feet from where he stood.

Weston Refuses Challenge.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Edward Payson Weston, the sixty-nine-year-old pedestrian, who recently walked from Portland, Me., to Chicago, refuses absolutely to accept the challenge of Dan O'Leary. Weston says that O'Leary is seven years younger than he is, and is not in his class. "He talks about walking 11000 miles in 1000 hours," said Weston. "Why, the only trick in doing that is to keep awake. A woman could do it."

MERRY SHOPPERS SHOCKED.

Boy Man Fall Unconscious at Fifth Street and Broadway—Dies on Operating Table.

Charles F. Rehme, 28 years old, a janitor at the Los Angeles Railway car barns, fell unconscious at Fifth street and Broadway last night at 7 o'clock. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital in an automobile, but died a few minutes after being placed on the operating table. He was single and lived at No. 1309 South Figueroa street.

The surgeons thought, at first, that the man had taken poison. An inquest will be held today. The body is at Pierce Bros.' morgue.

Bernard Rehme, a brother, who lives at No. 2501 East Second street, wants a thorough investigation made. He says Charles enjoyed good health and had never hinted at suicide.

WARPED MIND HIS DEFENSE.

TRASHY NOVELS AN EXCUSE FOR MURDERING?

Mitchell, Slayer of Patrolman Who Caught Him at Held-up Game, Apparently Taking on "Religion"—Cook, Wife-Killer, Now Sorry He Surrendered to Officers.

Mitchell, the murderer and hold-up man, seems to have taken on religion.

A change has come over his defiant, sullen attitude and he has talked at length with the woman evangelists who go to the County Jail every Sunday.

Some of the other prisoners in cells near him tried to keep up his courage. Mitchell says that one, presumably the man who murdered his wife in Tensecal Canon, told him not to be afraid of being hanged; told him that he had murdered his wife, and wriggled out of it with life imprisonment.

Mitchell has of late become terribly depressed. He has no hope of escaping the gallows.

He begs the jailers for books and papers, and sits up very late reading them; unable to sleep, although when first arrested he slept like a dog.

To some of the women he has lately stated that he sees the error of his past life, and if he had a chance to live it over again would make a different story of it.

He has told them that his mother was a devout Christian, and has all but professed Christianity himself.

It is generally understood that his attorneys intend making the peculiar and original defense that this boy has been reading dime novels and cheap crime literature until his mind has become so warped he cannot distinguish the difference between right and wrong. They probably will contend that he is absolutely not a rational being, in that his ideas are exactly inverted, thinking the wrong doer to be the hero.

Another man with a change of heart in the murderers' row is Frederick Cook, who slew his wife on a Santa Monica car. While sick and discouraged and run down in health, he surrendered himself to the officers, being weak to the surrendering point. Now that he has gained twenty pounds and is in good health again, he is sorry he gave himself up. He also will contend that he is not right mentally.

MANAGERS' CONVENTION.

At the convention of district managers of the Pacific Telegraph and Telephone Company, yesterday, papers were read by C. M. Seeley, division superintendent; E. H. Long, division wire chief; W. L. Wild, chief operator; J. S. Franklin, chief clerk; Fred Seegert, division contract agent, and John Glass, city manager. Among the managers in attendance were: M. A. Thompson, Santa Barbara; G. R. Cotlo, Ventura; J. K. Brown, Oxnard; George Weatherby, Santa Paula; Frank Ogur, Pasadena; M. S. Randell, Santa Monica; Hadley Grass, San Pedro; W. Ryshe, Hollywood; Fred Doak, Glendale; James Smith, Pomona; H. L. Lewis, San Diego; R. R. Wilson, Escondido; J. A. Lynch, Redlands; C. W. Huntoon, Riverside; E. R. Ware, San Bernardino; George Tolland, Alhambra, and E. S. Schwenkert, Anaheim. After the business meeting there was a banquet at Levy's.

UNDELIVERED TELEGRAMS.

There are undelivered telegrams at the office of the Postal Telegraph Company for F. L. Burns, E. B. Condon, W. P. Crippen, Miss F. C. Clark, Mrs. Hattie Kilndt, Elisa Springer Tufford, Mrs. Marshall Tilden, Mrs. Theresa M. Stone, C. A. Steyn, Dr. L. O. Wilcoxen and B. L. Ross.

CROOKED MOORE ON RAMPAGE.

"Gen." A. W. Moore, ex-convict, hypocritical swindler, and head of a fake mission shelter, met W. J. Cochamdoner, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, on Spring street yesterday afternoon, and assailed him with vile abuse because the association has aided in the exposure of Moore as a grafter and crook. Moore became very violent, and threatened to "do up" Zechandelear. A crowd rapidly collected, and to avoid notoriety, Zechandelear walked away, leaving Moore to fill the air with loud protestations and assertions that "general" was in his normal garb.

SAND HAULERS DEEP DIGGERS.

Make Material Out Faster Than It Comes.

Undercut Reach Under Salt Lake Railroad.

River Bed Lowered Several Feet in Summer.

The mad rush to secure material for reinforced concrete building, street paving, and sidewalks, the sand haulers have undermined the right-of-way of the Salt Lake railway along the east side of the Los Angeles River bed.

The right of way of the road extends from Buena Vista street bridge on the north to Ninth street on the south along the east side of the river. From this section all the sand and gravel used in building hundreds of downtown business blocks, and millions of yards of pavement and walks, has been taken.

In past years the demand for sand was about equal to the supply which was washed down from the hills every winter, but of late the sand haulers have gone ahead of the winter storms. The western side of the river bed is covered in many places by a heavy growth of willow and vines, which make it difficult to secure sand. The reason of this is that the river makes a long curve from east to south while flowing through Los Angeles, and the current naturally follows the outside of the river bed while going around the curve.

It is easier to dig sand out of an open space than to first clear away a lot of willow trees, so the sand diggers excavate along the west side of the river bed to get their building material.

SAND MAKES BIG HOLE.

This is the only source of supply for the city, and millions of yards is removed every year. The man having a permit to dig picks out a place near a point where he can get at the river bed, and goes to work. After about four months of digging, the nice spot becomes from half a block or more long and as wide.

It seemed to have things prepared just right prior to the advent of the reinforced concrete building. All winter the freshets brought down sand and gravel from the hills and the holes dug in the summer-time when the water let up the sand remained much the same appearance it did before the sand was taken away. But now about twice as much material is taken out of the river bed as the winter freshets wash down.

Salt Lake found the bank along the river crumbling, so it secured an injunction to keep the sand haulers digging any more on that side of the river.

Instead of clearing out the undercut on the west side of the river bed for the sand, the haulers went to the east of them. Most of them during last summer the bed of the river below Ninth street was several feet.

CHANGED CONDITIONS.

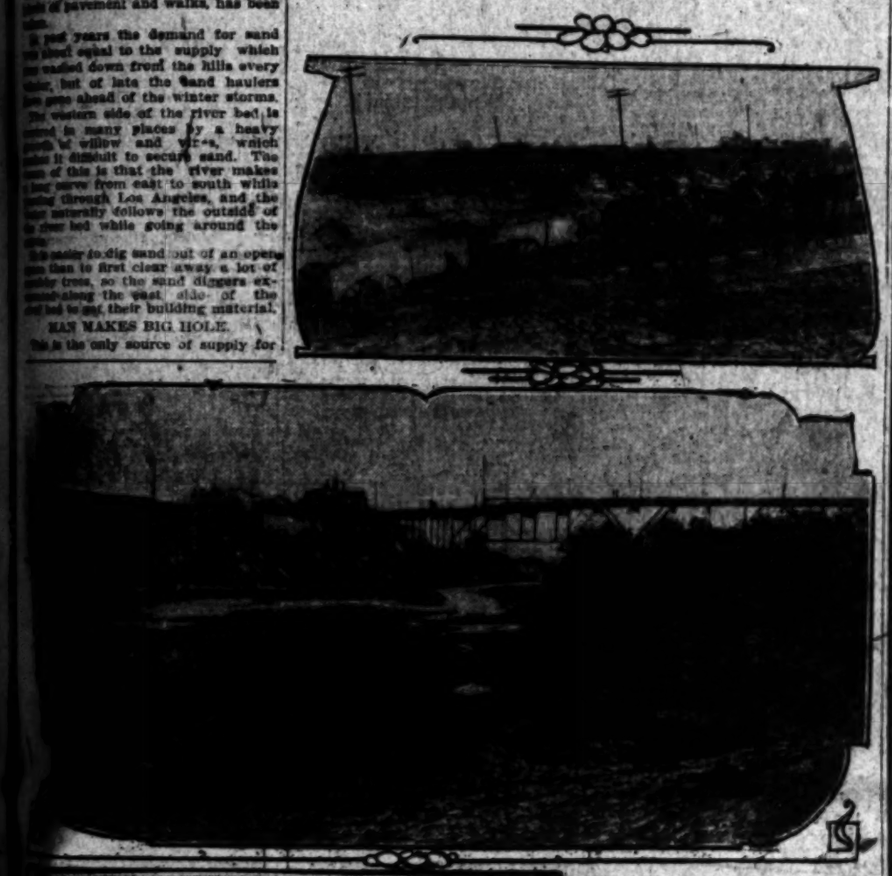
The course of the water which used to flow in this part of the river in the summer has been taken out of the stream bed above Griffith Park by the water department. The result is that sand and gravel is not carried down into the district between Buena Vista and Ninth street.

Consequently the river bed becomes cut down so far that the water is deeper along the course and it fills the holes with sediment.

The Salt Lake road has taken steps to protect the low land east of the river. The company found it necessary to do something to keep it from cutting into the river.

Years ago the old Terminal railroad, which owned the same right of way, had similar trouble, resulting in a lawsuit. That company dumped thousands of small stone and prevented further erosion. The Salt Lake road has adopted the same plan and has dumped a great many large and small boulders along the edge of the river. Plans have been made to keep sand diggers to keep away from that side of the river under penalty of the law.

The effect of this winter's freshets on that side of the river course will be watched for with considerable interest.



Sand Haulers Undermine a Railroad.

MONEY.

PUBLIC'S FAITH PROVES GREAT.

ABOLISHMENT OF HOLIDAYS IS CONFIDENCE RESTORER.

Deposits Increased, and Bank Officials Say Stringency Is Over. Checks Honored in Scrip and Coin. Amusing Incident of Yesterday. Clearinghouse Situation.

The abolishment of the special holidays at midnight Saturday actually was a strong factor in restoring further confidence among the people in Los Angeles. At the close of business last evening, local bankers were surprised to find that deposits had increased.

In some of the banks there were long lines of people with pay-checks to cash. They received part cash and part scrip, and tellers report that many of them asked for scrip in preference to the heavy silver.

J. A. Graves, president of the Clearinghouse Association, said: "We will have to continue the circulation of scrip for some time to come, as far as present indications point, as none of the large eastern cities have lifted the embargo on gold shipments, and are still under the clearinghouse rule. Until these reserve centers have gone off the clearinghouse basis, and business in the East is normal, scrip must be used as money."

While there were a number of people last week threatening to withdraw their cash the minute the special holidays were declared off, few were in evidence yesterday. When they appeared they were handled gently, and given gold if nothing else would satisfy them. One case of this sort was reported by Charles J. Seyler, cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' National. A customer who had been making a daily complaint came in yesterday with the demand that his $2900 account be paid in coin. As the man was becoming disagreeable with his continual demands, the cashier decided to accede, and ordered a teller to get $1400 in silver dollars and the remainder in gold. This was brought to the window, and the man began filling his pockets, his hat, and every available storage place. When he left he had his money, but looked like a clown, weighted down. Clerks were then told not to redeposit the cash if he attempted to open a new account.

"I have had a very easy day," was Mr. Seyler's remark last night. "I have been on duty at this window almost constantly during the last two months, and have had plenty to do explaining to people, handling all sorts of depositors, and hearing dozens of complaints daily. Today I have had a chance to sit still at my desk, and I do not believe a dozen people have been here to have matters explained. The public seem to be imbued with the idea that it is responsible for the safety of the banks of Los Angeles, and it is standing by us loyally. The abolishment of the special holidays will not affect us in any way."

At the Security Savings Bank there was a happy, good-natured crowd yesterday. It was dividend day, ten days ahead of the ordinary date, too, and all depositors with term and ordinary accounts were rejoicing over the Christmas money at hand. A total of $315,000 is due depositors of this bank as the semi-annual dividend disbursement, and the officials are paying out the coin now in order to get away from the nerve-racking rush the first of the new year. There are 45,000 depositors and put back into the banks, whence it soon will be in circulation again. A great part of this dividend money which we are now paying out is redeposited almost immediately, some of the people simply having it credited on their passbooks and leaving the window without a penny."

WATERS-PIERCE WINS.

AUSTIN (Tex.) Dec. 23.—The Supreme Court today overruled the motion of Atty.-Gen. Davidson for an order directing State Receiver Eckhardt to take charge of the property of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company. The court, in its opinion, mildly reprimanded the Attorney-General and the State attorneys.

MONEY SHARKS INDICTED.

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) Dec. 23.—After an investigation lasting a month, during which raids were made on the offices of loan agents, revolvers being used by constables in one instance, the grand jury has indicted seven persons charged with illegally loaning money at high rates of interest, sometimes as much as 10 per cent. a month being charged.

Illinois Central Case.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Attorney John J. Herrick, representing the interests of E. H. Harriman, in the Illinois Central injunction proceedings, concluded his argument late this afternoon. Judge Ball announced that he would render his decision on or about February 20.

Fireman Dies at San Juan.

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Dec. 23.—Benjamin Northway, a fireman on the United States battleship Missouri, who was landed here on Saturday suffering from peritonitis, died today. Northway's home was at Worcester, Mass. He will be buried in the San Juan military cemetery.

OBITUARY.

J. Frank Carpenter.

OMAHA (Neb.) Dec. 22.—J. Frank Carpenter, secretary of the Carpenter Paper Company, one of the largest paper houses in the West, committed suicide tonight by shooting.

John H. Paley.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—John H. Paley, editor of the Jewish Daily News, was found dead in his home in Brooklyn today, asphyxiated by gas, which was escaping from an open burner in the parlor. The Coroner's inquest is trying to determine whether Paley's death was an accident or not. No motive for suicide has been established.

Alonzo Wygant.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Alonzo Wygant, general superintendent of the United States Express Company, died today after an illness of several months.

A Christian Science institution, to cost at least $1,000,000 and to be devoted especially to helping the poor, is the latest project of the Christian Science movement. The Christian Science weekly Sentinel published yesterday correspondence between Mary Baker G. Eddy and the editor of the denominational publications in which Mrs. Eddy wrote: "I desire to commence immediately to found a Christian Science institution for the separate benefit of the poor and the general good of all mankind. The founding and endowment of this institution will cost at least $1,000,000."

Classified Liners.

Times Classified Rates: The rate for inserting "Want" ads in the Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word, each insertion; minimum charge 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 30 cents: "Lost and Found," "Personals," "Special Notices," and "Baths and Massage."

"Liner" (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Rate 1¼ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 70,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE LINERS—Classified real estate advertisements for insertion in THE SUNDAY TIMES must be in the office not later than 10:00 o'clock Saturday nights. Other "want" advertisements for Sunday insertion will be taken over the counter until 11:00 p.m.

The great volume of liners printed in The Sunday Times, numbering regularly over 2000 separate announcements, makes this regulation absolutely necessary in order to get the big Sunday issue out on time.

CHRISTMAS ADVICE—

To those who find they need a little extra money.

Remember, that the FIDELITY LOAN CO. are prepared to loan you any amount, large or small, for any length of time, from one month up to one year, and upon such security as you may have.

IF YOU WANT TO BE HAPPY

As possible at this season of the year, you must have money with which to provide some of that happiness. Of course, all happiness does not depend on money, but it helps a great deal, and we should like to provide the cash which will insure your mental satisfaction.

WE WILL BE HAPPY

To loan it to you, quickly, and without publicity, on your FURNITURE, PIANO, HORSES, WAGONS or other personal property, without removing them from your possession. Time, as long as you need, with the option of paying before due and stopping the interest. Amounts, from $10 upwards.

Fair dealings, open and above-board methods is our motto every time.

Open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday and Saturday evenings until 8 p.m.

Gifts of Practical Worth for Men

Remembrances of the practical sort are appreciated most by those of the male persuasion. When you spend money on him, give him something that will improve his appearance and bodily comfort, because these are two dominating features of a man's desire.

A view of our splendid collection will help you solve the perplexing question of what to give him. Remember that you will find everything in men's requirements here—from the simplest to the richest made. Our prices, which are MATERIALLY LOWER than elsewhere, also furnish a most logical reason to invite your interest.

ENROLL MANY IN SCHOOLS.

LARGE INCREASE IN NUMBER OF PUPILS.

Board of Education Indorses Expenditures for Improvements—Offer to Equip Playground at Fourteenth Street Accepted—Corporal Punishment Is Very Light.

Los Angeles public schools had 3065 more pupils enrolled this December than during the corresponding month of the previous year, according to reports presented to the Board of Education last evening.

The total number of pupils December 6 was 39,252, of whom 20,177 were boys. In the evening high school are 1021 boys and 548 girls. But 31 scholars received corporal punishment during the month ending December 6, and 216 were promoted, while but 32 were demoted.

The board adopted a recommendation that one of the temporary buildings be moved from West Vernon-avenue school to East Vernon-avenue school as soon as it is released from use.

In addition to the adoption of the finance committee's report that the salaries of the officers and janitors for December be paid, the board indorsed the following expenditures: County contingent fund, for labor and incidentals, $2481; Los Angeles city building fund, $5704; common school fund, $11,490; common school building fund, $1442; High School improvement fund, $2070; total, $27,589.

The building committee's report, which was agreed to, recommended the acceptance of the bid of the Machinery and Electrical Company for installing galvanized iron piping and registers in the sloyd room at the Fifty-second-street school and footwarmers at the Logan-street school.

The offer of the Playground Commission to equip a school playground at Fourteenth-street school was accepted with thanks, and the bid of the Southern California Electric Company to install electric heaters for the canvas room on the roof of the Polytechnic High School was accepted, while the recommendation that a curtain and stage fixtures be bought for the High School auditorium was also adopted.

The board voted to set apart a portion of the Athens school property for street purposes, at the request of the Howard Park Company, if that corporation will deed to the board lots Nos. 17, 18, 19, 24, 25 and 26, receiving in return thirty feet on Lota street, and a right of way forty-five feet wide through the property for School street and 180 feet lying south of the south line of that street.

Architect Burnham was directed to prepare plans and specifications for additional locker room at Polytechnic High School. Changes of plans in the retaining walls at Eagle Rock-avenue school, providing for necessary steps, sidewalk and sewer pipe were approved.

Mabel H. Corey's leave of absence was extended to June 30 on account of sickness. Mrs. Jessie M. Farnsworth was elected a substitute teacher in the High School; Marengo Heights school was ordered opened December 30, while Anne Huntoon was transferred to Seventh-street school, A4 class; Genevieve Hanson to Fourteenth-street school, kindergarten assistant; Mrs. Delle Nichols was made an emergency teacher; Harriet E. Culver was made principal of Fifty-first-street school; Louise C. Flynn, principal of Marengo Heights school, and Mrs. Jessie M. Farnsworth, teacher of stenography in the evening High School.

The board adjourned until December 27 at 4:30 p.m., when it will act on the report of the purchasing committee.

Swapping Wives in England.

A remarkable instance of two men changing wives was disclosed at the Coventry Police Court yesterday.

A married woman, named Annie Saunders, charged with stealing a leg of mutton, pleaded that she did so to get food for her boy, as the man she lived with had been out of work.

The man, who admitted having exchanged wives, explained that his wife obtained a separation order from him and the custody of the children, and went to live with another man. He allowed them to have all the furniture. He then started another home and took the wife of the other man and her child. They lived happily, but he was out of work for twenty-two weeks. He pleaded with tears in his eyes for leniency for the woman.

The Magistrate: It is a very disgraceful state of things.

Witness: Well, we cannot help that.

When the woman, who was very dejected whilst in the dock, was liberated, the man caressed her and put his arm through hers to lead her out of the court. Both were poorly, though neatly, dressed.—[Manchester Chronicle.

A Reversible Air Well.

On the ranch of Charles Christopherson, ten miles southeast of Tacoma, there is a "breathing" well that people for miles around consider a phenomenal freak of nature. Year in year out for five years since the well was dug a gale of wind either has been going into or coming out of the hole. The current of air is always strong and its suction power, if it happens to be going into the well, will carry newspapers or any other light object down with it. If the air is flowing out when the well is performing one of its stunts, it will blow one's hat off, and its roar can be heard for some distance.

The air currents synchronize exactly with the ebbing and flowing of the tides at Tacoma, ten miles away. When the tide comes in the wind begins coming from the well. When the tide ebbs the air current is reversed. The well is 186 feet deep. A recent investigation apparently showed that at 110 feet the well strikes a subterranean passage leading to Puget Sound, the mouth of which is filled with water at high tide. Several years ago Christopherson arranged small horns over the well and keyed them to different notes, creating an improvised calliope, which finally had to be squelched because it disturbed the whole neighborhood.—[San Francisco Call.

Poor Children Located.

Two ladies with an automobile laden with Christmas presents designed for a poor family near Sanborn station, Sunset boulevard, searched in vain for the family Sunday. Dr. F. A. Sanborn, of that place, says he has located the family and will direct the ladies if they will call on him.

Car Bumps Wagon.

Harry Salon, a teamster, residing at Tenth street and Harvard boulevard, was injured in a collision last night. A West Ninth-street car, inbound, struck his wagon, and Salon was pitched into the street. He escaped with slight bruises. The accident occurred in front of his home.

Falls From Car.

Miss Rose Tisleh of No. 226 Hewitt street met with an accident while alighting from a Boyle Heights car at Third and Hewitt streets last night. She fell on the street and sustained concussion of the brain and was unconscious when taken to the Receiving Hospital. Later she recovered and was removed to her home.

Back From Europe.

M. Rieder, whose picture post cards and other California and Los Angeles novelties have gone all over the world, returned yesterday from a six months' tour of Europe, having also visited most of the cities of the United States. Having induced so many people to come to California by his postal scenes of this section, he viewed the scenes of other men's post cards.

Police Make Round-up.

Following the order given the police to round up all suspicious characters, seven men were arrested last night after dark. They had taken up quarters in the river bed. Their names, as given to the police, are Harry Jones, John Williams, James Kennedy, Samuel Adams, James Quinn and John McCormick. They were all booked on suspicion and will be held pending an investigation.

Driven Into Bankruptcy.

Meyer Poole of No. 701 Temple street and H. E. Lanthicum of No. 2123 Central avenues have filed petitions in bankruptcy, with stated liabilities amounting to only a few hundred dollars. The two bankrupts are grocers. Their attorneys declared that the refusal of one creditor to allow the men to make assignment for the benefit of creditors made it nesessary for them to seek refuge in the bankruptcy court.

Want to Borrow an Auto.

The Associated Charities was busy all day yesterday delivering Christmas packages with a wagon, and there are 300 families to be visited if possible today. The superintendent is desirous of securing the loan of one or more automobiles today for the purpose, and there seems little hope of reaching all in any other way. Any persons desirous of helping in the good work, will please apply at the office in the Courthouse.

Model of the Christ Child.

Father Bucci, the little Italian priest, who is a skilled carver and modelmaker, has prepared a beautiful model of the Christ-child in the cradle, which will be shown for the first time at the midnight mass, which will be held at the Italian church, St. Peter's, tonight. There will be stringed orchestra and a choir of excellent voices. It will be the finest ceremonial ever held in the quaint Italian quarter. Last year Father Bucci modeled the Holy City.

BREVITIES.

Sunday Real Estate Liners. Classified real estate advertisements for insertion in THE SUNDAY TIMES must be in the office not later than 10:00 o'clock Saturday night. Other "want" advertisements for Sunday insertion taken over the counter until 11:00 p. m. The great volume of liners printed in The Sunday Times, numbering regularly over 5000 separate announcements, makes this regulation absolutely necessary in order to get the big Sunday issue out on time.

10,000 Christmas Greeting Cards free for children. Call for one if wanted, one to a family. Charles M. Stimson, 207 Trust Bldg., corner Spring and Second street. Also Christmas Booklets will be sent by mail free to people out of the city as long as balance of 10,000 lasts.

J. W. Frey has moved his stock of mantels, grates, tiles and andirons to his warerooms, corner Los Angeles and Twelfth streets, where can be seen the largest assortment of black and brass fireplace trimmings to be found in the United States.

You get a square deal—a low price and a real freshly killed turkey—at the Newmarket, 523-24 S. Broadway. And, say, how would a nice, tender sucking pig roast go? We sell for cash, thus save you money.

A $1500 eastern exchange lost yesterday afternoon, between Levy's café and the Times Office. No value to finder, payment being stopped. F. X. Pfaffinger, cashier, Times-Mirror Co.

The Hotel Rosslyn, 443 South Main street, will serve two special turkey dinners tomorrow, 11:30 to 2, and 4:45 to 7:30. Meals 50c. Hart Bros., props.

Men and Women of "The Times" Feast and Rejoice.

Large Company, Gay Scene, Music and Speeches.

Biz, bright and beauteous was the Christmas banquet of the men and women of The Times at Levy's yesterday afternoon.

The Times workers in all departments, with wives, sweethearts and children, to the number of 310, gathered there in festive round-up, and the handsomely laid tables, the large company of guests in holiday garb and spirits, the flowers, the lights and the animated faces made a brilliant and happy scene. The great banquet hall was never arena of a livelier celebration.

The last fiscal year of The Times was the most prosperous in its history. The Times' workers shared in this prosperity. Hence they rejoiced and made glad and demonstrated what a harmonious and happy family The Times family is now and ever has been.

Of course, all could not be present. Some of the soldiers had to be at their posts. The news must needs be collected and the wheels kept going. The merry party of 310, however, represented the mechanical, reportorial, editorial, executive, advertising, circulation, educational and, in fact, all the numerous divisions of the great Times army in town.

An excellent Christmas dinner was served by a large force of waiters. Between courses humorous Christmas presents were bestowed in the way of diversion—for instance, a tin sword to Gen. Otis; a jolly little set of doll triplets to Harry Chandler; a sure-killing duck gun to Jacob Baum, and a formidable camel of the Thirty-third degree to Frank X. Pfaffinger.

"Spare not the gaff,
But live to laugh."

That was the motto of the hour, and many were the office hits that Santa Claus made.

Another thing that enlivened the affair was a miniature eight-page paper, called "The Timeslet," a mock Times, full of jokes, jokelets and rubs at the foibles or traits of members of the force. There were editorials in it, local stories, telegraph news, poems, cartoons, advertisements, both display and classified, all full of fun and appreciated by those in touch with office people and conditions. No guilty man escaped.

Harry E. Andrews presided over the post-prandial exercises. Harry Ellington Brook made a felicitous speech, referring to great fights and great achievements of The Times, and to the absence of the knocker in the ranks. Miss Hazel Crabill, daughter of S. W. Crabill, The Times composing-room foreman, gave a pretty recitation, "The Bird's Christmas Carol." George W. Burton, "the old man eloquent," known about The Times office as "The Bishop," contributed a jolly and entertaining talk, full of humorous thrusts at the managing editor and others. Miss Opal Johnston, daughter of Noble Johnston, superintendent of the Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House, sang a very pleasing solo, accompanied on the piano by Miss Azelia Johnston, which elicited a hearty encore.

All this led up to the climax, the

NURSE IS HEROINE.

She Stamps Out Blaze at Christmas Tree Entertainment and Prevents a Panic.

Miss Effie Campbell, a trained nurse at the County Hospital, proved herself a heroine last night by extinguishing a fire which threatened the hospital buildings. She was severely burned on the hands and arms, but succeeded in stamping out the blaze and preventing a panic.

A Christmas tree celebration was held last night in the basement of the contagious ward and many of the patients and hospital attendants gathered there. Shortly after 8 o'clock the tree was lighted and the entertainment started.

Santa Claus arrived with many presents and the patients were enjoying the pretty scene, when flames shot up from the midst of the tree and some one shouted "Fire."

Miss Campbell acted quickly. With a blanket before her face she rushed toward the tree and stifled the flames.

Officials at the hospital last night thanked the young nurse for her brave deed. She received with meekness the praise that was showered upon her, and declared she had only done her duty.

The Neal State Bank at Atlanta, Ga., was closed today. Several hundred persons gathered outside and read: "This bank is in the hands of the State Bank Examiner." President Thornton is confident that all depositors will be paid in full.

SHOCKED.

AWAIT VAINLY BENEFACTOR.

Drops Dead as He Is About to Start West.

Passing of Robert Gardner Hundreds Mourn.

Widely Known for Genius and Generosity.

While they were eagerly awaiting the coming of Robert W. Gardner, the millionaire philanthropist, hundreds of persons, accustomed to share in the bounty he dispensed here at the Christmas season, were shocked yesterday by the news of his death. He passed away suddenly at his home in Quincy, Ill., just ten minutes before the time for his departure for the West.

Mr. Gardner was one of the best-known men in the mechanical world and his genius has aided materially in the advance of civilization. His invention of the steam governor for engines, more than a half-century ago, revolutionized steam machinery the world over.

His good deeds kept pace with his great works. From one end of the country to the other he was known for his kindness to the poor and distressed. In Los Angeles very many will mourn him. Former employés of the Gardner foundries in the East have settled in this city and the philanthropist never forgot them. He kept a careful list of every one of them, and before Christmas, like a veritable Santa Claus, he came across country laden with gifts for them and their families.

For ten years he had never failed to spend the holiday season with his relatives here. His daughter, Mrs. E. M. Neustadt of No. 2515 Wilshire boulevard, was preparing for his arrival when the news of his sudden death was received.

Robert Gardner was born in London, February 18, 1821. He was educated for the ministry, but decided that he was better fitted for other work. At the age of 18 years he came to the United States and settled in a small town in Illinois. He tried farming and failed. He tried school teaching and again failed.

Then he worked his way to Quincy and began to study steam engines. It was not long before he invented the governor, sprang at once into fame and became rich almost in a day. His foundry at Quincy was gradually enlarged until now it is one of the largest in the world.

Despite his success, Mr. Gardner did not change his way of living, but clung to simplicity.

Until four years ago his business affairs went on without a hitch. Then came a strike among his men. He could not accede to their demands, and built a second great foundry at La Grange, Mo. He took up the fight for industrial freedom and won, but the victory probably cost him his life, for he was stricken with paralysis. He came West and improved in health rapidly. Then he returned to his work.

The philanthropy of Mr. Gardner was far-reaching. Scores of wards in eastern children's hospitals have been maintained by him for years. He also endowed wards in many hospitals and sanatoriums for the old and feeble.

Three months ago, Gardner startled other magnates by distributing $10,000 among those of his employés who had large families.

Besides his daughter, he leaves a widow, two sons, J. Willis and P. H. Gardner of Quincy; a granddaughter, Mrs. Luther H. Green, and a grandson, Robert G. Neustadt of Los Angeles.

DUAL RITES FOR SISTERS.

Life-long Devotion to Each Other Crowned by Companionship in Death.

In a quiet nook of the Garvanza hills, yesterday morning, dual funeral rites were celebrated, marking the farewell of relatives and friends to Mrs. Eliza B. English and her sister, Miss Annadown, who are companions in death as they had been in life. Mrs. English was 85 years old, and Miss Annadown, 78. They were natives of Philadelphia but had lived for sixteen years in California.

Miss Annadown, who died five days later than her sister, in her last moments, smilingly told her nurses that Mrs. English was beckoning her into the mysterious country beyond. The bodies of both were interred at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Tropico.

Windows and Stores Are Gay Gardens of Delight.

Smilax Measured by Mile in Some Decorations.

Red and Green of Holidays Liven City Streets.

Miles of smilax, forests of evergreens, gardens of ferns and potted plants, millions of yards of vari-colored tissue paper, ribbons, thousands of beautiful red bells that, if they could ring, would carry Christmas chimes to the uttermost ends of the earth; myriads of electric lights, gorgeous displays of beautiful goods—all these and much more are combined in the holiday decorations of the great stores of Los Angeles, dressed in their prettiest for this gayest of all holiday seasons.

Up one street and down another, the story is the same. In the bright sunshine of day and in the soft glow of the street lights by night, the picture is one of rare charm, the hurrying crowds, buzzing in and out of the great marts, giving the touch of life that vivifies and makes real what otherwise would appear as a fairy dream.

It would doubtless savor of gasconade if a Southern Californian abroad were to say to the cynical natives of whatever place in the world he might find them that he saw eight miles of smilax strung in the decorations of one room in Los Angeles the week before Christmas. Yet such is the feat that C. C. Desmond has accomplished in his big haberdashery in the Douglas building at Spring and Third streets. Visitors drop into the store just to see the remarkable sight and to satisfy themselves that there is that much smilax in the whole world.

REACH TO PASADENA.

If the strings of these green vines were to be stretched out in one straight line they would reach from the City Hall to Pasadena. They would go up and down the Courthouse tower 400 times and bury it completely out of sight. They would furnish wreaths for the hats of all the women in Los Angeles and would have made sufficient decorations for all the weddings that took place in the United States for the past twelve months. If there is a corner in smilax this year, Desmond is to blame.

In order to ornament his store, Desmond kept a force of ten men at work day and night for a week. But it was worth it. The effect is striking to a degree. The vines twine in and out in long loops, wreaths and trailing banners among the red Christmas bells from the street entrances to the depths of the store.

But Desmond did not get all the smilax. In the Carr & Stephens grocery on Broadway there is another display of this charming greenery. Wherever it could be festooned in the store it clusters in profusion, with ferns and hanging baskets to add to the effect. And all this was done by the employés as a Christmas surprise to the heads of the store. The workers bought the greenery, decorated the store in one night, and next morning their employers stepped into the bower and marveled at the change that had been wrought.

BOOKS SUPPLANT TONG WAR.

Popular Fiction Translated Into Turkey Tracks Makes Sensational Hit in Local Chinatown.

If your Chinese cook becomes suddenly immersed in literary emotion and neglects the soup, this will be the cause.

Somebody has translated a number of valuable works into Chinese and the first installment of the new books reached Los Angeles yesterday.

"Sherlock Holmes," "Treasure Island," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," not to mention other fiction, are included.

You should see what the famous ditty, "Sing ho for a bottle of rum," looks like in Chinese turkey-tracks.

Sherlock gallops through his made-to-order sleuth plots, up and down, through many series of criss-cross splotches.

Heretofore most of the local literature of Chinatown has been prayer books and the poems of the esteemed Confucius. They didn't dream there was anything in the family like the keen-eyed Sherlock.

The new books at once caused a great sensation in the quarter, altogether supplanting the tong war.

One of the most poular of the Sherlock adventures is "A Study in Scarlet," which is a gooey murder mystery.

The inevitable result of this influx of western novels, which is really epoch-making, will be Chinese detectives. They would probably be wonderful, as they are marvelously quick in thinking and "catching on."

Strange adaptations have to be made to fit "Treasure Island" to the oriental mind. The fighting part on the island is easy, but the introductory with the sea chest has queer adventures getting into print.

It is probable that these books got to local Chinatown through the little Monrovia girl who married Frank Chew, the Chinese Christian who was deported. She went with him and they are now living happily in China, running an English school.

Neither the Colorado State Bank of Durango and its branch bank at Pagosa Springs, nor the Smelter City State Bank, also of Durango, both of which closed their doors week before last, will be able to reorganize and reopen, according to State Bank Commissioner Beatty, who returned to Denver yesterday, after placing the institutions in the hands of receivers to wind up their affairs.

NO TREE.

SANTA'S SLATE HAS ERASURE.

DROWNED BABY TO BE BURIED CHRISTMAS MORNING.

Mother Finds Child With Face Immersed in Tub of Soap Suds, and Tries Vainly to Save His Life While Waiting for Doctor—Father Inconsolable.

With his little face buried in a tub half filled with soap suds, the son of Thomas F. Botello, of No. 238 Avenue 16, was found yesterday afternoon by the mother. He was still breathing faintly and she summoned a physician but before his arrival the baby died.

The child, who was only fourteen months old, had toddled out of the front door and around to the back yard, where the mother, who had been washing clothes, had left a tub. It is supposed that the little fellow, while dipping his hands in the suds, lost his balance and tumbled in.

While waiting for the doctor, Mrs. Botello, who was alone in the house, struggled to keep life in the body.

There are several children in the family and Mr. and Mrs. Botello were preparing to celebrate Christmas with a tree. It was while the mother was engaged in decorating it that the baby wandered out of the house. There will be no celebration at the Botello home this year.

The father did not learn of the tragedy until he returned from work last night. He wept over the remains of his little son and could not be comforted.

The baby will be buried on Christmas morning.

At the meeting of the Baltimore Board of Police Commissioners yesterday two of the eight police captains of this city were ordered surveyed for retirement, and all the others were transferred to districts other than those of which they have recently been in charge. This is the outcome of a recent sensational announcement by President George R. Willis of the board, to the effect that the police department is in very bad shape and the present board entirely unable or unwilling to cope with the situation.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The contract for the city printing was yesterday let to the Daily Journal, the City Attorney having decided that the Los Angeles News, weekly, is not a paper of general circulation.

An elaborate ordinance was adopted as suggested by the Traffic Commission, which is designed to relieve congestion in the streets.

Elevator doors may no longer be closed "on the fly," by careless operators, the ordinance requiring them to be locked before the car starts having been unanimously adopted by the City Council yesterday.

The legal battle between the county and the San Antonio Water Company over the title to the road in that cañon, began yesterday in the Superior Court.

Judge Bordwell yesterday gave judgment against Silas A. Vance, to compel him to pay his pro-rata share toward the subscription price for the new postoffice.

Judge Smith sentenced George White to fifteen years in prison for holding up the "Hot Rivet" saloon.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted an ordinance for the protection of cattle from contagious diseases.

Otto H. Mohr told Judge Monroe yesterday how his wife tried to kill him with a carving knife, but Mrs. Mohr emphatically denied all his charges of cruelty.

Many heirs began a fight before Judge James in the Superior Court yesterday to gain possession of the estate of Merrill A. Weir.

AT THE CITY HALL.

CITY SOLONS' GABFEST DAY.

PRINTING CONTRACT LET TO DAILY "JOURNAL."

New Traffic Ordinance Adopted in Effort to Relieve Street Congestion. Elevators Must Look Before Starting—Memorials to Congress in Interest of Harbor.

Yesterday was talk day in the City Council, and it was 6 o'clock in the evening before adjournment came. Sundry ordinances had been set for discussion, prior to being placed on passage, and discussion was plentiful.

The strongest contingent present represented those persons interested in the sign ordinance, but there was a general disposition to have the matter go over for another week, and that course was taken. The result of the day's work was the letting of the printing contract, and the passage of the ordinance presented by the Traffic Commission, though it was discussed at great length and was changed in several particulars.

Just when the Councilmen saw the end of the long session, the City Attorney appeared with an opinion on the letting of the printing contract, and it took an hour to dispose of that. It resulted, however, in the awarding of the contract to the Daily Journal.

The City Attorney decided that it would be inadvisable to enter into a contract with the Los Angeles News, inasmuch as it has never been a daily paper, and though its bid was the lowest, he said he believes the legality of advertisements placed therein would be open to question. He, therefore, recommended the acceptance of the bid of the Journal, at sixteen cents an inch, though the proprietor voluntarily agreed that the contract should be entered into at fifteen cents an inch. A representative of the News made a heated argument, in which he vigorously attacked the view that the News is not a paper of general circulation, in the meaning of the statute.

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE.

The main features of the traffic ordinance, which is made up of forty-two sections, are in the new regulations for reducing to the minimum the congested condition of the streets.

The "business district" is defined as embracing the territory between Temple and Tenth streets, and Alameda and Hill streets; the "congested district," embraced within the other, is defined as extending from the north side of First street to the north side of Seventh street, on Spring and Broadway. In this congested district there shall be no heavy hauling, such as oil, sand, hay and other heavy drayage, except between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., and not more than four horses may be used in any team; drivers of vehicles are required to signal in some way to the rear, when they are about to turn around in the street, and no vehicle of any sort may stop with its left wheels to the curb; all vehicles are required to keep at least four feet away from the step of any street car when passengers are getting on or off the car; teams may stand in the business district thirty minutes without an attendant if properly secured, and but ten minutes in the congested district; the width of wagons that may pass through the streets is limited to eight and a half feet, and to a length of twenty feet; but six vehicles for hire will be permitted to stand on any block, three on each side of the street, and these must have privilege from the property owner and permission from the police commission.

The maximum speed for vehicles was fixed at twelve miles an hour in the business district, extended for the purpose south to Pico and west to Figueroa, six miles on crossings, eight miles in tunnels and twenty miles in the other portions of the city.

In the summing up, before the final passage, Third street was surrendered to heavy traffic during all hours, in order that drivers might reach the Third-street tunnel.

AS TO ELEVATORS.

The ordinance calling for the closing and locking of elevator doors before the cage is started up or down, was also the subject of an animated controversy, representatives of nearly all the great business blocks in town being present. Mr. Fisher of the Union Trust building declared that it would reduce the trips of the elevators there from eighty an hour to fifty, and that it would be impossible to carry the passengers required by the business. He stated that the elevators of the building travel forty-five miles a day, and carry an average of 7000 passengers.

The representative of a group of ten blocks stated that they carried, by count, 58,000 passengers in one day, and nearly 20,000,000 in one year, and in a period covering five years it was declared that not a single accident has occurred to persons entering or leaving an elevator in the city of Los Angeles. The Councilmen carefully considered the ordinance, and believing it would work no hardship to any one, passed it in its original form.

An ordinance was passed making it a misdemeanor for any one to embalm a dead body without first securing permission from the Board of Health. The matter of reducing the number of employés in the health department was not mentioned.

HARBOR FACILITIES.

ACTION OF CONGRESS URGED.

The City Attorney presented to the City Council yesterday, in the name of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, a memorial, setting forth the fact that the failure to locate the harbor lines on the inner harbor at San Pedro is the cause of great loss to business. Many men who came there looking for water-front privileges are said to have gone elsewhere when they could get no satisfaction.

The memorial asks that Congress authorize the government engineers to locate the lines of the inner harbor, and to appropriate money to complete the improvements.

In response to this appeal the City Council adopted a resolution requesting Senator Flint and Representative MacLachlan to use their best endeavors to secure the desired action.

The same course was taken in a second memorial from the commission, asking that the Southern Pacific Railway be required to at once construct the drawbridges across the slough, as ordered by the War Department.

Cash Comes Through.

There was a lively time at the office of the City Treasurer yesterday morning when it was learned that salary warrants were being paid. A long line soon formed outside the door, and as long as warrants continued to be presented there was cash to pay.

Street Names Adjusted.

Councilmen Wallace and Yonkin presented a map yesterday, embodying a vast number of changes made in the names and numbering of segments of streets, south of Jefferson street to the city limits, and it was adopted without reading by the City Council. The changes are mostly an adjustment of the streets that meet at an angle in that part of the city, which, having been adopted at different times by the opening of additional territory, became confusing.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

FIGHTING FOR CANYON ROAD.

WATER COMPANY AND COUNTY IN LEGAL BATTLE.

In Court Over Title to Thoroughfare in San Antonio Canyon—Old Residents Tell of Use of Trail for Forty Years, but Plaintiff Claims It's Private Property.

Whether the four-mile road up the San Antonio Cañon, by which approach the paths leading to the top of "Old Baldy" are reached, shall remain open to the public, or become the private property of the San Antonio Water Company, is the issue involved in a suit which went to trial yesterday in Judge Conrey's court. The water company has brought suit against Los Angeles county to quiet title to the property over which the road runs, claiming that it is and always has been a private thoroughfare.

The county, on the other hand, asserts that while the property in the cañon through which the road runs is the private property of the water company, the county has acquired a right of easement to the road itself. Several old residents of the section were called to the stand yesterday as witnesses for the county to show specifically that the road was continuously used as a public highway for five years, from 1878 to 1883.

As a matter of fact, it is asserted the road has been a public road for the last forty years and many old residents say that within their recollection the road has always been open to the public. These claims are denied by the water company, which asserts that the road has always been private, and has several times attempted to fence in the road and prevent its use by the public.

As a large resort has been established by the water company at the head of the cañon and extensive improvements are planned, the litigation is of great consequence to both the water company and the public.

WIFE DENIES CRUELTY.

TRIAL OF MOHR DIVORCE.

"No, no, no," repeated Mrs. Martha Mohr over and over again in Judge Monroe's court yesterday to every question put by the attorneys of her husband, Otho H. Mohr, whom she is suing for divorce on statutory grounds. They were questioning her on the specific instances in Mr. Mohr's cross-complaint in which he charges her with cruelty. He says that after a call which he made on a San Bernardino woman in 1906, his wife charged him with infidelity, swore at him and scratched his face.

According to Mr. Mohr, his wife raised a glass to strike him in the Venice Auditorium one evening in the fall of 1906, when he saluted a lady there, and on other occasions she threatened to kill him with a carving knife and, in short, exhibited her insane jealousy of him by profane and insulting language, attacks on the character of women whom he knew, and finally by going away on a pleasure trip without his knowledge and consent.

Mohr's office boy, Bart Olivas, testified to finding in the office waste basket, last July, a torn telegram which he pieced together and kept until last Thursday, when he turned it over to Mrs. Mohr. It was from Mrs. L. W. Camp and asked Mohr to meet her.

The summing up of the case for the plaintiff was not concluded yesterday afternoon, and Judge Monroe continued the case until this morning. Yesterday morning he denied a motion for a non-suit on the ground of insufficient evidence, and when Mrs. Mohr's attorneys began to question Mohr on his financial standing, the judge cut this line of questioning short by stating that he should allow no alimony or damages to either party to the suit.

FIGHT OVER ESTATE.

MANY HEIRS CLAIM IT.

A contest between the twenty-odd relatives of Merrill A. Weir on the one hand, and the brother, sister and three nieces and nephews of his wife, Nancy Weir, on the other hand, to secure possession of the $15,000 estate left by Nancy Weir, is the cause of a suit which came to trial before Judge James yesterday.

W. T. S. Hammond, as administrator of the estate appointed in August, 1906, at the instance of the relatives of the husband, has brought suit for possession of the property and an accounting against Dr. A. M. McCullough, who was appointed administrator, March 22, 1906, at the instance of the wife's relatives.

When Merrill A. Weir, a banker, formerly of San Diego, died intestate in Los Angeles in November, 1905, he left a $15,000 estate in notes and bonds. This was used by his wife, Nancy, as her property until her death in the following March. She also died intestate, and both her relatives and her husband's have set up a claim to the estate as lawful heirs. It is claimed by the husband's relatives that the wife had a right only to her widow's portion, while her heirs assert that the property in dispute was given to her by her husband before his death.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

FOR PROTECTION OF CATTLE.

An ordinance designed to stamp out glanders and farcy and to give adequate protection against contagious diseases in cattle in Los Angeles county, was the principal measure which engaged the attention of the County Supervisors at their meeting yesterday.

The ordinance, which was passed unanimously, provides that it shall be the duty of the live-stock inspector to examine suspected cattle for glanders and farcy and to cause the death and cremation of all cattle found infected with these diseases within the city limits, and their death and burial when found on farms. All cattle infected with other contagious diseases are to be quarantined by the inspector until danger of contagion is passed. It is made the duty of all persons to assist in the enforcement of this law, violation of which is made a misdemeanor, punishable by $100 fine or a County Jail sentence. Routine business occupied the attention of the Supervisors during the remainder of their session.

The Supervisors approved the recommendation of the Road Improvement Commission that J. W. Dupree, Toluca, be made a member of the commission, vice C. C. Cartwright, resigned. The County Surveyor was ordered to survey a road between Franciquito street and Covina avenue. A map of the Lenore tract was accepted.

The County Surveyor's report approving the work on the Fair Oaks-avenue culvert, Altadena, was approved, as well as the action of the Los Angeles County Highway Commission in hiring Fred Cornell as a chauffeur in place of Robert Kettle. E. T. Wright and his field party were employed on survey work on the Long Beach highway, to complete necessary preliminary work on that thoroughfare.

FOR POSTOFFICE SITE.

MUST PAY SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Judge Bordwell yesterday gave judgment for $1212 and costs against Silas A. Vance, in the suit brought against him by the First National Bank of Los Angeles, which went to trial yesterday. The First National Bank, as trustee, sued Vance for $1400, the amount of his unpaid subscription, made in 1904, to the fund for the purchase of the Downey Block for the postoffice site.

Vance set up as a defense that as a sufficient number of subscriptions have been paid to assure the purchase of the site, he was by that fact absolved from paying the amount of his subscription. Judge Bordwell held that as the bank was trustee for the fund derived from the subscriptions, it was acting properly in instituting suit against Vance, who should be assessed pro rata. He therefore gave judgment against Vance.

BANDIT PLEADS GUILTY.

GETS FIFTEEN YEARS.

Because of assistance rendered the police toward the capture of his escaped confederate in holding up the Hot Rivet saloon, November 14, Judge Smith yesterday imposed a prison sentence of but fifteen years in San Quentin upon George White, who pleaded guilty to the charge of the robbery of $30, from the person of A. L. Zumwalt, one of the nine persons held up in the saloon. About $100 was secured by White and his companion from the nine men.

"I held the revolver, while the other man took the money," said White. "I was out of work, starving, and desperate, and the other man, who had done me a good turn before, watched me and played on me. When he saw that I was ready to do anything, he persuaded me to assist him in the hold-up. I am sorry for what I have done. I never did such a thing before and I will never do it again."

Judge Smith, in imposing sentence, said he would give due consideration to the assistance given by White toward the capture of his confederate.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by Messmore & Son with a capital of $75,000, fully subscribed; West Coast Bead Company, capital stock $10,000, subscribed, $20. The Western Hardwood Lumber Company filed a notice with the County Clerk of an increase of capital stock from $50,000 to $100,000.

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS. The Hamburger Realty and Trust Company yesterday filed a certificate of bonded indebtedness, according to which the directors of the corporation have voted to issue $300,000, worth of five-year bonds secured by a mortgage to the Title Insurance and Trust Company on the business property at Broadway and Eighth street. The money is to be used to complete the building now in process of erection at that point.

ASK RECISSION. Alleging that they were induced by false pretenses to purchase for $2000 ten acres of Orange county ranch land from C. P. Warden, J. R. Thompson and Nellie Thompson yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court against Warden for a recission of the contract of sale, under which they have paid $1750, which they demand back, with $500 damages and costs. They say that Warden represented to them that he had a good title to the land and that this is not true.

CHARGES FRAUD. Asserting that through false representations made by G. A. Hart he purchased $2255 worth of stock in the Zubiate Mining Company, L. E. Mittendorf has filed suit in the Superior Court against Hart to recover $2500 and costs. He says that in 1903 and 1904 Hart represented to him that the Zubiate Mining Company owned 36,000 acres of land in Mexico upon which was a mine with $1,500,000 worth of ore blocked out and with an indebtedness of $45,000, but that these statements, upon which Mittendorf was induced to buy the stock, were false. Hart refused to carry out his promise to buy back the stock from Mittendorf upon his demand.

ASKS INJUNCTION. Henry Wise has filed suit in the Superior Court against P. C. Rockwell, Benton Flood and W. H. French, as assignee of M. D. O. Priest, asking that the court restrain them from doing further work upon the Gold Creek mining claim, little Pinevina Cañon, until they shall have complied with the terms of a contract made by them with Priest, October 5, 1907, by which they were to do no work until they had paid him $3500 for services rendered.

FORECLOSES MORTGAGE. Emil Firth has filed in the Superior Court against R. I. Carruthers, John H. Carruthers, and others a suit to foreclose a mortgage upon ranch lands in Rancho San José, given as security for four notes, made in November 1906, for $8675 in all.

APPEAL FILED. G. S. Gilliman has filed in the Superior Court an appeal from the Justice Court of Burbank Township, which gave judgment against him for $100 and costs, in favor of Louie Gwan, who charged that Gilliman's cattle broke into his fields and did $200 damage to the crops.

NEED GUARDIAN. H. Congers Bowers, father of Halle K. Bowers and H. Dana Bowers, has filed in the Superior Court a petition to be appointed their guardian, as they are heirs to $4000 worth of real and personal property left by their mother, Hattie M. Powers, who died December 17.

HAVE PROPERTY. Ida M. Williams, in filing in the Superior Court a petition to be appointed guardian of her children, Roscoe, Stephen and Edwin Williams, says that they are heirs to policies for $2000 and $500 in the United Workmen and the Maccabees.

WILL FILED. John Stewart has filed a petition in the Superior Court, asking to be appointed executor of the $5000 estate of David Galbraith, who died at Pasadena, December 17. By his olographic will, now offered for probate, Stewart is made executor and the property is left to James, William, and Mary Galbraith, brothers and sisters of the deceased.

GETS TWO YEARS. Judge Wilbur yesterday sentenced H. M. Borgeness to Folsom for two years for the forgery, November 25, of a $16 check on the First National Bank, the check being made out to Jan Jansen and purporting to be signed by the Johnson Foundry and Machine Works.

PLEADS GUILTY. Alice Shoars pleaded guilty before Judge Wilbur yesterday, to a felony charge, for having enticed Delpha Lewis into a house of ill-repute, October 4. She will be sentenced next Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

IS BURGLAR. H. C. Aldrich pleaded guilty in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday, to a charge of having burglariously entered the home of L. Newcomb, December 4. He will be sentenced December 27 at 2 o'clock.

ADMITTED. William M. Rex, R. W. Core, R. L. Snodgrass and Charles C. Crouch were admitted to practice law, yesterday, by the District Court of Appeal.

SUES ON NOTES. S. W. Little yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court against T. J. Fleming to recover $1,795, alleged due on two notes given December 1, 1905, and secured by 600 shares in the California Portland Cement Company. The sale of the shares of stock is sought to satisfy the face value of the notes with interest from December 1, 1907.

MONEY FOR SAND. R. F. Jones and A. E. Davis, owners of lots 10-12, block C, Robinson subdivision, yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court against Charles Stansbury for $360, alleged due for 1434 loads of gravel removed from their property and not paid for.

PAYS FOR MILK. Lewis Mitchell, the San Pedro restaurant-keeper found guilty of selling impure milk by a jury in the Township Court, Friday, was yesterday fined $50 by Justice Selph. The fine was paid.

CRUELTY TO COW. Louis Gianni was fined and paid $10 in Justice Pierce's court yesterday morning. He was found guilty of cruelty to a sick cow which he left uncared for in a Pasadena lane in October.

WRIT IS ISSUED. A writ of habeas corpus, returnable December 26, was issued from the Supreme Court yesterday in the case of Dr. C. D. Greenall, a Los Angeles physician fined $100, July 19, by Justice Selph for practicing medicine without a license. Greenall refused to pay the fine and an appeal to the Superior Court was heard by Justice Smith, who sustained the lower court. The case was then taken to the Supreme Court in habeas corpus proceedings.

CASE GOES OVER.

Hearing of Bankrupts Is Deferred Owing to the Crowded Condition of the Calendar.

Anothr continuance was granted when Jacob Desser and Louis Lifrand who were arrested several weeks ago on charges of contempt of court and of fraudulently disposing of property belonging to their creditors, appeared before Judge Wellborn in the United States District Court yesterday, to show cause why they should not be imprisoned for contempt. Owing to numerous cases now pending in court, the case went over for two weeks.

Desser and Lifrand were formerly in the dry goods business on Central avenue. They filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Federal Court under suspicious circumstances, and the Board of Trade made a careful investigation. The men disregarded an order of Referee Lynn Helm to pay the trustee in bankruptcy about $3000, and left the city. Upon their return they were arrested by a deputy United States marshal.

The bankrupts were in the County Jail for several days until relatives furnished $3000 bonds in each case.

Not Too Late Yet to Get A Piano for Christmas

Think of what joy and pleasure such a gift would mean, and how the joy and pleasure will last for years to come. A piano certainly is a magnificent gift. But see that the piano is good. The safest way is to buy where you can't go astray, where the integrity of the concern vouches for the character and quality of its pianos. Here are such well-known and proven instruments as the "Apollo" Player Piano, the only 88-note player piano made. The "Krakauer" piano, the "Ivers" and "Pond," the "Lester" and the "Shoninger"—All sold on SPECIAL EASY TERMS.

GLOW WITH COLOR.

Spring street thousands of cheery red Christmas bells and holly wreaths give a delightful setting to the lattice booths in which the most attractive goods are arranged. At Hale's the booth effect is good. Mullen & Blusett strung thousands of feet of delicate asparagus fern from pillar to post. The Walk-over shoe stores present snow scenes in their windows, with red bells, tinsel, real fireplaces and brightly-clad figures. The red and white carcasses of beeves and sheep at meat shops need little embellishment to conform with the prevailing scheme of red, white and green. Flower stores fairly blaze with their offerings.

At the Jevne stores the windows are gorgeous with red bells, Christmas bells, red and white tissue paper ribbons with holly decorations, and all the goodies of the season. Immense beeves in the windows, and ferns and palms in the interior make the Newberry store gay. Five hundred red Christmas bells brighten the Dean pharmacy. The Sun and the Owl stores are bright with decorations. Silverwood's stores breathe of the gardens and of the woods with their wealth of smilax and holly wreaths. Peppers with their red berries, palms in full green flush, and crimson bells brighten the Grimes-Stassforth windows and store.

JUST A TOUCH HERE.

The big jewelry stores, with their glittering wares, need little embellishment. At Montgomery's, Nordlinger's and at Brock & Feagans, the most charming effect is achieved through the use of handsome electric or gas lamps, with artistic shades, plentifully distributed over the counters and show cases. Red and white tissue paper ribbons, twisted in a pretty design, with ferns, wreaths and flowers, make the Anderson & Chanslor place bright. The windows of the Harris & Frank store are tasty with feathery asparagus fern, with palms and plants inside.

At the Canfield Hardware store, the effect is delightful, through the use of asparagus plumosus and pine branches, with an abundance of snowy cotton in the windows giving a wintry touch.

Scores of white arches surmounting heaps of merchandise, and with hundreds of red paper plumes waving in the breeze of electric fans make of the Central Department Store a sea of color. The Fifth Street Store presents a novelty in forty figures representing individuals of various nations occupying commanding positions about the walls, with latticed booths and a plentiful use of red Christmas bells giving the delightful holiday touch.

AH, THE CHRISTMAS TREES.

Bullock's makes a specialty of Christmas trees, fully decorated, with scores of vari-colored electric lights in each, all arranged in conspicuous places, with scores of tinsel booths and hundreds of holly wreaths scattered throughout the building; the windows being bright with poinsettias and other blossoms.

Probably the most elaborate scheme is that at the Broadway Department Store, where a Japanese effect has been obtained through the lavish use of standards surmounted by latticed baskets of boat shape, in which electric lights glow through the colored paper. A latticed fence extends the length of each counter; hundreds of red electric bulbs glow in festoons over each aisle; a carload of evergreen trees from the north decorate the pillars; Santa Claus has his castle within, with imitation snow and real green lights all around.

Hundreds of electric lights and scores of beautiful lamps glowing brightly banish darkness at the Parmelee-Dohrmann store. The Ville de Paris is tastefully decorated with great arches from which Christmas bells suspend. Staub's window is a dream in delicate asparagus plumosus and holly wreaths. The Boston Store charms with its great windows filled with life-size toy animals that bow their heads and show their teeth. Coulter's is rich with its chaste decoration of asparagus fern throughout the aisles, and with a handsome bell of holly, with a fern clapper, swinging in the window.

And these are but a few picked from the many stores throughout the city where summer kisses winter at this glad time of holiday cheer, causes us to use cotton to represent snow and compel old Kris Kringle to travel in an auto instead of in a sleigh.

TRYING TO FREE DE LARA.

Habeas Corpus Proceedings in Behalf of Mexican Revolutionist—New Complaint May Be Filed.

Attorneys for Gutierres de Lara, the Mexican revolutionist and friend of Magon, Villareal and Rivera, endeavored to obtain a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus yesterday before Judge Wellborn in the United States District Court. But the court was too busy, and the case was continued until Monday.

A new complaint will probably be filed against De Lara, charging a specific offense committed in Mexico. The government does not claim that the defendant was implicated in the plot of the other "reds" to march an armed force into Mexico, but asserts that he has aided the revolutionist leaders in their plans, and furthermore is guilty of crimes committed within the Mexican boundary.

INDIANS' CASES GO OVER.

Domingo Segunda and her lover, Antonio Augustine, who are accused of murdering the woman's husband, were taken before United States Judge Wellborn yesterday, for arraignment, but action was deferred until Friday. Both Indians maintained a stolid demeanor and were apparently not at all concerned about the terrible charge that rests against them. Segunda was murdered with an axe at his home on the Torres reservation several months ago. His mutilated body was afterwards discovered buried back of his cabin. Augustine was arrested and charged with the crime. Mrs. Segunda was brought to this city to testify before the Federal grand jury, and was later arrested as an accomplice of Augustine.

MUCH ADO.

WARM DOINGS AT HIGH JINKS.

JONATHAN CLUB PROMISED FESTIVAL OF MIRTH.

"Virgin Valley Feeler" Makes Its Appearance, and Convulses Subscribers — Liberal Supply of "Roasts for Fun Hungry—Prominent Men Tickled.

Judging from the "preliminary gusts," the Jonathan Club's high jinks, Saturday night, will be "warm doings."

The "special county fair" edition of the Virgin Valley Feeler, edited by W. H. Anderson, made its appearance yesterday. It is exceedingly funny, being a take-off on a border newspaper at the time of a frontier city election. Some of the editorials and political leaders are "screams."

The candidates are "Hon. Watawagou Wheatley," the lumberman, Dr. N. F. Hurts and George "Easy Money" Pillsbury, the latter being the regular organization candidate for Mayor of Virgin Valley. The paper is strong for the "push" candidate.

This is the way the rivals are roasted:

When you're hungry, you don't go to a livery stable to eat, do you? Or when you're thirsty you don't go out on the desert to drink, do you? Or when you're sick you don't send for a plumber, do you? Then what in a warmer climate would you do with a tooth carpenter or a long-haired, horny-handed Prohibitionist for Mayor of this town? The first above-mentioned gent was an honest doctor before he hit this camp, and it can be clearly proven that his past record was rotten to the intestinal duct, and he wasn't a very good Corner doctor either. 'It has been rumored that Hank the butcher of his town had a sort of 'whack' partnership arrangement in the sick horse business, compared to which the embalmed beef society scandal was like a flash of gold in the days of scrip. It is even hinted that some means did that have not even a feeling bad. After moving to this town he got the idea of becoming a tooth and leg puller and at the latter part of his professional he is said to be a professional, but at the first part he is about as good as he was horse doctoring.

Each candidate is out with flaming literature signed by committees of friends. This is Pillsbury's announcement:

We believe in a liberal alliance government and are always speaking terms with Prohibitionists, non-partisans, snakes, grasshoppers, and other pests.

We believe in Owens River, but prefer Green River for drinking purposes.

We believe in the free and unlimited coinage of scrip, at the ratio of sixteen to one, if you know where to get the one.

We believe in civil service, if you can't get a job anywhere else.

We believe our beautiful city should be run on liberal lines and only have the lid put on when some one hollers loud enough.

Like Mayor Harper, of our sister city, we believe in political pap, soupers and oil companies.

We believe we would rather be Mayor of Virgin Valley than President of United States.

We believe the chances of the above are about even.

We believe in the full protection of labor, if it is a lady.

We believe in widening the streets after 2 a.m.

We believe our opponents for Mayor are going to rip this platform up the back and down the belly, and if they do, it will suit us all right.

We believe in other things, but some of us are married.

BLOW-UP.

THREE MAY DIE BY EARLY BLAST.

ACCIDENTAL EXPLOSION OCCURS AT DECLEZ.

Three Mexicans, While Drilling, Bore Into Charge of Dynamite Which at a Previous Blast Failed to Explode—Special Train Carries the Injured to Colton.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLTON, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three Mexican drillers, whose names were unobtainable, were probably fatally injured this evening at Declez. While drilling for blasting they bored into a charge of dynamite which at a previous blast had failed to explode.

Although there is a loss of eyes and hands, the full extent of the injuries are not known as yet. They were brought by special train to Colton, and placed in the hospital, where Drs. Champion and Pritchard operated upon them.

ASSAULTED BY CHOLO.

Herbert McGuffie, son of P. A. McGuffie of West L street, was seriously injured this afternoon. The lad, who is employed in a dry goods store, had just left his home when a cholo assaulted him with rocks, cutting quite a gash in his head. For days this same cholo has been terrorizing the children on the terrace by chasing them and throwing stones. The officers are attempting to locate the fellow.

Classified Advertisements in the Midwinter Times.

No offering of the year in the way of an advertising medium has been made that will compare with the forthcoming New Year's Annual of The Times, which comes out January 1.

150,000 copies will be printed and circulated. It will be authentic and informing in text, with handsome illustrations, printed on good paper, and the five 32-page magazine parts of which it will consist, with a handsome colored cover on the front, will make it the finest publication of its character ever produced in Los Angeles.

It will be beyond comparison for real estate advertising, particularly meritorious offerings of farm lands, orchards, vineyards, orange and lemon groves and country homes—in fact, it ought to prove a big result-bringer for business investments of every character.

TIMES FOLKS DINE.

presentation of a large and beautiful silver loving cup to Gen. Otis, president and general manager of the Times-Mirror Company. The cup was inscribed:

Presented to Gen. Harrison Gray Otis by the Men and Women of The Times. December 23, 1907.

The presentation was made by John S. McGroarty in a clever speech, beginning with humorous anecdote and flash of wit, and concluding with a touching expression of sentiment, voicing the esteem of the donors for the recipient. Mr. McGroarty said, in part:

"Gen. Otis is this afternoon the guest of his official family. He is among his own people—the people who are nearest to him and in whom he is most interested. In his busy and strenuous life he has to do with many men who are great and powerful in the world's affairs, but it is we who toil within the strong walls of the old gray castle who are his strength, and upon whom he relies. His enemies are not here, but are outside of the breastworks, where they lie more or less incapacitated. Most of them have been battered to suit the most exacting taste, and they remind me of the poor English beggar on Westminster Bridge, who was discovered by an Irishman on a visit to London. The mendicant was without arms or legs, his nose was cut off and an eye was torn from its socket. The Irishman threw a sovereign in the beggar's hat.

"'Sir,' said the beggar, 'this is very kind of you, and I can't understand it. How comes it that you gives me a whole sovereign?'

"'Well, I'll tell you why,' replied his benefactor; 'you're the only Englishman I ever saw trimmed to suit me.'

"We have met here in no clamant spirit, nor in a spirit that might savor of gasconade. It is Christmas time, and we, the members of a great craft who are each doing our part to produce a great newspaper every day in the year, are here to celebrate. The head of the house sits with us, as one of us, and not the least of the hard workers now as he has always been. To him, from his employés and from his fellow-workers, from the men and women of The Times, I am commissioned to bear a message of good will, of loyalty and grateful appreciation of fair and upright treatment. As a token of these sentiments I present to Gen. Otis this loving cup, knowing that he will accept it with the same feeling that inspired the givers. Knowing Gen. Otis as I do, I know that no gift that he has ever received will occupy in his stately home a more honored and more affectionate place than this cup will occupy. Within his rooftree are many trophies of both war and peace—emblems of hard fights won on the fields of battle, as well as in the oftentimes fierce struggles of peace. But when his eyes rest on this cup, which bears to him its message of faithfulness, the loyalty, the esteem and the affection of his own people, there will be no other to stand beside it. Gen. Otis, on behalf of my associates, I present this gift to you with old Rip Van Winkle's toast: "Here's to you and all your family; may you all live long and be happy.'"

Gen. Otis was taken by surprise, and was much affected. He expressed his thanks for the token of esteem and affection, and spoke feelingly of his appreciation of the loyalty of his corps, remarking that the size of the gathering, the harmony of it and the whole spirit of the affair were most admirable, and once more assuring all that the gratitude of and kindly notice of the publishers of The Times were accorded to every faithful worker, no matter how humble.

The banquet closed with three cheers for Gen. Otis, and the singing of the following original song to the air of "Auld Lang Syne."

Should Old Reliance be forgot
And never set to rhymes,
Should men and women sing it not—
The good old, good old "Times."

Refrain—
The good old, good old "Times," old "Times,"
The gold old, good old "Times!"
Should men and women sing it not—
The good old, good old "Times."

Then let the Christmas bells ring out,
The siren add its chimes,
And tell the world 'tis all about
The good old, good old "Times."

When dear old Santa Claus comes through
And up the roof-tree climbs
He always hands a package to
The good old, good old "Times."

Hear, hear the merry, merry Christmas scrip,
The dollars and the dimes,
Join in the song on every lip,
The good old, good old "Times."

Refrain—
The good old, good old "Times," old "Times,"
The good old, good old "Times!"
Join in the song on every lip,
The good old, good old "Times."

BATTLE ROYAL.

San Diego Fisherman Has Encounter With a Swordfish That Almost Costs Life.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 23.—Lorenzo Zolezzi came near losing his life in a desperate encounter with a swordfish off the harbor yesterday. The fisherman was on the cod banks, trolling. Finding that some heavy object had been hooked, making the progress of the boat slow, Zolezzi drew in the line to find at the end a swordfish of extraordinary dimensions. The fight was on at once. Repeatedly the efforts of the fish to escape came near overturning the boat.

Once when the fish made a dive at the boat, shooting too high to sink the craft, the fisherman grabbed his hatchet and cut off a foot of the five-foot-long sword. The fight continued and after a long while the fisherman was able to draw the fish near enough to the boat to deal it a blow on the head with the hatchet, which stunned it. In that condition he towed it to the wharf in this city where it was killed with a revolver. The swordfish weighs 425 pounds and is on exhibition today in a local market.

Around town before the holidays—and this is the last for Christmas shopping.

Part II: Editorial and Business—City and Country

Editorial Pen Points

Col. Roosevelt invented the strenuous life, but Mr. Taft is the man who is leading it.

There's not much to it now but the light and the dark meat and the usual concomitants.

"My speech raised hell," telegraphed Jeff Davis to his constituents. Maybe; but it didn't raise Jeff.

"Now good digestion wait on appetite and health on both," as the immortal William said, or words to that effect.

The sale of new leases is not expected to be very brisk in those districts that have been carried by the Prohibitionists.

It is estimated that there are 2,500,000 dogs in England. The people there are even poorer than we thought them to be.

Now watch out for the generous-hearted man who will make his appearance giving away the cigars his wife bought for him.

Everybody seems to be so kind during the hallowed season of Christmas that it is almost worth while to be an orphan.

Another thing our sailors need not fear while they are at sea is that anybody will arrest them for spitting on the sidewalks.

One reason why we think we must have a big dinner on Christmas is that in olden times eating was considered the acme of bliss and joy.

When the fleet comes up on the Pacific side opposite Panama it would be a fine thing for the steam shovels to line up and whistle a salute.

Another Zulu war is threatened. The Zulus are evidently determined to reduce their population to about the size of the Apaches in Arizona.

Reports from the East indicate that Santa Claus will not speed along very well unless they get the snow plows out to break the roads for him.

Speaking of our good-looking girls, Santa Claus will be careful not to put anything in their stockings that will be likely to bulge them out of shape.

It has been learned that it is Helen Gould who furnished the sailors of the fleet with Bibles; but all the rest of us helped to furnish the plug tobacco.

The President has brought to a show-down the question whether there are enough decent men in Goldfield to make the other kind behave themselves.

Judging from the cleverness and good sense they are showing in the ability to govern themselves, the Filipinos are miles and miles ahead of the Cubans.

The Sunday lid has been practically taken off New York. It has been found that the other six days of the week are not nearly sufficient to contain all the devilment.

Richard Croker has decided to spend the winter in Egypt. After looking it over, if he likes it and does not find it too badly in need of repair he will probably buy it.

About two weeks from now you will see those Wall street sharks licking their lips again for more easy western money; but they will lick a long time before they get it.

If the wireless reports are correct the fleet is sailing serenely and having a good time. About all Fighting Bob has to do is to sit in his cabin and attend to his knitting.

A statesman who has returned from the East believes that Mr. Bryan has a chance. He has, but it is no better and not quite as good as the other two chances he has had.

A student of history gives it as his opinion that China will soon be the greatest power for peace in the world. If China becomes a power she will certainly be for peace. The Chinese learned the folly of war 5000 years ago.

The thing for the Senate to say to Jeff Davis is this: "Jeff, we will give you the floor all to yourself for a week if you will promise to spit everything out and be done with it."

There is a suspicion that if Helen Maloney's parents were poor and she was homely as a mud fence there would not be nearly so much excitement over her as there is.

He is certainly a poor sort of man who, having no children of his own, will not jump in at Christmas time and help out a neighbor who has all the way from seven to a dozen.

The movement to make Theodore Bell of California chairman of the Democratic convention should be encouraged. We think it would be difficult to find a more effective hoodoo.

The trouble is that too many women expect their husbands to furnish the money at this season of the year and do the housework besides, while they are out engaged in their mad shopping careers.

A Wisconsin judge refused to marry a man because the lady was the man's niece. It seems that all kinds of trifling obstacles are now thrown in the path of those who would enter the marriage state.

A man who went home the other night had a long blonde strand of hair on his shoulder, which was promptly discovered by his wife. He ingeniously and mysteriously blamed it on the young lady store clerk he had that day interviewed commercially, and now he has a present to buy whether he intended to buy one or not.

FOR RECEPTION OF THE FLEET.

The Times understands that the Governor of the State will take suitable measures for the fitting official recognition of the arrival of the great squadron of battleships off our shores; that the Mayor of San Francisco will do likewise, and that the Mayor of Los Angeles will today make a move in a similar direction.

While it has not been officially stated as a finality that the vessels will cast anchor in any of the harbors of Los Angeles, there is little doubt that they will do so. They will probably provision here and spend considerable time in our immediate waters.

The greeting to the ships and men should be official as well as popular, and the city should take the lead in the demonstration. The Times has no doubt that Los Angeles will do the proud and proper thing. The flags will wave from every peak and the city's dignitaries will pay the city's respects.

As to a fiesta at the time, that seems out of the question. It has already been decided by the Fiesta Association that no fiesta shall be held next year. A reluctance to enter upon such an undertaking under present conditions is the temper of our merchants and business men. There will be another fiesta, but not in 1908.

A GREAT COMBINATION.

Taft's own hand seems visible in the trend that politics are taking. New York is a principal pivot on which the Presidential election must turn one way or the other.

The latest plan of battle in the Empire State shows the work of a master hand in politics. It is a tentative programme, which cannot be sent to the printer yet. Several hands must edit it, and each has a right to run his blue pencil through vital provisions in the scheme. If it can be made to work it will prove a winner.

William Howard Taft for President, Timothy Lester Woodruff for Vice-President, Charles E. Hughes for Governor of New York, and James W. Wadsworth for Lieutenant-Governor, with William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the Republican State Committee, and George Bruce Cortelyou helping in the national campaign—this would certainly be a great combination.

Taft, Hughes and Cortelyou are too well known in all parts of America to call for explanatory remarks. Timothy Lester Woodruff is nearly as well known as any of them. He will be 50 years old when his name goes on the national ticket, should it go there. He is a native of Connecticut, having been born at New Haven August 4, 1858. His higher education came from Phillips Exeter Academy and Yale, he graduating in 1879. From that time he has been a resident of the State of New York, and he married into the Eastman family of Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Woodruff is intimately connected with the industries and financial affairs of the State of New York. His business career has been very successful, and he is a director in several trust companies and banks. He has been active in politics from his youth, and has sat as a delegate in nearly every State convention of his party for twenty-five years, and also in national conventions, going first in 1892. Mr. Woodruff's home is in Brooklyn, where he was appointed Park Commissioner in 1895. He was elected Lieutenant-Governor of the State, and reelected in 1898 and 1900.

James W. Wadsworth was a member of Congress in the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congress. He was in Congress two terms in earlier years.

The man proposed for running mate with Gov. Hughes is a man of much independence of spirit, ultra-conservative, and has opposed the Governor in some of his plans. The proposition evidently looks directly to the "getting together" of all elements of the Republican party so as to remove danger of factional fights in an election that may prove vital to the interests of the country.

William Barnes, Jr., is publisher of the Albany Journal, and is a grandson of Thurlow Weed. His father was a member of the Saratoga convention of 1854, claimed by many as the first Republican State Convention ever held. Mr. Barnes is 41 years old, and is a graduate of Harvard, 1888. He has had much experience in politics, and, with his ancestry, ought to take to the game with ease.

The one obstacle to putting this plan into working order is Gov. Hughes's reluctance. He has said on several occasions that he will not be a candidate for reelection to the Governorship under any circumstances. But the Taft managers think the matter may be put before him in such a way as to cause a change of mind. He is a young man and could wait four or eight years for the Presidency, to which he might reasonably look forward after landing his personal aid to the Presidential election of next fall, having carried the State of New York twice for Governor and made so excellent a record in statesmanship of the highest order.

FOR BUSINESS'S SAKE.

There is a great deal to be said in favor of "trading in futures," and there is always much to be said against laws restraining the transaction of business in any way not absolutely dishonest.

"Trading in futures" seems to many to be in no way detrimental to producers. The method brings buyers into the market at all times, and surely the more buyers the better prices, other things being equal. Yet producers are usually antagonistic to this way of doing business.

The consumer has more reason to complain. If it is an open market, "trading in futures" tends to put prices up and make the cost of living greater to all people who use the thing in which "options" are bought and sold. Strange again, consumers are not known to find fault with this way of doing business.

Congress is discussing with some show of earnestness the passage of a law whose intended effect would be to stop all "trading in futures." Whatever any person may think of the purpose of this proposed law, its way of reaching the supposed trouble is correct. It would place a tax on all this method of doing business so heavy as to be prohibitive.

While it is difficult to demonstrate to some minds how the producer is to gain by this new law for which he is clamorous, it appears to us that all excepting those who "gamble in futures" and those who conduct the "game" well understand that such a law would be of great benefit to business generally. The law would aim at dealing in all kinds of stocks as well as in crops. The capital tied up all the time in New York in financing stock deals and in Chicago in handling products of the soil does more to create money stringency and panics than anything else in business. Stop this great game in futures and all the banking power of the country will be directed toward aiding the actual industries, the production of crops, the operating of railroads in existence and the building of new lines, the running of machinery already in place, and the placing of new machinery.

Such a law will not kill speculation nor stop gambling. Only the death of the human race would accomplish that. But under the proposed law actual purchase of the crop products, with a transfer of the stuff, and similar purchase of the stocks with actual transfer of the shares, would be substituted for juggling. The check to speculation would be very great and many persons would be saved from the extremely hazardous business of "buying on margins."

The inner life of the inhabitants of Los Angeles Chinatown is described, in an interesting manner, by a writer in the forthcoming number of the Midwinter Times.

JUSTIFIABLE MOB VIOLENCE.

People who don't believe in Santa Claus had better keep silent!

[Des Moines Register and Leader.]

PEACE ON EARTH

These be piping times of peace. The writers who, at previous Christmastides, have indulged in sarcastic reference to one of the greatest messages ever delivered, "Peace on earth, good will to men," this season find their occupation gone. If they are sad, the rest of the world rejoices. For these many Christmases past the bells have rung out over fields of battle. How many a fierce tale of struggle their music has told! First it was Uncle Sam in the Philippines who ate turkey to the accompaniment of bullet sauce; then from kopje to kopje on December 25 sounded the dum-dums of Briton and Boer; next, when came the season "wherein our Savior's birth is celebrated," Russian and Japanese were in battle array upon the frozen plains of heathen Manchuria. But this Christmas day the bugles sound more than truce and the sentinel stars keep their watch in the sky above nations that really are at peace. The time is indeed hallowed and gracious.

Peace hath her victories as well as war, and this Christmas Eve will find the greatest navy that ever made for peace harbored in a British port in the West Indies, its officers and men the honored guests of the British lion whose tail they have been known to twist.

Curious as it may sound, the two most strenuous leaders of today, the one the head of a republic, the other of a monarchy, are men who have fought, and fought hard, for peace. Roosevelt was chiefly instrumental in putting an end to the bloodiest struggle of the century, that between Russia and Japan; King Edward is known as the peacemaker. A few years ago Great Britain stood "in splendid isolation;" today she is the ally of all the great powers. It is common to think of the tight little island as chiefly the friend of that New Britain of the Far East, Japan. But equally as important as the treaty which she has entered into with the Mikado are the arrangements she has completed with France, Russia and Germany.

Tomorrow, the great Christ day, the sun will rise on a world at peace. Whether its celebration be held beneath the shade of the pepper trees in this sun-loved land, or under the sheltering palms on the island of Trinidad, where Uncle Sam and John Bull will drink a toast to one another, or in the land of the chrysanthemum, or where the Kaffir girl brings in the turkey to be cut up, or where "Our Lady of the Snows" keeps wassail, there the joy bells will ring out a real message of peace.

THE OKLAHOMA WAY.

Senator Owen of Oklahoma has a bill before Congress whose purpose is to command the Secretary of the Treasury to hold $100,000,000 in hand to guarantee depositors against loss by bank failures.

This is what might be expected from Oklahoma. The scheme savors strongly of socialism and would not accomplish the ultimate purpose of staving off panics. To be effective it would require a fund of ten times the amount named in the bill. Senator Owen would better bring in a bill to insure the people of his way of thinking against the effects of their own ignorance as to banking and similar things. If the people had not lost their heads we would have had no panic. Having lost their heads they lock not less than $500,000,000 out of the banks. Had the banks not stopped the withdrawing of money, the sum would have been $1,000,000,000. With one dollar in the treasury to redeem ten dollars held by the banks, these panic-stricken people would have had their fit just the same.

This theory that the government should step in and manage all our business affairs argues that we are either all thieves or fools.

BIG MELON CROP.

Those who read carefully of the dividend and interest payments to be made during the first week in the new year will be puzzled to figure out how stagnation is going to strangle the business of this country to any very alarming extent.

These disbursements will amount to $185,000,000, or nearly $5,000,000 more than the vast sums set into circulation in this way last year.

The dividends (which stand for $85,000,000 of this money) mean that the industries have been active and have been making money right along. If they were not doing well today the directors would not pay out these unusually large dividends, but would turn much of the money into the reserve fund for use in dull times.

The interest represented in the total is a larger sum of money than paid out a year ago on this account. Interest rates are higher and more money is out working to earn an increment. This money belongs to business people, who will not wish to put their wealth in their stockings, and, when next interest pay-day comes around, get nothing.

Owing to a scarcity of hops, some people think the price of beer will advance, just as though hops have anything to do with beer.

CHRISTMAS WITH THE SNOW LADY.

BY HAROLD SANDS.

The "bloomin' Britisher" comes in for a lot of good-natured criticism in this country, but it must be admitted that he knows how to celebrate Christmas. Moreover he has a lot of jolly daughters, who certainly have got the way of enjoying Christmas down to a finish. Take "Our Lady of the Snows," for example; nobody can beat her when it comes to having a good time at Yuletide.

Kipling was the first to baptize Canada as "Our Lady of the Snows"—and she hasn't got over feeling angry about it yet. When the poet of empire perpetrated the title, Canada, to use an inelegant but impressive simile, stood on her hind legs and howled. That roar of protest was heard over three thousand miles of land. It started down in Halifax, where the sounding Atlantic smites the granite walls of Nova Scotia; it was taken up in Quebec, where the statues of Wolfe and Montcalm tell the present generation of glorious deeds performed in the past; Ottawa's cultivated voices joined in the protest; even Medicine Hat, where the blizzards come from, objected; while in Victoria, British Columbia, where the balmy Pacific breezes blow and where people gather roses on Christmas Day, just as they do in Los Angeles, the citizens simply frothed at the mouth. Kipling waited until the tumult and the shouting had died, and then came back with a Limerick which started:

"There was a young man in Quebec,
Who stood up in snow to his neck."

and ended: "We don't call this cold in Quebec."

The Canadians have gotten over any "hawsty" feeling they may have had for the poet; although at first they pelted him with barrels of Limerick in reply, one of which started:

"There was a young man called Kipling,
Who, as a poet, was only a stripling."

But when the versifier was in Canada a few weeks ago "Our Lady of the Snows" took him to her ample white bosom and freely forgave him. She put up Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, to speak on her behalf, and he said he could not understand those who reproached Kipling, because that beautiful poem, "Our Lady of the Snows," breathed the true spirit of Canadian nationality, and Canadian winters were the best in the world.

Those winters enable the Canadians to have a "real, old-fashioned Christmas." The Canadian, whether he be "up in snow to his neck" in Quebec, or in Victoria plucking roses, knows how to "eat, drink and be merry," while he casts no thought to tomorrow and the dying part of the quotation.

Canadians were mostly recruited from Old England, although in recent years there has been a large American invasion. They have not adopted all the evils which exist across the Atlantic, neither have they taken advantage of all the virtues, but they have "frozen on" to the way to celebrate Christmas in the old-fashioned British style. And, as Kipling said, in some parts it is a freeze with a vengeance, for the thermometer goes down so far that it almost seems to be seeking an outlet in Australia, where it is summer now.

At the same time people in the United States should not run away with the idea that Canada is in perpetual cold storage. Arthur Weir, a newspaper man of Ottawa, gave Kipling the rebuke polite when he wrote, in imitation of the other's style:

"She has woods of pine and maple
Where England might be lost;
She has ports that are ever open
To ships that are tempest-tossed;
She has fields of wheat unbounded,
Where the hot horizon glows,
And the hot sun laughs to hear her styled
'Our Lady of the Snows.'
She has vineyards hanging heavy
With clustering purple and white,
And the velvet peach in its swaying nest
Fills the gardener with delight;
She can pluck, if she will, at Yuletide,
In the balmy air, the rose,
And her people smile when they hear her called
'Our Lady of the Snows.'"

While the British Columbia coast cities rejoice in this balmy air at Christmastide, the inhabitants of Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Quebec and other great cities of the East have to admit that it is at least "nippy." There the thermometer is many degrees below zero at this time of the year. One of the great enjoyments of the day comes from the use of the rinks and toboggan slides. The Ostcok slide at Ottawa is a mile and a half long and is made of cakes of ice. The toboggan fits in a groove and no steering is necessary. The Ottawa club has a jumbo toboggan which holds thirty persons and attains a speed of a mile a minute. On a crisp Canadian winter evening there is no better sport in the world, and the thousands of electric lights which fringe the slides make the scene entrancing. Canada may not like to be called "Our Lady of the Snows," but she mightily enjoys the snow at Christmas.

John L. Sullivan is said to be successful on the stage. We are glad to hear it, and now have hopes that the drama will be elevated, even if John L. has to do it with an uppercut.

CHRISTMAS HOLLY.

One Christmas in the days of old
I heard a fairy story told
About a funny little gnome
Who wandered far away from home.
And strayed amongst our southern hills
Down somewhere in the shadowy pills
That lure the orioles to rest
When sinks the sunshine in the west.
Cautiously tip-toeing around,
He paused and listened to each sound.
But there was not a mortal near,
Nor anything at all to fear—
Save a single chirping cricket
Hiding in the wayside thicket.
So bringing forth a sparkling glass,
He lightly flecked the heavens' glass,
Then dipped his starry glinting brush
Deep in the twilight's scarlet blush,
And dropped the crimson in a spot
As big and yellow as the moon.
And then he flicked some sundown hue
That he wet down with shimmering dew
And stirred it up with golden sheen
To make the necessary green.

Then stealing up the mountainside
He flung the mixture far and wide;
And splashed it o'er with dashes of white—
The Holly of our land—'tis said.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

MISS FLORENCE EUNICE MARX, the attractive young daughter of Mrs. Jennie H. Marx of No. 2216 South Figueroa street, has returned from a nine-months' tour through Europe. She is a graduate of Miss Hamlin's Seminary and will make her formal bow to society this season. Miss Marx, who reports delightful experiences abroad, has brought home a number of elaborate Parisian creations which she will wear at a number of the large functions planned in her honor.

Theater Party.

Mrs. Fred H. Wagner of No. 622 South Bonnie Brae street entertained with a box party, Saturday afternoon, at the Belasco Theater in honor of Miss Hazel Wilson, who will act as maid of honor at the wedding of Mrs. Wagner's daughter, Miss Gertrude Wagner. After the performance, luncheon was served at Christopher's, covers being laid for seven. A beautiful centerpiece of violets and lavender shaded candelabra were the table decorations. Corsage bouquets of violets were given as favors.

Ward-Webb Wedding.

An interesting wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Pearne, No. 644 West Twenty-eighth street, Saturday evening, when their niece, Miss Sharlie Jeannette Ward, was married to Robert Reine Webb, Rev. T. C. Miller of Santa Ana officiating. Mrs. Frank Y. Pearne had charge of the music and little Elizabeth Pearne carried the ring. The bride, who was the teacher of Greek and Latin in the Santa Ana High School, received many beautiful gifts from the Board of Education and faculty. The home was decorated with quantities of pink and white roses. At the conclusion of a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Webb will make their home at No. 111 Boylston street, where they will receive their friends after January 20.

To Be Wed Thursday.

At noon Thursday, Fred W. Shoemaker, cashier of the Los Angeles Creamery Company, is to be married to Miss Edith White of Rivera, at Immanuel Presbyterian Church, Dr. Hugh K. Walker officiating. No formal invitations have been sent out, but the principals will be pleased to have friends witness the ceremony. The bridesmaid will be the sister of the bride, Miss Carrie White, and the groom's cousin, Frank H. Landell, will be best man. After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker will be at home at their residence in Vermont-avenue square.

Mrs. Foulks Hostess.

Mrs. Thomas Foulks of No. 2374 West Washington street was hostess at an informal dinnerf party recently. The table was decorated with roses and ferns.

Mrs. Carter to Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Carter of Gramercy Place will entertain with a large family dinner on Christmas Day.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cohn of No. 1827 Arapahoe street will entertain with a dinner party Wednesday. Poinsettias, smilax and red ribbon will be combined in the decorations. Covers will be laid for fifteen.

For the Holidays.

Mrs. M. E. Langley left recently for the South, where she will spend the holidays with her daughter, Miss P. Ramona Langley, who is a student at Potter College, Bowling Green, Ky.

Wedding Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Boeckel of No. 312 Pavilion Place announce the wedding of their daughter, Miss Isabella Boeckel to Charles Doha, which took place Thursday, December 19.

To Attend Golden Wedding.

Mrs. J. J. Rosemayer of No. 2208 San Pedro street left Saturday morning for Chicago to attend the golden wedding of her parents. She will spend five weeks in the East.

Engagement Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gunning of No. 1864 West Twenty-fourth street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruby Elizabeth, to Frederick L. Packer. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents in January. In honor of Miss Gunning, a delightful shower was given on Saturday afternoon by Miss Gertrude Stebbins. Fraternity friends of the groom-to-be will, in the near future, give a box party in his honor. Both young people are well known in Los Angeles, where the groom is a promising young artist.

Miss Wait Bride.

Miss Edna Wait and William Stewart were married last evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Wait, Rev. C. C. Pierce officiating. The bride, who was unattended, wore a gown of white Rajah silk with veil. Her bouquet was a shower of white carnations. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Pauline Fredenberg, violinist, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. W. M. Fredenberg. Just before the ceremony J. W. Beane sang "O Promise Me." The home was artistically decorated. In the parlor smilax and carnations were combined in a green and white color scheme and the dining-room was ornamented with large bunches of poinsettias and Christmas berries. At the conclusion of a brief trip, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will make their home at Terminal Island.

Miss Florence Marx,
who recently returned from Europe.

Loser Alleges That Yale Lock Is Picked and Three Hundred Dollars Abstracted in Less Than Ten Minutes—According to Police, This Is Next to Impossible.

If the story told to the police is correct, the most remarkable burglary ever brought to their attention occurred at the home of Willard Fay at No. 1017 South Alvarado street, Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Fay say some one entered the place, picking the Yale lock, and within less than ten minutes found $300.

The actions of the burglar were so unprofessional that the police who worked on the case yesterday are anxious to have a look at the man who did the work. They think he must possess rare genius, be talented, watchful and daring, and have a keen sense of chivalry. In the few minutes during which he is said to have worked he broke every rule of burglary in existence.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay went for a short stroll Sunday evening. Mr. Fay declares that before leaving the house he took a wallet from his pocket and placed it between a number of books on the parlor table. Then he closed the door, which has a Yale lock, which, according to the police, it is next to impossible to pick unless the burglar has lots of time. The couple walked about a block and back again. They assert that they found the house just as they had left it, save that the wallet had disappeared.

Watchmen of the Foster service made a close examination. They reported all the windows and the back door locked, and the windows upstairs nailed down. The front door, they remarked, bore no sign of any kind, such as might have been made by a jimmy. The lock was not even scratched. There were no footprints about the place and no dirt-marks in the hall.

Mr. Fay says that his wife's purse, containing about $20, which was in plain view on the parlor table, not three inches from where the wallet had been left, was undisturbed, and that jewels valued at several hundred dollars, which were in the upper rooms, were untouched. Valuable plate, all in plain view, was also overlooked, according to his story.

The gallant burglar evidently refused to touch anything that belonged to Mrs. Fay. Foster's watchemen reported that they had searched the grounds carefully, and found nothing suspicious. Half an hour later Mrs. Fay took two detectives about the place and announced she had discovered the wallet on the ground in the side yard. It was not there half an hour earlier. It contained valuable notes, and Officer Foster surmises that the burglar, not wishing to unduly embarrass Mr. Fay, came back with the wallet and left it on the ground, after having taken the money out.

Police officials are at a loss to understand the actions of the strange burglar, and are much interested in the case.

ART MISAPPLIED BY A HUSBAND.

HITS WIFE WITH STATUETTE, IS STEPSON'S CHARGE.

Then Flatiron Plays Part—Follow Hospital Treatment for Broken Leg and Arrest for Battery—Lively Incidents Usher in Yuletide Season at Nadeau.

After hitting his wife in the back with a statuette of Cupid, it is charged, Harvey Spurling was felled to earth by a flatiron thrown by his husky stepson.

Spurling is under treatment for a broken leg, and the stepson, C. A. Garard, has been arrested for battery.

With these incidents the town of Nadeau, just south of the city, swung into the merry Yuletide season yesterday.

Spurling is living with his wife at Nadeau, pretty well surrounded by the residences of his children. There has been much trouble over the ownership of the property on which they live, Mrs. Spurling alleging that her husband is trying to force her to abandon her community rights.

Yesterday as Garard, a young giant, was passing Spurling's place with his brother, they heard their mother screaming, and the sounds of a lively fight going on.

Just as they rushed in headlong, the boys assert that Spurling hurled a statuette at their mother, striking her a terrible blow. He then rushed from the house. She also started to leave the place by the back way, her sons following.

As she emerged from the rear door, it is claimed that Spurling, who was lying in wait, threw first a heavy club, and then a brick through the screen, both striking her hard. Garard then hurried out and flung a flatiron at his stepfather, the iron striking him on the leg and snapping the bone. He went down like a smitten steer.

Spurling's own son, who lives in the neighborhood, hurried over to the rescue, and carried his father into his residence. The mother was taken to the home of the married son. Spurling's house, last night, was a deserted seat of war.

Garard was arrested and taken before Justice Summerfield for arraignment.

He was released on bond. As soon as his case is disposed of, an attempt will be made to cause the stepfather's arrest on a more serious charge than battery.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

[The Times freely publishes the views of correspondents without holding itself responsible for writers' opinions. Be brief, write plainly, state clearly. The space of 300 words, or the average, is sufficient for the point. Well-written letters are liable to be declined merely on account of their length.]

From Mr. Lelande.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] An article in Sunday's Times, entitled "Republicans Hit Lelande," not alone does me, but does the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, injustice, and I feel sure that you will be willing to correct it.

In the first place, I have not flopped or turned against the Republican party, or renounced the Republican party, as the article would seem to indicate. I am still, and always expect to be, a Republican.

As one of the State Committee of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, I am in a position to say that the Lincoln-Roosevelt League is not in any sense an independent organization or a new party, but is a movement by Republicans entirely within the Republican party. It is simply what it purports to be, a sincere, organized effort by Republicans to elect good and true men to public office, and to put out of office the men who take orders from the railroad bosses. The battle will be fought at the primaries, and the Lincoln-Roosevelt League will abide by the result of the primary elections and be for the ticket nominated by the regular Republican conventions.

With reference to the statements purporting to have been made by the Chairman of the meeting, I desire to say most emphatically that no committee, or any one else, was given permission or authority to use my name in connection with the organization of any club in the Sixth Ward.

In regard to my criticisms of Courthouse deputies organizing a political club, it certainly is contrary to the civil-service rules which, unfortunately, do not apply at the Courthouse, but the organization of such a club and activity therein by deputies at the City Hall would not be tolerated for a moment by the Civil Service Commission, and should not be encouraged in our county government. The chairman of that meeting well knows this, as he himself was dismissed from the City Hall for pernicious activity in politics.

I am still a Republican, and am not, nor have I ever been under any obligations whatever to the machine, which has always been opposed to me. I have always fought them in the past, and will do my utmost to defeat them under the banner of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League. H. J. LELANDE.

[The two-faced Mr. Lelande is, as usual, trying to ride two horses at once—a trick at which he is an adept.—Ed. Times.]

Classified Advertisements in the Mid-winter Times.

No offering of the year in the way of an advertising medium has been made that will compare with the forthcoming New Year's Annual of The Times, which comes out January 1.

150,000 copies will be printed and circulated. It will be authentic and informing in text, with handsome illustrations, printed on good paper, and the five 32-page magazine parts of which it will consist, with a handsome colored cover on the front, will make it the finest publication of its character ever produced in Los Angeles.

It will be beyond comparison for real estate advertising, particularly meritorious offerings of farm lands, orchards, vineyards, orange and lemon groves and country homes—in fact, it ought to prove a big result-bringer for business investments of every character.

Price in the magazine parts, under regular classifications, will be 5 cents per word.

The EDISON PHONOGRAPH

IS your mood sentimental? The Edison Phonograph will sing delightful ballads for you. Or, are you blue? The Phonograph has witty comedians whose funny songs and clever stories will make you laugh the blues away. Is grand opera your desire? The stars of the opera house will sing for you your favorite selections. Would you like a Sousa march? The Phonograph will play it for you. Or if you would like to dance the self-same Edison Phonograph will furnish excellent dance music.

If you have not heard the new Edison model with the big horn, go to the nearest Edison store and hear it, or write to us for a descriptive booklet.

CHAPTER I.—(Continued.)

It must be confessed that Mr. Crunden cast a gloom over these pleasant wedding tea-parties. It was a relief when father marched off to wind up the working day at the yard. Although dusk was falling, the room showed of a sudden brighter when he left it.

Dick, who had been sitting mum-chance, found his glib tongue again; Mrs. Crunden began to prattle gaily; and the visitor soon set them all laughing.

Happy, silly hours, so dear to Lizzie. In the candlelight they talked such utter nonsense, with no one to check them—unless it was Mrs. Price. But Mrs. Price was absolutely captivated by the visitor's affability, and gladly joined in all the fun. The visitor called Mrs. Pricey-Pricey—first behind her back, and then before her face.

In the candlelight and the firelight they used to play a game of cards—that silly old muggins, but now a rejuvenated, glorified muggins because he presided over the foolish sport. He would make them play the game with an unbridled, preposterous, yet enchanting, recklessness—as he said it was played at the University of Cambridge.

"Muggins," he would cry, did one make the most trifling blunder, and then one to accept a card in penalty. "Muggins again, Pricey-Pricey."

"But, sir, I done no wrong."

"Muggins you for not muggunising me. Or, worse still: "Muggins you for not muggunising me for not muggunising you."

"It's a shame," Mrs. Price would ejaculate. "You all shuffle off your sins on me."

The object, of course, was to be rid of one's cards, get out of the game, and escape being Mrs. Muggins. Mrs. Price was always Mrs. Muggins—left alone at the end of the game. It was a foregone conclusion; she had been fashioned by nature for this fate and could not evade it.

Sometimes they had "How, When and Where" after the cards, and again Mrs. Price suffered failure. Her candor seemed so great that she could not invite an equivocal answer. If the word was Box and you asked Pricey-Pricey how she lifted it, she would reply with a strong look, and large eyes to hold all my clothes." And then, if you please, she would wonder how she had betrayed the secret.

But Mrs. Price's triumph came when she did the acting. She it was who called the play, and taught the players their parts with all the appropriate action and emphasis. It was, it seemed, a pretty romantic drama that had never been set on paper; it was merely lore handed down by nurses and governesses out of the dim past. Who could have guessed that Mrs. Price would carry such a unique touch in her kind old head?

"Now," acted Mr. Jack, with a courtly air; "to you I humbly bow and kneel."

"Not low then," said Mrs. Price, during the rehearsal. "Now, Lizzie was the heroine, and she loved to play; it was the apotheosis of

"Now, to you I humbly bow and kneel."

"Why, I take you not to be my

The little play was at last learned without promptings, it was a success and completely amused the audience. Lizzie's eyes were shining and her face was flushed with excitement. She loved acting, and as she grew up she would go on the stage and be an actress. Meanwhile, she went to bed and dreamed about it—happy, radiant dreams.

Jack was just as nice, nicer if possible, next holidays—or vacation, as he had to be called. He was pleased to see the garden again, and to play in it, fondly, because of the hot weather, with his "little sweetheart." That was the name he gave Lizzie.

But many weeks before this long, long vacation was past, trouble and sorrow began to brood over King's Cottage. Brother Dick, who was in business now with his father, was doing quite well at the yard, was doing very well. He was unpunctual, never there in time in the morning, despite of efforts made by Mrs. Price and Lizzie to rouse him. He stayed out late of night to be fresh and alert at 7 o'clock breakfast. His face looked pale and puffy—like young Mr. Muggins's face; his eyes were sometimes bloodshot; and his hand often shook. Too often he had such a headache that he was compelled to stay in bed till noon. Papa looked stern and said these headaches were mendacious. Lizzie heard Mr. Jack talking about headaches to Dick, and urging him very earnestly to "pull himself together and drop it." Drop it! Lizzie wondered for a moment what he meant; then thought she understood. Drop staying in bed when he ought to be up and about!

Then came shadows—deepening, taking gladness from her life. Dick was in disgrace—that was why he never came about the house all day long. He disgraced himself at the yard—was superseded.

Lizzie awoke at night, she thought she cried over it. From below came the sound of angry voices—father's voice was raised in hot anger; and she heard nothing. Dick was in trouble; Dick was unhappy; the careless joy had gone from life.

Then, as the autumn advanced, it seemed that all her little world was plunged into chaotic gloom. Mrs. Price had her of things coming. Dick was to be given another chance. She was to be sent to school. She must make a fuss, because mamma was unhappy. In the garden, she told Jack of her almost unbearable fears. There had been no games lately, although the visits of Mr. Jack were more rare of late, and, now they had him, they should have the most of him. But they were not in heart for play; they all three sat miserably in the summer house, and while the two young men smoked their pipes, Lizzie looked out at the roofs and chimneys, and thought of Dick, as though Dick's disgrace were something visible, palpable, far-reaching. It had spread over the town and smiling Jack; it had settled forth like a dull veil all over the city of Medford. The sunlight looked sad and cheerless, as if shining through mist; the flag on the top of the White Hart Hotel had lost its bright color; the zinc dome of the big drapery establishment looked ugly and ominous, the tall chimneys of the brewery, rising above the slate roofs near the river, seemed vague and terrible. Before the dry leaves from the walnut tree were stirred on the path, there was a tracking sound. It was the saddest, most silent autumn she had ever known.

Then Mrs. Crunden, coming a message from the garden from the window to Dick. She wanted to see him, it appeared, confidentially, with his mother's call, and Dick, hands in pockets, walked slowly to the house.

Lizzie told Jack of her pain. He put his knee, and, with arms folded, watched out all the trou-

And, and I don't want to go to school. I shall die if I am sent away."

"Oh, no," said Jack. "You'll like it—after a bit."

"Never," sobbed Lizzie. "But I must go because Mrs. Price says it makes mother unhappy. And, oh, I am so unhappy. O Jack—can't you help us?"

"What can I do?" said Jack. "I'd do anything in the world for my little sweetheart."

"You do really love us?" sobbed Lizzie. "That's not make-believe, is it?"

"Of course it isn't."

Mr. Jack stroked her soft hair; with his silk handkerchief dried her wet eyes; with kind consoling words endeavored to bring her ease of mind. She was in fact easier for his sympathy; and, ere Dick joined them again, a smile of hope flickered about her trembling lips and through the final installment of her tears.

"I would do anything," said Jack fervently, "for you and poor old Dick."

"Would you?" said Lizzie.

"Yes, my little sweetheart."

"Then, will you marry me when I'm grown up? I'd like to know we were going to be married when I am grown up."

This proposal made Jack laugh, but he immediately promised to do what was asked.

"All right. If you grow up quick enough, I will."

Further discussion of this grand plan was prevented by the return of Dick. His was a most ungrateful and embarrassing task. Father was expected to be home for tea, and Mrs. Crunden had reason to apprehend that if father found Mr. Jack here, he would be upset—that, forgetting the laws of politeness and the deference which habitually he paid to high social position, he might even invite the illustrious visitor to cease honoring the house with visits. Father was firmly persuaded that the friendship of this young prince had a large share in unsettling Dick and rendering him averse to honest toil.

"So I," said Dick, flushing indignantly and with gloomy scorn for his parent, "am commissioned to ask you to go. There's manners for you. They may well call him 'Hedgehog Crunden.'"

Mr. Jack, picking up his straw hat and putting away his pipe and pouch, reproved Dick for sneering at his father. He quite understood Mr. Crunden's feelings; he was not in the least offended.

"Your guv'nor," he said, "thinks I put you off your work. That's why he bars me. . . . But you might tell him, old chap, that I have given you the best advice I could;" and he got up and stretched himself. "I have, haven't I? Though I'm such a lazy beggar myself, I know work's a good thing. I admire it, if I don't do it;" and he smiled at Dick and clapped him on the shoulder. "Take my tip, old boy; make it up with your guv'nor, and drop—you know what." And smilingly, but very kindly, he bade adieu to Dick's little sister.

"Good-by, Miss Lizzie," and he kissed her. "We shan't meet again now—because we are both wanted at school."

And that was the end of his last visit.

Then came tragedy.

It was only a few nights afterwards. Dick was out at supper time. Father waited supper for Dick; would not let them start the meal till half an hour had slowly dragged by. Then the silent meal began in heavy gloom. Mamma's face was white and sad; her eyes were ever on the door; Mrs. Price had slipped out by the kitchen entrance, was trotting down the road to look for Dick.

Today Dick had returned to the Yard, had been given his other chance. Tonight, as Mamma knew, his father had wished to speak kindly to him, to put heart into him, to implore him to stick to it, shove his back into it and make them all proud of him. At the friendly evening meal. In the pleasant candle-light, there was to be reconciliation, drawing together of bonds, oblivion for past offense, affectionate trust in future peace. That was the programme, and Dick had missed his cue, had failed to appear when the curtain had risen upon the homely little scene.

The delayed supper was done. Very little food was chokingly sufficient tonight. Mrs. Price, following Jane into the room, by secret signals made known to mamma that her quest had been fruitless. In flat tones she asked her usual question:

"Shall we clear away the things?"

"No," said Mr. Crunden. "Leave his place. Leave the food, but make the table tidy. He ought to be sharpest by now." And Mrs. Crunden had a wan smile of gratitude for father's enduring kindness.

Then at last Dick came lurching in—Dick and not Dick—thick of speech, glassy of eye, wanting no supper.

MOORE'S TROUBLE-BUG.

Ministers of All Denominations of City Agree on Movement for Bible in Schools.

The commotion stirred up by the order of City Superintendent Moore, to the effect that the significance of Christmas should be kept out of the Christmas exercises in the schools, keeps on boiling.

Yesterday at the monthly meeting of the Ministerial Union, composed of ministers of all denominations in the city, the matter came up for a goodly share of attention, and resulted in the adoption of a resolution looking to the removal of the embargo on the Bible in the schools. The resolution, which reads as follows, was offered by Presiding Elder Peck, supported by Rev. Will A. Knighten, both of the Methodist Church:

"Resolved, that the Ministerial Union of Los Angeles, through its secretary, communicate with the proper officials of the various Christian denominations of the State and request them at their earliest convenience to appoint for each of the various representative bodies three commissioners to cooperate with a similar commission already appointed by the Southern California conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, whose work it shall be to have removed the present restrictions on the use of the Bible in our public schools."

The resolution received the hearty and unanimous indorsement of the ministery, whose indignation has been raised by the uncalled-for order of Superintendent Moore.

As bearing upon the same cause of distrust in the management of the schools, the address of Rev. A. C. Smither tonight at the Young Men's Christian Association will be looked forward to with some interest. He speaks before the Social Problem Club, and his topic will be: "The Use of the Bible in the Public Schools." It will be followed by an open discussion.

Good Work of the Late Capt. Wheeler, Chaffey's First President, Lives After Him.

Funeral services over the remains of Capt. William F. Wheeler were held yesterday afternoon at the undertaking parlors of Bresee Brothers on South Figueroa street, under the direction of Rev. J. H. Cooper, pastor of the Park Congregational Church, assisted by Rev. T. W. Hendry, formerly of the same church. Both spoke in highly eulogistic terms of his work, and Deacon James Gillespie of the Vernon Church, with which the captain previously was associated, added feeling remarks regarding his active assistance there.

Capt. Wheeler was the first president of Chaffey College, at Ontario, having come to this State nearly a quarter of a century ago. He was born in Brookfield, Mass., in 1830. After graduating from Harvard in 1852, he devoted himself to educational work, until the outbreak of the Civil War, when he raised a company of volunteers in four days, but refused its offered captaincy, intending to continue his school work. But the boys were restless and in two weeks he raised a second company of volunteers, in which were twenty-six of his own pupils, with whom he marched to the defense of his country, with the 51st Massachusetts Regiment, Volunteer Infantry.

When the war was over Capt. Wheeler turned to educational work once more and identified himself with the Freedmen's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. While stationed at Atlanta, Ga., he became acquainted with his second wife, Miss Clare M. Blunt, a teacher in Clark University, whom he married in 1886, she being then preceptress of Chaffey College. She and a son and a daughter by his first marriage and one sister, survive him.

The Russian War Department has ordered the formation of a military automobile corps to be based on the German model.

BIG LOT OF BUSINESS BEFORE PASADENA COUNCIL.

Ordinance for Electric Light Bonds to Be Accompanied by One Fixing the Price at Which the City Shall Sell Electricity for Commercial Use. Col. Green Arrives.

Office of The Times, No. 38 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Dec. 24.—When the City Council meets today for its first session after the holidays there will be an enormous amount of business on hand. Principal among these items will be the ordinances for the bond election to be called early in February. These will be for $50,000 for the electric lighting plant and for sewer bonds, which were determined upon before the holidays began. The city fathers expect to pass these on their first reading without debate.

The ordinance for the electric-light bonds will be accompanied by one fixing the price at which the city will sell electricity for commercial use. Although the Council has decided not to ask for the money necessary to completely equip the municipal plant as a competitor with the Edison, the street-lighting plant will yield about 200 kilowatts more than the city needs for the streets, and this extra supply will be offered for sale. The ordinance will fix the price at 8 cents for the first hundred kilowatt hours, 7 cents for quantities greater than 1000 kilowatts, and 6 cents for amounts over 10,000.

At present the Edison company is receiving 2½ cents per kilowatt hour, and is selling more than 2,000,000 kilowatts annually. The 200 kilowatts which the city will have in excess of its street needs will not be a serious factor in competition, and is not expected to change existing conditions, but there is likely to be a lively scramble for the amount of "juice" that the city can sell at the lower price.

Among the other ordinances that are pending is one to make dealing in stocks on margins illegal. This law is very sweeping. It makes no distinction between bucket shops and regular dealers or brokers connected with the legitimate stock exchanges. Unless the purchaser actually buys the stock for which he bids outright he will be subject to the pains and penalties of the ordinance.

It is also proposed to prevent the operation of fakirs selling patent medicines. It is designed to do this by charging a license of $200 per day for shows to advertise the nostrums. There is also a sentiment among the Councilmen in favor of absolutely prohibiting such sales or advertising. In this case City Attorney J. Perry Wood has prepared two ordinances and the Council can take its choice.

The holidays have postponed the consideration of the pending ordinance to regulate the Sunset Telephone Company and the telegraph companies, and negotiations with the Sunset for the use of cross-arms on its poles and two ducts in the underground system will be renewed, and, in the event of failure, the city proposes to pass an ordinance taxing every pole belonging to any company at the rate of $2 annually. Only companies which pay the city 2 per cent. of the gross earnings would escape this ordinance, should it be passed. The controversy has arisen, because the telephone people refuse to take out a city charter.

COL. GREEN ARRIVES.

Col. W. G. Green, owner of the famous hotel bearing his name, arrived in Pasadena yesterday from Woodbury, N. J., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. Brown Green, Miss Gleatina Green, A. H. Schwockhamer and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Chenoweth. Col. Green and family will spend the remainder of the winter in Pasadena.

Concerning the business situation in the East, Col. Green is extremely optimistic. He is largely interested in many factories in the East, and says since the first flurry is over that his people have no difficulty in getting all the money they need to carry on their business and meet their regular pay rolls. Manager Holmes of the Green also backs up this statement by showing that the reservations at the hotel are greater than last year at this time, and he says that those who are arriving take more expensive quarters and arrange for longer sojourns.

Among the guests at the Green is C. A. Cook, the Pacific Slope agent of the Raymond-Whitcomb excursion people. Last night he stated that reservations for the next tour, which is due here on January 11, are 20 per cent. higher than they were this time last year and that his company is preparing for a greater tourist trade than ever before in its history.

Among the other guests at the hotel recently registered are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hayman of Buffalo, W. S. Moon of Burdette, Iowa, and Miss L. A. and C. C. Moon of Galesburg, Ill.; Arthur E. West, Eaton Rapids, Mich.; T. J. Callan, Woodbury, N. J.; G. G. Redfield, Woodbury, N. J., and George L. Fox of New Haven, Ct.

MARYLAND'S CHRISTMAS.

Yule logs are piled high and a Christmas tree twenty-four feet high is ready in the big music-room of Hotel Maryland for the celebration today and tomorrow in which every guest of the hotel is to take part. The Royal Hawaiian Quintette will furnish music, vocal and instrumental. Tonight the logs will be set blazing in the big Dutch fireplace and the children and grown people will enjoy a popcorn feast and Christmas games. On Christmas morning the big room will be darkened and the tree with all its presents will be lighted and then the young folks will have a royal time.

DEER BECOME TAME.

Seemingly as tame as farm animals, doe and her fawn stood on the roadway near the Mt. Wilson Hotel yesterday until R. S. Woglum and Fred R. Maskew got out a camera and took a picture of the shy but trusting animals. Shooting of the pretty creatures has been prohibited for years on this property and the deer are now becoming so tame that it seems one could almost walk up to them and pet them with the hand. Yesterday Messrs. Woglum and Maskew were surprised to advance upon this pair frisking along the trailside. When the men came into view both doe and fawn gazed at them and showed no fear. The men took their camera from its case and sighted it, the deer seemingly amused by the actions of the men.

Tonight several trappers will anxiously watch a trap set near Strain's camp for a big mountain lion that has been making himself familiar around there. The tracks of the animal are three inches and a half across and the stride is a little over five feet, so that they think this cat is worth trapping and everything has been prepared for his reception.

TEACHER POISONED.

Miss Anna D. Crain, a teacher in the fifth grade of the Grant school, is in serious condition as a result of ptomaine poisoning. On Saturday she and her mother, both of whom live at No. 167 North Michigan avenue, ate of pancakes which she cooked, and both were stricken with illness. The mother has recovered, but the daughter has not gained as it was thought she would do.

WANT CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

Members of the local corps of the Salvation Army have made an appeal for more prompt donations to the Christmas funds. Yesterday Capt. Page found only 4 cents in a stocking hung up in one of the banks, and he expresses some anxiety as to the ability of the army to feed the hungry on Christmas day. He says that last year he got $37 from the stockings hung up in the banks, while this year the only proceeds are 42 cents in one instance, 30 in another and the pitiful sum of 4 pennies in one.

BABE WANDERS AWAY.

Still deaf from a recent attack of spinal meningitis, Herbert Cabbage, 3 years old, wandered away from his home yesterday and for three hours his mother was distracted. It was feared that his infirmity would expose him to dangers from wagons or street cars. The baby was brought here about a month ago for his health. After diligent search the boy was found, hungry and tired, walking along North Pasadena avenue.

ANANDALE GOLFERS.

By request of several members the programme for the Christmas day tournament for the Christmas cup has been changed by the Anandale Golf Club. As now determined the play will be an eighteen hole medal play handicap qualifying round, and the best eight net scores will qualify for match play and form a second team for the club. All matches, including finals, to be at eighteen holes, with handicap. Contestants who qualify may arrange for match play at their convenience, but the final round must be played on or before January 1. The qualifying round for second team will be held Christmas day in connection with the qualifying round for the Christmas day cup, with eighteen hole medal play, (scratch.) The best ten scores of members not on the first team will qualify the players for the second team.

PLAGUE OF MEASLES.

Dr. Stanley P. Black, the health officer, says that the neighborhood bounded by California and Colorado streets and Los Robles and Lake avenues is a hotbed for measles, and he has quarantined eight homes in this district and hopes to stay the spread of the disease. Nearly all these cases developed within the past few days. Dr. Black thinks that a case of measles was concealed by a child attending the McKinley school until a number of its companions were infected with the disease. Dr. Black gives public notice that where patients have no physician for cases of measles and do not report the fact to the health officer, that prosecution and punishment will follow, and that if necessary an example will be made in such cases. Should a physician fail to report a case of contagious disease he is liable under the law and investigation will be made of the cause of the present epidemic.

HOLDS CHRISTMAS FETE.

Members of the First Congregational Church will celebrate their Christmas festival at their church today at 7:30 o'clock p.m.

VETERANS WILL PARADE.

John F. Godfrey Post, G.A.R., has accepted the invitation to parade on Tournament of Roses day, and the post urges all members to participate who can turn out, with dark suits and hats. Families of veterans, the Woman's Relief Corps and friends of these organizations are requested to save, for the decoration of the veterans, suflax, geranium leaves and other material that will make good wreaths, also all the roses and bright red geranium blossoms they can spare, and bring or send all such to the G.A.R. Hall Tuesday forenoon, December 31, or send word to Jason J. Shepard, No. 871 North Los Robles avenue, or telephone Main 6037, and they will be sent for.

REPORTS DERELICT.

Unknown Vessel, Bottom Up, Is Sighted Near Clemente Island. Turned Turtle.

VENICE, Dec. 23.—The gasoline launch Francis, just returned from Avalon, brings news of the sighting by a Portland-San Diego schooner of a derelict afloat bottom-side up three miles south of San Clemente Island. The launch that had turned turtle was evidently a gasoline fishing boat, having a length of about thirty feet, as described to Capt. L. P. Selleck of the Frances by those who saw it.

The schooner endeavored in every way to find a name or something by which to identify the craft, but nothing was to be found, and there was no wreckage afloat anywhere in the vicinity. The schooner spent considerable time in an effort to solve the mystery and identify the unfortunate vessel, but was unsuccessful, and when in the vicinity of Avalon communicated the news of the finding of the wrecked launch to a fishing boat that was cruising within hailing distance.

None of the Catalina fishing boats, so far as could be learned, had sighted the derelict, nor were they able to name any missing boat that answers the description given of the floating hulk.

EXPECTING SETTLERS.

Colony of Easterners to Be Located at Inglewood in the Near Future.

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 23.—The probability of incorporation has had a beneficial effect on business here during the past week, and gives promise of considerable activity in all lines in the near future. The Spaulding realty agency is in correspondence with a large number of practical farmers in Michigan, Wisconsin and South Dakota, and reports that a number of families will leave the ice and snow of those wintry sections at an early date to settle at and near Inglewood. Some have already made purchases of homes, and two or three sent ahead to "spy out the land" are on the ground. The remainder will come as soon as they can market their wheat and hogs, having been delayed in this matter on account of the financial stringency.

INGLEWOOD NOTES.

Christmas exercises will be held Tuesday evening at the churches here.

W. S. Magee, John Aerick and J. Simmons have returned from a prospecting trip to the mountains and report the discovery of a veritable "mountain of marble and onyx" near Old Grayback. They have brought specimens of both materials back with them and announce their intention to attempt to develop their discovery.

THEATER BURNS QUICKLY ON THE LONG BEACH PIKE.

Early Morning Fire in the Seaside City Destroys Playhouse Just Before Its Opening for a Winter Season — Gas Company's Foreman Overcome by Fumes.

LONG BEACH, Dec. 23.—The expenditure of $2000 by the Long Beach Recreation Company to convert Tarrytown-on-the-Pike, a summer vaudeville theater, into a winter playhouse, went up in smoke at 2:15 o'clock this morning, when the reconstructed playhouse was totally destroyed by fire on the announced date of its reopening. The woodwork interior burned fiercely and in less than half an hour was in ruins. J. H. Blundin, custodian; James Pierce, stage manager, and Mrs. Pierce, who occupied rooms in the building, were awakened by the flames and escaped in their nightclothes.

The fire started in the northwest corner of the stage and had gained considerable headway when the smoke and crackling flames awoke Mr. Blundin. Hurriedly arousing Mr. and Mrs. Pierce, Blundin ran to the office and telephoned an alarm to fire headquarters and then attempted to save some of the furnishings, but was driven out by the flames. When the department arrived the entire stage and roof were burning and the efforts of the firemen were turned to a successful effort to save the surrounding property. Sparks flew across the Pike and set fire to the roof of Lord's curio store, but this was promptly checked. The absence of any wind aided the firemen and probably prevented the destruction of the Majestic rink and perhaps the bath-house.

One line of hose was carried into the burning building and an effort was made to keep the fire in the north end of the structure. The intense heat finally drove the firemen back just as the roof collapsed and buried part of the hose line beneath a mass of burning debris.

Members of the police force did effective work in saving merchandise from the stores in the front of the building, but all the occupants suffered by fire and water.

The losses will aggregate $21,600. The Long Beach Recreation Company, which owned the theater, estimates its loss at $15,600; H. F. Sloan, moving-picture show, $300; F. L. Holmes & Son, tobacconists, $1500; H. A. Lawson, moving-picture machine, $125; C. G. Duffy, photographer, $275; L. Green, barber shop, $300; Booth & Gordon, trick bicyclists, apparatus, $150. Not a cent's worth of insurance was carried by any of the sufferers because of the high rate demanded by the underwriters.

There have been persistent rumors all day of incendiarism, but there are no proofs to support this theory. Workmen were busy yesterday in the last clean-up ready for tonight's reopening and a lighted cigar stub thrown carelessly, or a bundle of linseed oil soaked rags may have ignited. The usual idea of crossed electric wires prevailed until it was learned that the current had been cut off at the meter while repairs were in progress and had not been connected.

Tarrytown was built last summer on the strand between the Majestic rink and Hotel Virginia and was a popular resort during the season. The directors of the Recreation Company held a meeting today, but arrived at no decision as to rebuilding, but have started an investigation as to the causes of the fire. For the present they will use the Long Beach Theater for their performances.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

Deadly gas fumes overpowered D. P. Thayer, foreman of the Inner Harbor Gas Company, and his two assistants, Oscar Stiff and George Florentine, this morning and almost resulted fatally to Thayer. The accident occurred in the City National Bank building, where the three men were engaged in joining two gas mains in a small closet. The room was small and the noxious fumes were so stifling that the men could barely stagger into the open air. This revived them somewhat, but as they reached the street, Thayer reeled and pitched forward on his face unconscious. He was taken home and physicians were summoned who applied restoratives. Thayer is resting easily, although, because of his advanced age, the doctors fear a serious illness.

LONG BEACH BRIEFS.

The storm of protests from residents of Cedar avenue over the establishment of the Seaside Hospital on that thoroughfare between Fifth and Sixth streets, has been so strong and persistent that the physicians have decided not to close their lease, but will seek another location.

Peter Karamees, an employé of the Craig ship plant, was injured today by a heavy log rolling on his hand, crushing the second and third fingers. The injury is a serious one, but the attending surgeon thinks amputation will not be necessary.

While cleaning up her room this morning, Miss Fennel Lorraine, a music teacher, was injured by a folding bed dropping upon her left foot, cutting and crushing it.

In a basketball game at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, B. L. Wilson fell and a bone in his right foot was broken and the ligaments torn. His team won the game by a score of 32 to 26.

SOUTH PASADENA.

SOUTH PASADENA, Dec. 23.—An autopsy performed today on the body of Mrs. Elizabeth Adams, struck by a Santa Fé train yesterday afternoon, indicated that death was due to shock and to extreme old age. The Coroner's inquest is to be held Tuesday afternoon.

The only witness who saw the accident at short range is Mrs. A. E. Candee, who lives on Orange Grove avenue, within about 100 feet of where the accident occurred. Mrs. Candee says she heard the whistle of the locomotive before she saw the old lady's danger. Several sharp blasts were sounded and the speed of the train was greatly reduced before the accident. The grade is heavy there.

HAWTHORNE.

HAWTHORNE, Dec. 23.—The people of this community are congratulating themselves upon the promise of the early establishment of a postoffice for which they have been striving for several months. All the necessary papers have been executed and placed on file, including the proposed postmaster's indorsements and bond, and arrangement has been made for the establishment of the service over the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway. Recent communications from Washington are to the effect that the red tape will be duly cut off immediately after the holidays, and the little factory town will then get its daily mail at home.

WHALES PLAY CLOSE TO PIER.

CAUSE FISH TO SCURRY TO SHORE AT REDONDO.

Seines and Other Tackle Are Quickly Hauled in When the Big Denizens of the Deep Make Their Appearance Only a Little Distance form the Land.

REDONDO, Dec. 21.—A school of whales called at this port this afternoon, causing no end of excitement along the water front. Three of the great black monsters came to the surface of the water about a hundred feet off Pier No. 1, and for fifteen minutes or longer disported themselves, sporting and gamboling like a trio of gigantic dolphins, in plain sight of the crowd that soon gathered.

The first intimation that something unusual was going on under the placid waters inshore was a panic among the smaller denizens of the deep. The shallow waters along the beach suddenly became alive with fish—large and small—all scurrying in from deep water, and all apparently beset with fear. Even yellowtail, great silver-sided beauties, darted hither and thither, through the shallow waters inside the breakers, and bathers were astonished to feel them strike their limbs in the blindness of their panic.

One fish—a fifteen-pound yellowtail—actually held his headway so long that he went ashore on the beach, and was captured.

Not the least amusing feature of the affair was the haste manifested by the fisher folk on the pier when the whales appeared on the surface not more than a hundred feet away, in reeling in their lines and getting their tackle to a place of safety. It was plain that they were not fishing for whales today.

IN FIRE VETERAN LOSES HIS LIFE.

SOLDIERS' HOME MAN IS BURNED IN SAWTELLE.

Early Morning Blaze Causes Destruction of Frame Shack in Which He Dwells—Skull Crushed as if by Blunt Instrument or Falling Timber.

SAWTELLE, Dec. 22.—A fire, supposed to have originated from the overturning or explosion of a kerosene lamp at an early hour this morning, caused the destruction of the frame shack in which L. T. Hemmerle was living, and cost him his life.

The two-room shack was located in Castle Garden, on Ninth street, near Lawrence P. Hemmerle, who was burned to death at Sawtelle yesterday.

Ohio avenue, and was burned to the ground before the volunteer fire fighters reached the scene.

After the flames had subsided, the remains of Hemmerle were found. He was lying on his back and his legs and arms had been burned off.

The left side of his head had been hit by a falling timber or some blunt weapon, as the skull was fractured. The local officers believed for a time that the man had been murdered for his money and the house set on fire with a purpose to conceal the crime, but the Coroner's jury decided that death had resulted from the accidental burning of the house. The robbery and murder theory is supported by the testimony of Mrs. J. M. Rutherford of Eighth street and Mrs. L. Ingalls of Tenth street, who declare that early in the morning, before the alarm of fire was given, they heard the cries of some one as if in great pain. These emanated from the vicinity of Castle Garden.

So far as the acquaintances of Hemmerle know he was not a drinking man, and they are unable to explain his presence in the kitchen, unless he had been taken suddenly ill in the night and while searching for medicine or relief had gone to the kitchen and lighted a lamp, which he afterward upset or which exploded. Hemmerle was a pensioner and it is generally believed that he at all times had considerable cash on his person or in the house.

Lawrence P. Hemmerle was a native of Pennsylvania and served during the Civil War, first in Company D, Thirteenth Pennsylvania State Militia (on the three months' call,) afterward for four years in the United States Marine Corps. Has been in the Pacific branch of the Soldiers' Home since 1894. He was known as a sober and industrious man, having been employed in one capacity or another since his admission, and until he took a furlough. He was aged 70.

THESPIAN SANTA CLAUS.

Distribution of Theatrical "Loaves and Fishes" Will Benefit Many Poor Families.

From a mere bread-baking contest the Auditorium competition has been turned into a regular Christmas distribution, with Dick Ferris and Sparks Berry jointly acting as Santa Claus. While the bread contest will be decided strictly on its merits and the decisions announced during the performance tonight, the theater will receive for distribution on Christmas Day anything good to eat. The bread is to go to the Salvation Army and the hospitals, and the rest of the eatables will be sent out through the same channels, by the most approved methods of distribution, for the benefit of the poor on Christmas Day.

Many who were unable to make bread, but who approved of the charity involved in the contest, asked to be allowed to participate in the good work, and this led to the broadening of the plan. Now that the bars are down, all who have things to eat which they will give in this way are invited to do so through the Auditorium box office.

Too Risky

Ask your doctor if he does not think it would be wise for you to keep a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house.

"A hard chill, pain through the chest, difficult breathing." If this should be your experience, send for your doctor. It may be pneumonia! To doctor yourself would be too risky. If your doctor cannot come at once, give Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. When he comes, tell him what you have done. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

MYSTERY.

ANTA ANA'S MISSING OFFICER.

WAS DEPUTY MARSHAL McGREAVY LEFT?

Enemies Say His Real Name Is Sam Powell and That He Was Train Robber — Sheriff Lacy Tells the Story—The Whole City Up

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Deputy City Marshal Wilbur McGreavy is missing, and his enemies in Santa Ana declare that McGreavy's real name is Sam Powell, and that he was the leader of the famous Powell gang that held up a train and killed the engineer at Olive on the Iron Mountain Railway in Benton county, Ark., in 1894. Tonight the whole town is talking of the disappearance of McGreavy, who, for a dozen years, has been well known here, at times acting as deputy sheriff for Sheriff Lacy, and at other past as deputy city marshal. A few days ago a letter was received here by W. F. Orr of Bull Springs, Ark., giving a description of Sam Powell. That letter was made public. It is alleged that McGreavy went to three different men in Santa Ana and told them his predicament, stating that if he remained he would be caught, and that he called on only man in Santa Ana who knew him, and on his knees begged him to hush the matter and let him go. Yesterday afternoon he left the city, and on the street. Today City Marshal Edwards reported to Police Commissioner F. W. McNaught that McGreavy was missing, and S. P. Hamilton was appointed in his place.

Word after McGreavy came here was sent to J. C. Nichols, then sheriff of the county, who now resides at 1000 Severo Road, Los Angeles. Nichols said McGreavy was Sam Powell. He made an investigation and the matter was dropped.

McGreavy has never attempted to conceal his identity. He had several pieces of property here and money in the bank. Much of his time was spent hunting, and he could shoot as well as the best of the bimrods. He was known to meet all day and half the night, and talked more about Arkansas than anything else. It was noticed that he had been shaving off the mustache and hair which naturally covered his gray.

Deputy Lacy has known McGreavy for twelve years and he can hardly believe that McGreavy is Sam Powell. "My brother, who practiced medicine for years in this town, Cincinnati, Ark., knew Sam Powell and knew the gang, and he also knew McGreavy and says McGreavy is not a member of the Sam Powell. Dr. Lacy and Deputy Powell of Siloam Springs say they may have had some of the gang, but they did not know. All of the gang were well educated, and McGreavy was not a well-educated man. I was not afraid of anything, and I have seen him walk right up to, when a woman swore she would shoot the first man who came through the door."

Chief Edwards has little to say, but admitted that McGreavy had left, and stated further that he had been gone a long time. His wife and family have gone. On the other hand, the question is asked how comes this sensation is sprung at this time, and that the Orr letter was made public instead of the information being used to get McGreavy into custody. The conclusion is that the letter was used for the end it is said to get McGreavy out of town.

Santa Claus Has Many Engagements Elsewhere—Law Helps Deserted Wife and Baby.

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 23.—An attractive feature of Christmas carols and music was presented by the California Presbyterian Sunday-school this evening. There were two brilliantly lighted trees, but instead of receiving presents themselves, the children were happy and baskets of provisions for the needy.

The Sunday-school of Grace Methodist church will hold its Christmas entertainment Tuesday evening, when Santa Claus will come down the chimney and distribute presents to the boys and girls. Christmas exercises will be held by the Sunday-schools of the Congregational, First Methodist, First Christian, United Brethren, Arlington Presbyterian, Second Methodist and Swedenborgian churches the same evening.

DIVORCED AND DIVORCED.

Grace Bissett was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Frank Bissett today on the ground of desertion and was given the custody of their four-year-old child. Some time ago Bissett left her at Fresno and has since been supporting her and the child. To support herself and child, Mrs. Bissett found employment at the Riverside County Hospital as housekeeper. Dist.-Atty. Evans was her attorney.

A marriage license was issued today to Gordon Holcomb, aged 22, a native of Arizona, and Evelyn Lorriene Bell, aged 19, a native of California; residents of Banning.

SMALL PLUNDER THIS.

Chinaman in Colton, Secure Booty from Their Victim.

COLTON, Dec. 23.—Ten cents worth of silver is the amount of plunder which Colton men found on an employment plant this morning, returning home from what is the second hold-up within a week. There are no clues.

Mrs. Langdon of Sherman is spending the holidays with her father, Mr. Eighth and D streets. Mrs. McIntosh has returned to Riverside after a visit here with her daughter, Mrs. Francis McIntosh.

ONTARIO.

ONTARIO, Dec. 23.—"Incog" was the three-act farce presented by the Ontario Dramatic Club of this city Saturday evening, at the Opera House. Those included in the cast were men and eight women of this city, Hugh Franklin, Darwin Grattinger, Jay Caldwell, Leonard Fuller, Lester Kenyon, Josiah Canawan, Charles Morris, Howard Mitchell and Miss Blanchard and are spending their vacation with their parents. Mitchell has just graduated from the civil engineering department of Stanford University. Miss Pike, from Ladera, is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford, to spend the holidays.

SWEET MEMORIES OF HAPPY HOUR.

HOBO IN JAIL, BUT HIS IMPERIAL "JAG" LIVES ON.

Enters Freight Car, Opens Case, Drinks Burgundy, Port, Champagne and Apricot Brandy and Goes to Sleep Attired in Red Kimono Dotted With Butterflies.

EL CENTRO, Dec. 23.—Hobo Neiman is in jail, but he neither murmurs nor repines. Neither present restraint, nor prospect of future punishment can take away from him the gorgeous memories of the halcyon hours that he spent in a box car at Imperial junction. Hobo Neiman blew in on a desert breeze in the night and sought a place to lay his frowsy head. He found it in a freight car, but did not take advantage of it. Instead he gave his attention to boxes and cases. He went through these with skill, piling into a basket a dozen pairs of ladies' shoes, two dozen lovely kimonos, embroidered jackets and other feminine apparel and prepared to go on his way rejoicing.

But first he took another look around to make sure that he had not neglected his opportunities, and just for luck, he broke open another case. Then he almost fainted, realizing how near he had been to making the mistake of his life. A bottle of Burgundy sluiced the desert dust from his throat, and two more only stimulated his thirst. Half a dozen quarts of old California port put a genial glow into his system and a "chaser" of apricot brandy (a quart) put him into just the right condition to "punish" the dozen of champagne that completed the assortment in the case.

When Detective Bowler looked into the car, the case was empty, but Hobo Neiman obviously was not. He was attired in a red kimono dotted with golden butterflies, and was sleeping with his head pillowed upon a pack of plunder, and with a champagne bottle clasped lovingly to his heart.

Now he is in jail, but as yet he is neither sober nor sorry. A "jag" like that lasts surprisingly and the memory of it never fades.

NOT DEADLY WEAPON.

The preliminary hearing in the case of J. C. Thompson of New River ranch, who was charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon a party of land seekers, resulted in the discharge of the defendant at Imperial. It was alleged that he barred the passage of the party over a road crossing the ranch land and exhibited a Winchester to maintain the blockade effectively, but it could not be shown that the rifle was loaded.

MARVELOUS GRAPE CROPS.

Remarkable results have been obtained in fruit growing on the W. S. Corwin ranch, three and a half miles north of El Centro, particularly with certain varieties of grapes. Mr. Corwin has fifty acres in grapes and some of the vines are three years old. Several varieties produce two and three crops a year, and Red Emperors bear continuously. This week, in the middle of December, Mr. Corwin brought into town a quantity of ripe Red Emperors in large clusters. The grapes were firm, well colored and in every way fit for the table.

The muscat of Alexandria grows to perfection and makes a finer raisin here than it does in the famous raisin district of Fresno, besides being a month earlier in readiness for market. The dry heat of Imperial Valley and entire immunity from fog and rain during the curing season make this an ideal raisin district.

There are forty acres of asparagus on the ranch, and the things that asparagus does are almost beyond belief. Apparently the most serious objection to its culture here is the backache incurred in cutting the sprouts. Asparagus is ready to cut on February 1 and the season lasts 100 days. The growth is nine or ten inches in twenty-four hours. Rust does not attack it in this climate.

NEW COURTHOUSE.

At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors bids for building a temporary Courthouse were opened. Long and Newman of Los Angeles presented bids of $12,150, $12,440 and $15,676. Their bids were accepted and they were requested to come to El Centro and confer with the board concerning the material to be used.

In the matter of the office of live stock inspector, it appearing to the board that Dr. T. J. Stover, heretofore appointed, was not eligible, the office was declared vacant.

TREE PLANTING URGED.

During his recent visit to this valley, Prof. J. W. Mills of the University of California experimental station at Riverside, talked with the farmers in regard to eucalyptus culture, and aroused much interest in the project. It now seems certain that the ensuing year will witness the setting of several large-sized tracts to this tree. The professor thinks the red gum especially adapted to climatic conditions here, and his advice is to plant 1200 trees to the acre, six feet apart.

MANY CASES PENDING.

Seven criminal cases are awaiting trial in the Superior Court for Imperial county, and Judge F. J. Cole will resume sessions of the court on January 2. The docket of civil cases has been constantly extending, so that there is work ahead for several weeks.

The Heber Fancy Melon Growers' Association has filed its articles of incorporation. Heber is given as the principal place of business, and the capital stock is $25,000. The directors, who are all residents of Heber, are George Cline, L. E. Brack, W. A. Van Horn, R. F. Klippel and Ernest Bucher.

WOULD SEPARATE.

Action for divorce has been brought by Edith V. Henderson against James L. Henderson. William T. Heffernan has begun action for divorce against Marie A. Heffernan. Otis B. Tout, editor of the Calexico Chronicle, has also filed suit for divorce.

The Board of Supervisors has ordered the erection of three jails, one at Brawley, one at Holtville, and one at Calexico, provided sites for them are deeded to the county without cost. These jails will be used for the confinement of prisoners under sentence from the several townships, who will be employed on road work, so that each section will receive some benefit from this labor.

GRAPE VINE QUARANTINE.

The Supervisors have adopted an ordinance providing for a quarantine in the case of grape vines from the territory north of San Bernardino, Kern and San Luis Obispo counties, as a precaution against the incoming of vines affected with phylozera. Importations of nursery stock from Florida and Louisiana are also prohibited.

COUNTY BRIEFS.

Business men of El Centro are advocating incorporation as a city of the sixth class, and a census will be taken to ascertain the actual population of the town.

The Imperial County Abstract Company has been organized, with headquarters at El Centro. Its officers are: G. W. Nichols, president; F. G. Havens, vice-president; V. Rapp, secretary, and F. B. Fuller, treasurer.

ALLEGED COIN THIEVES.

Trio Taken Into Custody in Orange County Accused of Burglary in Anaheim.

SANTA ANA, Dec. 23.—Two men and a woman are in jail here on a charge of burglarizing the store of Sam Lee at Anaheim yesterday afternoon. One of them, Ray Carson, was arrested late last night as he returned a rig to a livery barn, and C. W. Schutz and Mary Stewart were arrested this morning in a room at the Depot House on East Fourth street.

Sam Lee was victimized through his politeness. The woman and two men entered his store, and the woman asked him for a drink of water. Sam Lee hastened to show the woman where the water was in a rear room. Meantime Carson and Schutz, it is alleged, robbed the till of something over $100 in coin, all but $30 of it in silver.

Work by Constables Smithwick and Jackson, Officers Murray and Boynton and Sheriff Lacy, landed the trio. This morning Sam Lee identified them, and also identified numerous coins found wrapped in paper at the lodging-houses. He had been holding on to all coins with old dates, hoping to make a sale to a coin collector. A revolver and a jimmy were in the room. The trio came here from San Diego. They have been in Bakersfield and Reno, Nev.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND.

An automobile was taken from the corner of Sixth and Main streets last night. It stood beneath a glaring electric light, and people were passing every minute or two. C. H. Harris of Tustin, who lives on the old Yount place, came into the First Presbyterian Church with his family. They left the automobile on Main street, with lights burning, all ready for starting. When church was out the automobile was gone. It was found just outside Los Angeles, where it had been abandoned, and is now in charge of the Los Angeles police.

IMPERIAL SECTIONS.

Surveyors Laying Them Out in Valley. Banks in Good Condition—First Concrete Block.

IMPERIAL, Dec. 21.—Good progress is being made by the government surveyors who are sectionizing the Henderson survey. It is estimated that the government survey will be completed by the first of next June. At present the surveyors are working in the immediate vicinity of Imperial, and will be employed in this vicinity for about two weeks. Many farmers in the valley are combining in the employment of County Surveyor E. H. Gaines to establish their claimed lines, and then the government surveyors "tie" them onto the nearest government survey stake. This, of course, will necessitate the describing of the lands, in most cases, by metes and bounds, instead of the usual description of a certain fraction of a township. Numerous settlers will make final proof on their claims within a few months.

FIRST CONCRETE BLOCK.

The first concrete block to be erected in the valley is in progress at Imperial. W. J. Mitchell is erecting a block of four stores on Eighth street, and is using hollow concrete blocks, manufactured here. A fine bed of gravel has been discovered a short distance from Imperial, and the block-making machinery will remain here to manufacture this building material, which is deemed especially suitable for this climate.

BANKS IN GOOD SHAPE.

During all the financial stress of the past two months, the banks of the Imperial Valley have continued to pay out good yellow coin on demand, and there has been no attempt to use scrip. But little of the scrip has reached the valley, and in some places of business it is posted in sheer places as a curiosity. During this period the ranchers of the valley have shown their faith in the future by depositing more than $80,000 in the Imperial Valley banks.

WOULD INCREASE CAPITAL.

At the annual meeting of Water Company No. 1, to be held early in January, stockholders will vote on the proposition to increase the capital stock from $100,000 to $110,000. It is desired to bring more land under irrigation, and there is little doubt that the proposition will carry.

LIMITS CAMPING AREA.

The Imperial Board of Trustees has adopted an ordinance which prohibits camping or the staking out and feeding of cattle and horses within the area bounded by the Southern Pacific tracks and F street, and between Seventh and Ninth streets.

SPINELESS CACTUS.

Experiments with the spineless cactus are to be carried on in Imperial Valley. C. J. R. Ballard has obtained from Luther Burbank plants of two varieties, the Anacinths, a variety suitable for stock feeding, and the Maltby cactus, which is a fruit-bearing variety. Mr. Burbank has expressed his personal interest in the experiments to be undertaken in this valley, and will receive reports as to the developments of the two varieties.

FRESH BEAR MEAT.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 22.—Black bears are not advertised as one of the products of the peatland section so famous for celery and beets, and doubtless Los Angeles people who buy bear meat at one of the city markets this week may never know that the bear was raised on a ranch northeast of town. A cub brought down from Washington by Bert Carey has shown an ugly disposition since it became grown. This morning Carey shot the bear, which was fat and healthy, and shipped it to market.

FOR HIGH DRIVE.

CANYON ROAD CONTRACT LET.

WILL PROVIDE HIGHWAY INTO THE SANTA ANA.

New Road Is Made Necessary to Avoid Bad Pass Through the Santa Ana Narrows—Organization of Redlands Protection District Assured by Action of Board.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Board of Supervisors today awarded the contract for a new road up the Santa Ana Cañon to R. H. Swinney on his bid of $5100. The only other bidder was the Highway Construction Company of Redlands, which bid $11,300.

The road is made necessary to avoid a bad piece of roadway through the Santa Ana Narrows, which has long given the county trouble during rainstorms.

The board also reduced the assessment of eight protestants in the Redlands storm-water protection district 33 1-3 per cent., thus removing the cause for protest which brought a delegation of ranchers before the board last week. This reduction assures the organization of the first protection district in the county and construction of an elaborate system to prevent flood water from the Redlands hills carrying destruction to the ranches below.

HAPPY OVER SHOWING.

Ventura County Anti-Saloon League Hears Reports and Elects Officers. Grand Jury Members.

VENTURA, Dec. 23.—The Anti-Saloon League is feeling happy over the showing made the past year. At its recent convention it was reported that it cost the county $2062 to care for the prisoners sent from Ventura and Oxnard, the two saloon towns, while it cost only $27 to care for the prisoners sent from saloonless Santa Paula. The league elected these officers: President, B. W. Dudle; first vice-president, J. M. Sharpe; second vice-president, R. B. Edmundson; secretary-treasurer, F. H. Hennion. The following compose the committee to look after the league's interests in the next campaign: D. W. Huffman, Alex Waldie, J. P. Ralstin, C. N. Kling, M. L. Montgomery, Vance Ayers, C. W. Parnell, Frank Petit, I. B. Crecelius, Thomas R. Bard, Frank Barrows, M. L. Stahl, C. H. Scott, E. A. Duval, Ed Goodenough, Elmer Outland and Nathan White. Resolutions were passed calling on the press of the county for help and commending the District Attorney for his stand in punishing offenders.

EX-CHAMPION MARRIED.

George L. Baker, a former well-known Venturan and for years tennis champion of the North End, was married yesterday in San Francisco to Miss Sarah McLaughlin of that city. Mr. Baker has been a resident of San Francisco since his graduation from the university at Berkeley.

VENTURA NOTES.

Arvid Palm, a son of A. Palm, died at his home here this morning.

William W. Arkley, for some time electrician with the local company, has resigned his position and goes to Lompoc.

These citizens compose the next grand jury: J. B. Alvord, foreman; E. W. Dailey, E. S. Thacher, A. J. Draper, C. A. Harmonson, A. B. Stock, J. M. Dickenson, George Cook, G. A. Jones, W. H. Crowley, William Shields, J. P. Mohn, John Kastle, Joseph Roth, O. B. Logue, William Schmitz, T. M. Hill, A. L. Drown and G. W. Faulkner.

Assemblyman George L. Sackett has returned from Sacramento to spend the holidays with his family.

Miss Mary Baker has as her guest Miss Mary Anna Matthews of Berkeley.

Go to Coronado for Christmas week.

Classified Advertisements in the Midwinter Times.

No offering of the year in the way of an advertising medium has been made that will compare with the forthcoming New Year's Annual of The Times, which comes out January 1.

150,000 copies will be printed and circulated. It will be authentic and informing in text, with handsome illustrations, printed on good paper, and the five 32-page magazine parts of which it will consist, with a handsome colored cover on the front, will make it the finest publication of its character ever produced in Los Angeles.

It will be beyond comparison for real estate advertising, particularly meritorious offerings of farm lands, orchards, vineyards, orange and lemon groves and country homes—in fact, it ought to prove a big result-bringer for business investments of every character.

Price is for the magazine parts, under regular classifications, will be 2 cents per word.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Commission men and all handlers of fruit and vegetables reaped a rich harvest yesterday from the Christmas buyers. From the volume of business transacted, it appears that few people will go hungry tomorrow. "We had the best day in months," said one dealer, and the others agreed with him.

There were not as many members on the exchange as usual and this resulted in fewer bids. The only sale was three cars of fresh ranch eggs at 30 cents. Receipts yesterday were 304 cases. Eastern select storage are held at 27 cents still and the demand for them is fair.

Butter was firm at the increased price of 75 cents a two-pound roll. There were few offerings. Eastern storage is moving big not as well as was expected. The receipts were 16,132, the largest for some time. Bulk of this stock came from up the Coast.

A feeling of strength prevailed in the cheese market, on advices from the East, where the market has gone up a cent on nearly all grades. Limburger is in especially strong and the local supply is limited. There were a few offerings of Eastern Dairy, as well as of cream brick and domestic Swiss. The receipts were 1223 pounds of full cream.

Potato arrivals totaled 180 sacks. This is more than enough to supply the city for two days. The prices were weak and there were offerings of Highlands as low as 80 cents a sack. Idahos were put on sale at a dollar. Seed potatoes are arriving and the demand for Oahu is daily increasing. They bring a trifle more than the average potato.

Onion receipts were 301 sacks and they were in fair demand. For the Australian Brown variety, the price was considerably lower than for several days. Offerings at $.60 a sack were frequent, but there were no takers.

Limas constituted the principal offering of beans. Only one or two bids were elicited. The receipts were 8 sacks.

Sweet potato receipts were above the average for the last few days, 104 sacks arriving. The price fell off several points, and they were offered as low as 1.70 for choice stock. Northern were not placed on sale at all.

Vegetables of all sorts were plentiful and several fancy importations were on hand. Chickory and escarole lettuce were wholesaled at 40 cents a dozen, while the ordinary lettuce was considered dear at 25 cents a dozen. There was a little endive lettuce, too, which sold at 60 cents. Cabbage is meeting fresh.

Tomatoes were bringing a premium and were sold as high as 1.75 a box. Celery was also up a few cents a dozen. All bunch goods went well. There were some good-sized arrivals of dried peppers from Arabia. This carg recently shipped 30,000 pounds of this commodity to the East.

Alligator pears from Honolulu arrived just in time for the Christmas trade and sold at $1.50 a dozen. They were in excellent condition. Winter nickles were disposed of at 5 cents a pound. Grapes were cleaned up by noon. Apples of choice quality sold well.

Berries were all firm at the present figures. A few Oregon cranberries arrived and were offered at 4.50 a box of 40 pounds.

Poultry was plentiful, to an unexpected degree. Turkeys drooped, were selling as low as 20 cents a pound. Chickens remain the same. Several good-sized shipments have just arrived from Kansas and still help keep prices down. Geese and ducks cost 25 cents a pound.

Bacon and ham declined from ¼ to ½ a cent to nearly all brands, but beef has gone up a cent.

MINES AND MINING.

ALL EYES NOW UPON NEVADA.

LOW METAL MARKET DRIVING OPERATORS TO GOLD.

Optimism Expressed by Prominent Nevada Man—Smelter to Be Built. Banker Cook, Goldfield, Believes Owners Will "Stand Pat"—California's Production—Notes of Men.

With the price of copper, lead and silver lower than for some years past, mining is, in a general way, at a lower ebb than at any time since 1902. Even then the metal market was in a less deplorable condition and there was, besides, an optimistic feeling that prices would go higher. Now the mine owner is in a serious quandary as to the future, and, considering the widespread curtailment of business, consequent upon the financial stringency, is inclined to pessimism and fears even lower prices.

At the present time the copper quotation stands around the 13-cent mark, but there is reason to believe that the surplus supply will be worked off within a few months if business regains its normal level. When this has been accomplished the quotation will materially advance, but it is not likely that prices will reach the high levels of last spring within the lives of present producers. If, however, the price should advance even three or four points and remain there, the copper industry would soon recover nearly all it has lost since the slump began in July.

Holders of the high-grade copper securities have lost immense sums within the past few months, and those who were unfortunate enough to be dealing on margins, a practice popular in Duluth and other Middle-East cities, have practically been ruined. One year ago Calumet and Arizona, for instance, was selling around the 200 mark, while now the demand is trifling at 96. All other staple securities have been effected in the same ratio. There seems little chance of an improvement, at least until the effects of the present stringency have passed. The output of copper for the present year will show appreciable falling off, but the contraction did not take place until late this fall, and it is probably that the production of 1907 will be greater than that for 1906.

Silver was quoted at 52½ cents in New York on Saturday, a lower figure than it has touched since 1903, when it receded under the 50-cent mark. Lead on the same day was dull at 3.35 to 3.40, and the outlook for the silver-lead producer is gloomy indeed. In the Coeur d'Alene district in Idaho (which produces over one-third of the total lead mined in the United States,) matters are rapidly reaching a crisis, and it is probable that the next few weeks will witness a general shutdown or a radical curtailment of production. The district has experienced wonderful prosperity during the past eighteen months, and has attracted thousands of men within that time.

Mexico has been affected in a lesser degree by the prevailing quotations, a fact due to the lower scale of wages and the government supervision of freight rates. But many foreign companies, operating low-grade copper mines, have found it impossible to secure funds, and have closed down. Arizona has felt the heavy hand of depression, too, but, perhaps, in a lesser degree than any copper producing State in the Union. Many men have, however, been discharged. In Montana the full force of the slump has been felt, and 2500 men have been discharged by the Amalgamated interests alone. Production by the company is confined to the Boston and Montana and two other mines producing higher grade ore, and other companies are similarly effected. With winter now settling over the land, it is expected that great suffering will result. The Amalgamated is considering a plan to work 5000 men half time, instead of 2500 full time, employment being given only to married men or single men with relatives absolutely dependent upon them. This plan will at least enable that number to support themselves and their families till the present crisis has passed.

Under these conditions mining operators and miners alike are turning their attention to gold-producing districts, and but for the unfortunate labor conditions now retarding progress, activity in the high-grade gold camps of Nevada would soon rival that of the old Comstock days. The settlement of the present difficulty is being watched for with eagerness by mining men throughout the United States, and the order for withdrawal of troops has been generally deplored. Those who have passed through similar troubles in Cripple Creek and in the Coeur d'Alenes realize that there is no other method of restoring law and order and eradicating the anarchism and discontent that has been bred by a handful of desperate men encouraged by the supineness and tacit cooperation of the peace officers themselves.

NEW SMELTER PLANNED.

L. L. Patrick, one of the largest operators in Nevada and heavy owner of Consolidated stock, was in the city on the way to Goldfield. While deploring the withdrawal of troops from the district, Patrick believes that the President's action was right under a strict interpretation of the law and with due regard for the Constitution of the State. Whatever the result, however, the mine owners have decided to fight the issue to a finish, and there is an underlying feeling of optimism due to the belief that the difficulties will soon be settled for all time. Mr. Patrick has been a leader in Nevada mining affairs for the past six years, and is well known to most mining men in the West. Coming hence from Colorado, he followed the excitements in Slocan and Rossland, B. C., and was at one time manager of the Montezuma mine, on the south fork of Kaslo Creek, in the former district. He afterward pioneered in Thunder Mountain and Buffalo Hump in Idaho, and upon the passing of those booms departed for Nevada a poor man. His greatest success was made with the Combination mine, now merged in the Goldfield Consolidated, but he has been interested heavily in almost every part of the State. Among the projects now claiming his attention is the erection of a smelter for the treatment of Goldfield and other ores. It is probable that it will be erected either at Mina or Wadsworth, but a definite location has yet to be decided. The preliminary work is in charge of E. H. Wedekind, formerly manager of the Heinze smelter at Trail, B. C., and who, it will be remembered, endeavored to interest Los Angeles in a smelter at Point Firmin last spring.

BANKER COOK IN TOWN.

John S. Cook, the man who may be said to be directly responsible for the present Goldfield strike, is a holiday guest at the Hotel Leighton, where his family has taken winter quarters. He left Goldfield on Saturday morning, and reports everything quiet at that time. Mr. Cook, though a young man, is the most successful banker in the Nevada gold fields, and it was the refusal of the miners to accept scrip issued by his bank that led to the present trouble. It is the general impression that the mine owners will "stand pat" this time, and that the result will be a long period of industrial peace and increased production. The Western Federation of Miners appears to realize that it has at last pushed the long-suffering operator too far and overtures looking to peace have been made by high officials in the past few days. One offer included the deportation of the handful of agitators who have fomented the trouble, but this plan has been rejected as promising merely a temporary peace. According to Mr. Cook, about 150 miners are now at work, and more are arriving by every train. During the present financial stringency the John S. Cook & Co. Bank has issued $70,000 worth of scrip, and of this amount nearly one-half has already been retired.

STATE MINERAL PRODUCTION.

According to a bulletin issued by the State Mining Bureau, the mineral production of California for the year 1906 was $46,776,055, bringing the total for twenty years to $552,475,492. Last year's figures are $2,597,737 in excess of the previous high-water mark of 1904, and $2,706,858 higher than those for 1905. The smallest production within twenty years was in 1893, when only $16,681,731 was reported. In 1906 petroleum alone is responsible for 32,624,000 barrels, with a value reaching a total of $9,228,020, silver contributed $817,830, copper $5,552,712, gold $18,732,452, asphal: $777,500, borax $1,182,410, cement $1,941,250, clay $2,538,848, quicksilver $712,334, gems $497,000, and lead $19,807. The petroleum production for twenty years is 160,656,760 barrels, with a value of $60,944,917, gold being responsible for $304,411,048 in the same period, silver for $16,025,171, copper for $37,692,621, borax for $16,255,421, and quicksilver for $23,215,465.

MOVEMENTS OF MINING MEN.

J. F. Mitchell of Goldfield, who was defeated for Governor of Nevada by Gov. Sparks last year, was an interested spectator at Saturday's session of the Los Angeles-Nevada exchange.

J. L. Boyle, manager and part owner of the Queen Esther mines, near Mojave, Cal., is in the city. The mine employs about fifty men and is milling steadily.

H. L. Percy, secretary of the Clark Copper Company, was on the street Saturday, after a severe illness. It will be some time before he is able to give much attention to business.

J. V. Stewart is registred at the Alexandria. He is one of the leading men of Tonopah, with interests scattered over the State, and a large stockholder in the Greenwater and Death Valley mine and Greenwater townsite.

Michael Flaherty, superintendent of several leases of the Mohawk and Kewanas at Goldfield, is spending the holidays with his family in the city.

Frank Showers of Silver Lake, A. F. Gressler of Bisbee and W. E. Buchan of Needles, are among mining men registered at the Hollenbeck.

L. W. Powell, general manager of the Calumet and Arizona mine at Bisbee, arrived here yesterday to spend the holidays with his family.

Sidney J. F. Brock of Tonopah, son of John Brock, until recently manager of the Tonopah Mining Company, is registered at the Alexandria from Philadelphia.

Lincoln Davis, manager and heavy owner of the Baby Florence mine at Goldfield, is a holiday visitor in Los Angeles.

BUILD PRISON MORE ROOMY.

WORKING OUT PLANS FOR THE NEW PENITENTIARY.

Institution at Florence Is Designed to Accommodate Twice as Many Convicts as Are Now Huddled in the Old Prison at Yuma—New Great Seal for Territory.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Dec. 23.—Tentative plans have been worked out by Architect Trost for the new Territorial penitentiary at Florence, after suggestions furnished by Gov. Kibbey. It is designed to erect a group of buildings capable of housing 500 convicts, twice the number now huddled together in the old prison at Yuma. The prison farm is to be fenced with a high wall. In the center of the tract will be an inner and higher wall, inclosing a 600-foot square. In this will be eight cell buildings, radiating from a center in which will be a guard tower, towers also being placed on the corners of the inner wall, from which guards can control the long yards between the cell buildings or could cover working parties between the prison wall and the outer wall. Provision has been made for a number of workshops as well. Construction on the new institution will be commenced early in the coming year, most of the heavy work being done by convicts brought for the purpose from Yuma and housed temporarily till completion of their new home.

NEW GREAT SEAL.

The Territory of Arizona has acquired a new great seal. The old seal was adjudged out of date, its design being about as stiff as the decorations on the tombs of the Pharoahs. In accordance with the legislative act establishing it, it contained what purported to be a representation of the San Francisco Mountains, a pine tree, a cactus and a deer. These features are included in the new seal also, but they are far more lifelike and more true to nature. The designer is Warren E. Rollins, an artist, formerly of Los Angeles, who has spent much time in Arizona painting the Grand Cañon and in studying Indian types.

TERRITORIAL STRAYS.

Despite the dullness of the mining business, miners are in keen demand just now, hurrying through the assessment work on the mining claims that have been left unprotected in hopes that Congress would remit the assessment work for the current year. Now that it has been demonstrated that Congress will do nothing of the sort, prospectors have scattered for the hills by the hundreds and are rushing work to secure the validity of their claims.

The present winter in all ways is the most prosperous ever known by Phoenix and the Salt River Valley. Oranges, alfalfa and all other valley products have been in notably good crop and have sold at higher prices than known before. The city is filled with newcomers, and general business is estimated at 20 per cent better than last winter.

Claude Jordan, a Southern California fruit packer, now in charge of the Orange Association's packing-house in Phoenix, is preparing for the establishment of a vegetable cannery in or near Phoenix. He will secure contracts first for the planting of a sufficient number of acres of tomatoes. It is expected that the tomato crop can be so planted here as to come into bearing in May.

About 400,000 sheep will be driven into this county within the next month mainly from the uplands of Northern Arizona, for lambing and shearing. Shearing-houses are being prepared at Peoria, Beardsley and Cave Creek. Last winter was the most profitable ever known by the sheep owners, mainly because of the high price brought by lambs in the eastern markets. Hardly as high a mark is expected this year.

About the only "road house" in this county has been ordered closed by the County Board of Supervisors, who have found its proprietor, William Jensen, guilty of keeping a disorderly house. This is the fifth saloon closed by the Supervisors. The crusade against the sale of narcotics has resulted in a veritable hegira of morphine "fiends," who are flitting to points where the drug can be more easily secured.

The new town of Parker on the Colorado River has been located by Santa Fé engineers upon a high bluff that commands an excellent view of the stream. The place is expected to become important as a mining center, as well as prosperous, through its possession of a railroad division headquarters and shops.

Roy Street, son of ex-Chief Justice Street, and at one time resident in Los Angeles, was married in Phoenix Thursday to Miss Erna Bohannon.

Friday evening at the Arizona School of Music was presented the sacred cantata of "The First Christmas," with a local chorus of almost 100, directed by J. S. Hughes. Among the soloists were Mrs. T. M. Sloan of Los Angeles and Miss Beatrice Penny and H. R. Roberts of San Francisco.

The already large holdings of New Brunswick forest lands by the American pulp and paper manufacturers have been increased by the purchase of a tract of 550 square miles by the International Paper Company. The entire output of the company's mills for 1908 have been contracted for.

WORDS OF GRATITUDE.

From Far and Near Come Reports of the Worth of the European Medical Experts.

The Great Fer-Don Tells of Benefits Rendered by These Scientists and Physicians.

In an interesting address at his free show grounds, Seventh and Spring streets, the Great Fer-Don last night told of the work of the Fer-Don Remedies and the European Medical Experts. Fer-Don gave to the public names and addresses of many Los Angeles people who have been cured by these doctors. He also explained in detail how they cure without operation, cases of gall stones, cancer, tumor, hip joint disease, female troubles and like diseases which, by many physicians' methods, call for the use of the dreaded surgeon's knife. Told how they also successfully treated rheumatism, kidney, liver, blood and other chronic diseases by methods brought from Europe.

It is a source of amazement to many people, and must be a gratification to these eminent physicians, that so many persons who have been benefited and cured show their appreciation by coming upon the stage at Seventh and Spring streets and speak their gratitude before the assembled multitudes. Many also call to express their thanks at the offices, which are located at 745 South Main street.

The Free Entertainments

At Seventh and Spring and at Fifth and Los Angeles streets still continue to attract thousands nightly. The excellent band concerts and vaudeville performances are greatly enjoyed. These entertainments will continue every night, except Sundays, and are absolutely free.
